Elections February 16

All the newspapers, with the excepion of Die Rote Fahne, approve the Government's decision that the elections for the national convention shall take place February 16. Most of them as-sume that the convention will assemble immediately afterward.

It is generally supposed that the tendency now prevailing in the Soldiers and Workmen's Councils is a sufficient guar-antee that their general meeting in Ber-lin December 16 will approve the Government's decision. The Berlin local Workmen's Council, which is in session now, will make known its attitude to-ward the national convention within a few days. In all probability it will re-
