The Best Ideas for Gifts Are Gained by Strolling Through This Store

The Star Spangled Banner Spirit

in Philadelphia is greater than ever before.

Notice the returned soldiers (bless them!) when the National Hymn is played, indoors or outdoors, by band or organ, how splendidly they are "at attention," giving the dignified salute to the flag which to them has become dearer and dearer since their war experiences.

Our noble boys, soldiers and sailors, step in front of us one by one, and in some way or other they all appear changed-transfigured in body, mind and spirit by what they saw on the battlefield and did by force of arms to conquer the enemies of our flag.

The next steps to be taken are full of significance.

The happiness, prosperity and peace of the world depend upon the documents to be framed in the conferences agreed upon when ratified by the nations concerned.

No other event in the history of the United States, since writing in Philadelphia by Thomas Jefferson of the Declaration of Independence, a century and a half ago, approaches the importance of reaching now the final conclu-sions to insure world-wide, permanent peace.

Oh, for a realization of the hope of a new world of new manhood and new devotion to the flag of Liberty and Freedom, which has been rebaptized in blood and fire!

the Gates of Memory

Who cannot recall the glorious Christmases of his childhood? The days when Santa Claus and other blessed illusions were real and when happiness could reach a pitch of ecstasy.

Then we grew up and became skeptical, and rather prided ourselves on something we called "hard-headedness."

Let us make this Christmas a time to get back something of that which we lost. Let a little sentiment soften us.

Let a piano bring the real Christmas spirit to our home

Music can work miracles. It may not bring back a belief in Santa Claus, but if any of us has lost faith in the things that Christmas stands for, it can bring that back. And it can make this Christmas happier than a silent festival could ever be.

For this is the season of overflowing joy, which finds its expression in melody. The home that has no music is in a far worse way than the home that has no turkey.

Chickering Schomacker Emerson Lindeman

These eight pianos, all of them household names in musical America, are sold in Philadelphia in the Wanamaker Store only. There are over fifty styles of pianos, player-pianos and reproducing pianos, and any of them is purchasable on convenient

King Santa Claus Reigns

While thrones are toppling in Europe, and crowns are being scrapped, America, the world's foremost democracy, is being ruled by a king in the absence of her President.

And as long as Santa Claus lives there will be a king in Amer-ica—if the children have anything to say. Santa's throne is in his ice palace in the Wanamaker Toy Store. There he holds audience every day with the boys and girls of Philadelphia and listens to their wants. If any little boy or girl hasn't seen Santa Claus yet, now is the time to do so. He is the most benevolent ruler ever known, and if all others were like him the whole world would be happy.
