Cat-echetical

For your best friend

- A fur or fur-lined overcoat, if he is a very good friend.
- Or a new lap robe for his car.
- Or an automobile clock, or some other motoring need.
- If he is a golfer, some new clubs, or a new caddy bag.
- Or a dozen Silver King golf balls are hard to beat, any way you play on the word.
- Then there are golf stockings and golf gloves to be considered.
- Speaking of gloves suggests other gloves, and motoring gauntlets.
- And gloves suggest a walking stick.
- And a silk top hat.
- And a leather hat box to carry the top hat in.
- Getting back to the motorist, there is a fine fur cap.
- Or a pair of fur gloves.
- Or a set of cap and gloves to match.
- A fur collar for any man's overcoat.
- Folding umbrella or other umbrella.
- Half dozen silk shirts, or even one or two.
- Neckties, of course, especially the Spitalfields London ties.
- A silk muffler.
- Or a silk muffler and necktie to match, made out of Spitalfields silk. Fine!
- Silk house coat or dressing gown.
- Or a woolen house coat or gown, for that matter.
- Sweater or Scotch wool vest, for the golfer.
- A bathrobe.
- Half a dozen pair of silk or other half hose.
- Fine traveling bag or suitcase.
- A wallet, gold mounted if he would like it.
- Fitted dressing case for the man who travels much.
- A dozen fine handkerchiefs.
- Pair of house slippers.
- Pair of riding boots.
- Then there is gold jewelry—a pocket knife, cigar cutter, cigarette case, scarf pin, key chain or such.
- Or you can find the same things in silver.
- A dependable watch.
- Pair of military brushes.
- Shaving outfit.
- Set of razors.
- Leather armchair, for nights at home.
- And a good book or two.
