

MAN SHOT IN BAR; FEUD SUSPECTED

Daniel Stebbins 'Attacked in Hotel—Police Hint War Among Gamblers LEFT AT HOSPITAL DOOR Victim May Have Been Connected With Poolroom Hold-up, Detectives Believe

Daniel G. Stebbins, widely known in sporting circles and said by the police to be a professional gambler, was shot in the back early today in the barroom of the Hotel Vendig, Fifth and Thirtieth streets.

Three men, who arrived in a taxi cab, entered the place where Stebbins was drinking at the bar. At a signal from two of the newcomers one of the men stepped close to Stebbins and fired a bullet into his body.

The men caught Stebbins as he fell and dragged him out to the waiting taxicab and fled. They left Stebbins at the corner of Thirtieth and Walnut streets, the police said. A little later he was found lying across the doorway of the Methodist hospital by a nurse.

There was a bullet wound in Stebbins' right side and four stab wounds in the back. How the stab wounds were received is a mystery.

Revels Gunmen's Raid Information was received by the police that a man answering Stebbins' description was seen close to the poolroom of Charles Keeler, Thirteenth and Filbert streets on Thanksgiving day, when it was robbed by six gunmen, who held up the patrons of the place and took more than $5000.

The police believe the attack on Stebbins is the result of a feud between two gangs of gamblers. They are now making an investigation which, they say, may connect Stebbins with the men responsible for the hold-up at Keeler's place.

Stebbins lives at the Dauphin Apartments, Broad and Dauphin streets. The janitor of the apartments expressed no surprise on hearing of the attack on Stebbins, but he expected he would meet such a fate.

The police believe that Stebbins was first attacked in the apartments and after escaping to the street went immediately to the hotel. His assailants, it is believed, followed him in the taxi, determined to finish their work.

See Plot for Revenge Captain of Detectives Souder said that Stebbins is a professional gambler. There is every indication that the attack was actuated by revenge, as nearly $7000 and considerable jewelry was found in Stebbins' possession at the hospital.

Stebbins refused to talk about the attack or give any information which would lead to the identity of his assailants. His condition is critical.

Stebbins was taken to the hospital in Wallace streets, called at the hospital to inquire about Stebbins' condition about two hours after he had been admitted. ROADS MAY AGREE TO McADOO'S PLAN

Companies Expected to Welcome Five-Year Federal Operation Time Needed to Devise Entire New System of Control by U. S.

The proposal of William G. McAdoo, director general of railroads, that the period of Federal operation of the roads be extended to five years may have surprised a large part of the public, but it was no surprise to the prominent officials of twenty-four big railroad companies, constituting the Railway Executive Advisory Committee, which is in session this week on the Bellevue-Stratford Hotel roof.

Mr. McAdoo said three alternatives in the railroad situation presented themselves: government operation for a year and nine months following the peace proclamation, prompt return of the roads to private operation, or extension of the Federal control period to five years. He eliminated the two first mentioned and the third was left.

By the same reasoning process applied to the same situation the Advisory Committee had already concluded that these three main courses were open.

Anticipated Arguments They had anticipated Mr. McAdoo's arguments and anticipated, therefore, his proposal of a five-year extension. So the committee today proceeded with the consideration of the situation just as it would have proceeded if Mr. McAdoo had not given publicity to his views.

Members of the committee refused to discuss Mr. McAdoo's position today, all taking the view that they should not offer an opinion until the Federal government has decided upon a course of action. The committee is charged with the duty of devising a solution of the railroad problem and submitting it to the member roads.

President's View Liked The committee is quite gratified by President Wilson's attitude as shown in his message to Congress, which is believed that these shall in the future be more constructive and helpful rather than simply repressive, as it has been in the past.

The committee is going into every phase of the railroad situation with the most thorough and conscientious study. It is expected that the committee will report in a few days.

DIANA OF THE CIGARETTES SHATTERED BY EXPLOSION

Goddess in Manayunk Cigar Store Lets Her 'Pill' Go Out When She Thinks of Skip-Stops—'Boss' Gives Her a Light—Bang!

Alas for cigarette smoking by women—a goddess has been ruined completely by the practice. Diana was the unfortunate, celestial. For ages she braved all the dangers of the hunt. She thought nothing of flipping a spear at a charging boar. Or of chasing a brass ring through a forest.

But Diana for many moons now has been occupying a modest in the cigar store of Harry Craven, 4423 Main street, Manayunk. She got the smoking habit there, a habit which she has carried to her home by her mouth. Smokers leaned toward Diana and got their needed "fire" from the tip of her cigarette.

But somebody in the store began talking about the Federal development committee, officers of Furness, Withy & Co., including J. R. Blaney, head of the agency being notified that "homers" were being used to enlarge their trade at this port.

THIRTEENTH MARINES FOUGHT "FLU," CITED

Regiment Commanded by Colonel Butler, of West Chester, Honored

For notable work in fighting the influenza epidemic in France, the Thirteenth Regiment of Marines has been cited by Brigadier General George H. Harrier, commanding Base Section No. 5. The Thirteenth is commanded by Colonel Smedley D. Butler, of West Chester, son of Congressman Butler.

Although it arrived in France too late to go into active service at the front, the regiment distinguished itself in the battle of Belleau Wood, June 1918, and arrived in France at the beginning of the epidemic.

General Harrier's citation says: "The regiment made and prepared camps for arriving organizations, provided every needed facility that was at hand, and could be created, guided the new troops from the docks to their respective camping areas, carried the backs of the unit, put new spirit into the weary, hauled water and rationed by hand for the benefit of the sick."

PIEZ RAPS VARDAMAN; DEFENDS HOG ISLAND

Senator's Charge of Fraud Called "Most Intemperate" Backs Bowles's Reply

Admiral Bowles' answer to Senator Vardaman's charge that the construction of Hog Island was an "infamous transaction" was upheld this afternoon by Charles Piez, the new director general of the Emergency Fleet Corporation.

"I think Senator Vardaman's statement was most intemperate," Mr. Piez said. "He has nothing to substantiate any accusation of theft at the shipyard."
