

PEN AND PENCIL HERE HELP US TO LAUGH A LITTLE AT THE LIGHTER SIDE OF LIFE

(THIS PAGE IS FULLY PROTECTED BY COPYRIGHT)

SCHOOL DAYS

By DWIG

His educated dog

ABSURD, OF COURSE, BUT—

The Passing Show. "Hullo, there's a pretty big crowd going aboard. Where are they off to?" "Oh, merely Pan-Germans on their way back to England to claim their rights as British citizens."

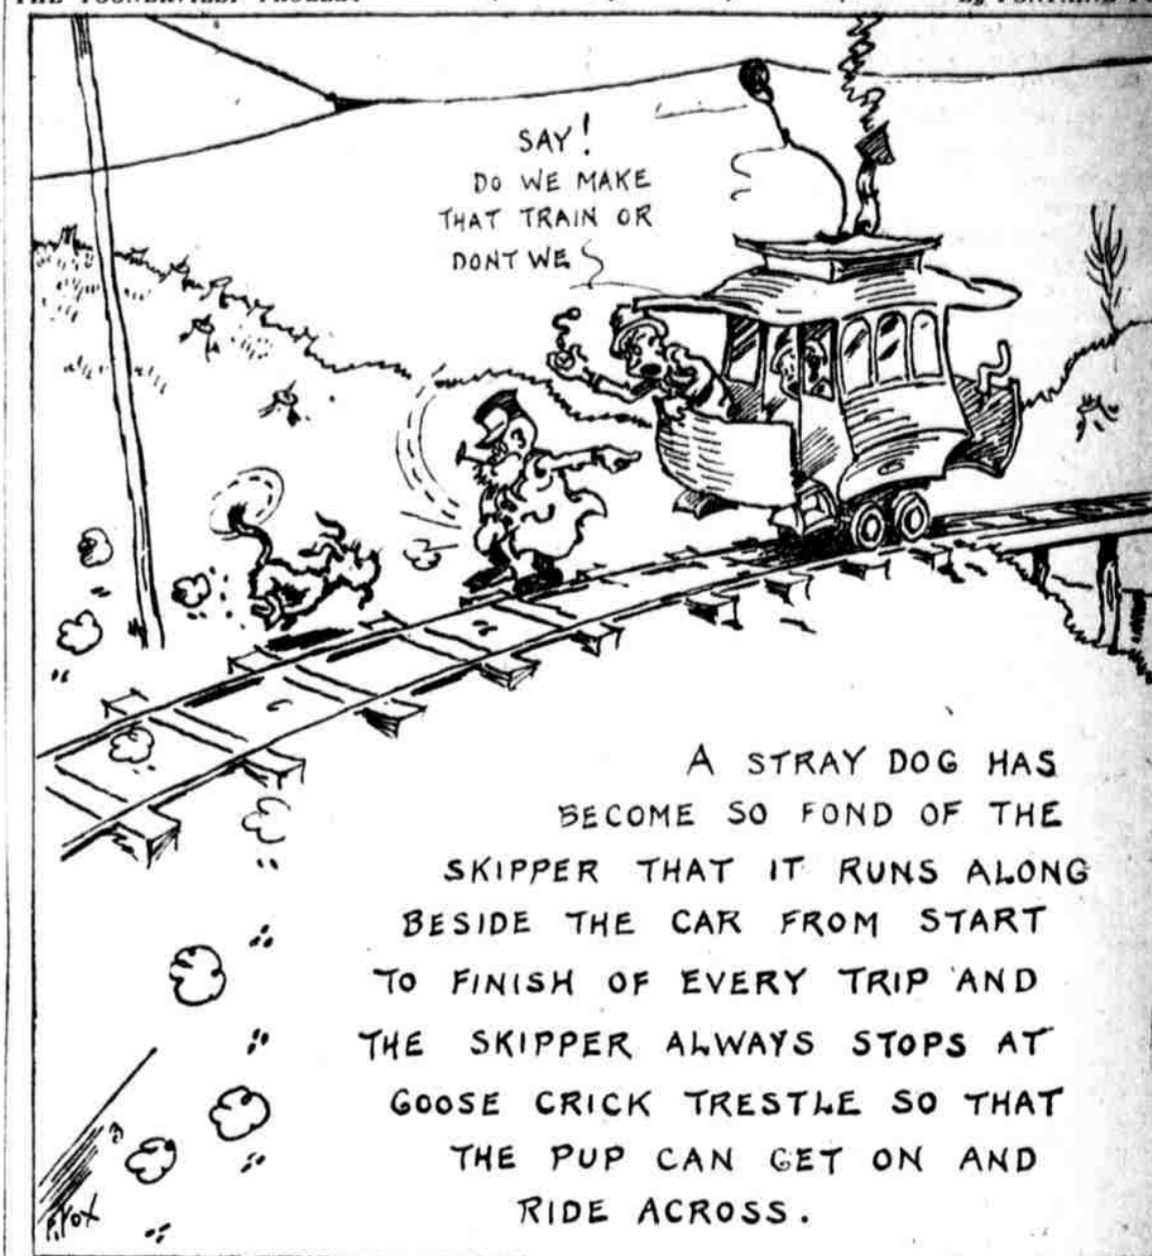

FOREHANDEDNESS

"D' you require a batman, sir?" "I have a batman." "You 'ad, sir; but he's just got a blighty."

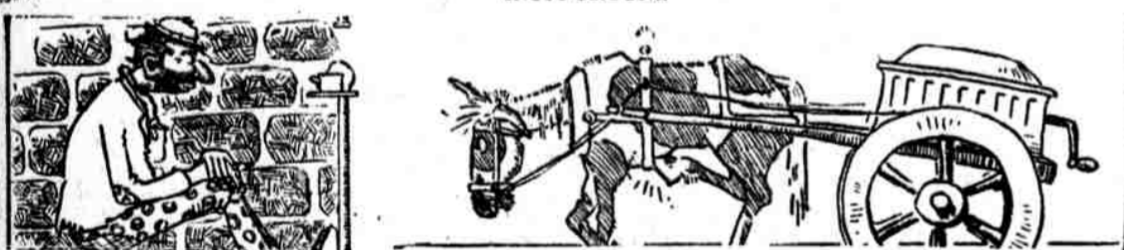

THE TOONERVILLT TROLLEY

By FONTAINE FOX

A STRAY DOG HAS BECOME SO FOND OF THE SKIPPER THAT IT RUNS ALONG BESIDE THE CAR FROM START TO FINISH OF EVERY TRIP AND THE SKIPPER ALWAYS STOPS AT GOOSE CRICK TRESTLE SO THAT THE PUP CAN GET ON AND RIDE ACROSS.

INOPPORTUNE

What made the cruel copper put this harmless gink away? There's nothing in the statute book that guinea shouldn't play That "Keep the Home Fires Burning" tune on fire prevention day.

Downed

The Bystander.

PUT UP BOTH YOUR HANDS, YOU BRUTE

The Bystander.

THE GUMPS—Home at Last

Copyright, 1918, by The Tribune Co.

By SIDNEY SMITH

MOVING PICTURE FUNNIES

PETEY—The Old Army Game, and Petey Falls For It

B. C. A. VOIGHT

The Young Lady Across the Way

COMFORTING

"CAP" STUBBS—Well—Maybe Not Quite Everything

By EDWINA

"Auntie, it's horrid to be a littl e girl. I should like to be a V. A. D. and nurse the soldiers." "So you shall, darling, when y'oure grown up."