

SOLDIERS OF PHILADELPHIA AND VICINITY ON TODAY'S HERO ROLL

Sgt. J. M. Buckley Wounded, Corp. J. M. Maizer Wounded, Sgt. John Drummond Wounded, Corp. J. P. Quinn Wounded, M. Waldman Wounded

H. Schlect Wounded, F. J. Whately Wounded, J. F. Zell Wounded, J. Frank Deere Wounded, F. Avallon Wounded, Corp. J. W. Cassidy Wounded

J. M. Buckley Wounded, Corp. J. M. Maizer Wounded, Sgt. John Drummond Wounded, Corp. J. P. Quinn Wounded, M. Waldman Wounded, Corp. J. W. Cassidy Wounded

Private McDermott is thirty years old and made his home with his parents at 655 North 45th street. He was drafted in July of this year and went overseas in the 141st Infantry. According to the War Department he was wounded during the battle of the Meuse, September 26, but according to his own letter he was taken sick September 30. A brother, William McDermott, is a member of the marine corps and is believed to be in France but the family has not heard from him in two years.

PHILADELPHIA SOLDIERS LISTED IN TODAY'S CASUALTY RECORD

KILLED IN ACTION: LIEUTENANT WISTAR MORRIS, Haverford. (Aviation Corps.) GUSSEPE SALESE, 722 Carpenter st. HARRY PLOSKY, 610 Wilder st. DIED OF WOUNDS: GEORGE E. KENNEDY, 236 McClellan st. WILLIAM J. WELLS, 2610 N. American. RAYMOND J. WELLS, 2610 N. American. DIED OF ACCIDENT: SERGEANT PAUL BENKELS, 534 Morris st. CORONEL DONALD T. SHENTON, 1300 North 97th st. Private ARTHUR A. MAENKEL, 730 East Clearfield st. DIED OF DISEASE: H. H. THOMAS, Jr., 618 N. 39th st. DOMENICO COLLEO, 530 Filwater st. WOUNDED SEVERELY: LIEUTENANT CHARLES J. ERICKSON, 2141 North 67th st. WILLIAM H. RUBY, 2127 Germantown ave. WILLIAM M. CUNNINGHAM, 2539 North 8th st. JOHN C. COULTER, 1515 Tacon st. EARL LUDWIG, 5211 Walnut ave. STOUTMOUTH POLLOCK, 2452 Bryn Mawr st. JOSEPH ADELMAN, 829 Master st. LEON J. ALKORNEVICZ, 2101 East 12th st. PATRICK H. McKEARNY, 3402 Ashburner st. Private EDWARD J. WALKER, 1809 Filmore st. FRED STEINBERG, 2215 St. James ter. RICHARD J. SHILO, 2382 North Boulevard. RAYMOND J. WELLS, 2610 N. American. PATRICK T. TUSTIN, 1106 North 24th st. WILLIAM J. HANSON, 3102 North Pennock st. MILCAREK, 37 Catharinet. ZYKON, 1111 Locust st. JOHN J. McGUIRE, 1102 Locust st. JOHN J. McGUIRE, 1102 Locust st. WILLIAM J. HANSON, 3102 North Pennock st. WILLIAM J. HANSON, 3102 North Pennock st. WILLIAM J. HANSON, 3102 North Pennock st.

KILLED BY RAP BURIED IN ROAD

Corporal Donald T. Shenton Is Victim of Bomb Planted by Germans

WAS HIGH SCHOOL STAR

Adds 172 Names to Philadelphia's Honor Roll

A trap devised by the Germans to blow up Allied tanks and left set, either by accident or design, when they retreated, cost the life of Corporal Donald T. Shenton, of 1809 North Fifty-seventh street, and the serious wounding of a dozen other soldiers.

All were killed in a big motortruck loaded with supplies, and were trailing one of the American regiments bound for the Rhine. The Germans had planted a high-explosive bomb in the road, so arranged that a vehicle of sufficiently heavy tonnage would set it off.

When the truck ran over this trap there was a roar and vehicle, riders and contents hurtled high in the air. Corporal Shenton and several other soldiers were injured so badly it is feared they will die.

Corporal Shenton is a West Philadelphia High School graduate and enlisted in June of 1917 along with a number of his schoolmates. A brother, Edward Shenton, was very popular at school and with his comrades in the army. His part in all the campaigns in which the 103d Engineers was engaged and came through without a scratch, only to lose his life on November 30, nine days after hostilities ceased.

The death in an aerial battle of Lieutenant Wistar Morris, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. Saunders Morris, of Haverford, is also reported today. Lieutenant Morris had been listed as missing since September 29, but official advices from the War Department informed his parents that he had been killed. He was brought down by German fire during the Farnham battle, killed in action on November 10, the day before the armistice was signed. He was reported today in a letter from his brother, Captain William W. Battles. Captain Battles was given a military funeral on the field where he had fallen.

SKETCHES OF THE HEROES

Sergeant Eugene M. Buckley, wounded, is twenty-three years old and a member of Company B, 315th Infantry. He went away with the first draft of his regiment in September, 1917, and was trained at Camp Meade. According to the War Department he was wounded during the battle of the Meuse, September 26, but according to his own letter he was taken sick September 30. A brother, William McDermott, is a member of the marine corps and is believed to be in France but the family has not heard from him in two years.

Private John H. Stoenberg, wounded, arrived home before the official notification. He landed at Ellis Island on November 10 and was taken to the Walter Reed Hospital, Washington, D. C., where they are manufacturing an artificial arm to replace the one lost in the battle. While hurrying to a field dressing station after being shot, Stoenberg fell into a gun ditch, where he found another doughboy, also wounded. They lay there for twenty-two hours before being picked up and when taken to an evacuation hospital and blood poisoning had set in. Stoenberg is twenty-four years old and formerly lived with his father at 2223 North Woodstock street. The young soldier is a member of Company F, 319th Infantry. Prior to joining the colors he was employed at the Hale & Kilbourn building.

Private J. Frank Deere, wounded on July 15, when the 109th Infantry, formerly the 109th Infantry, and the gallant marines stopped the German advance at the Marne, is still in the hospital. He was wounded in the leg and for a time it was feared that amputation would be necessary. The doctors were unable to do anything but a skin graft, but it is slightly absorbed. At present the physician says that the patient is recovering and a new process invented by the army three years ago and lived with his mother at 8091 Catharine street. He saw his mother at the Mexican border and was employed at the Hale & Kilbourn building before being called to the colors. Works with his mother at the Hale & Kilbourn building. He was a member of the team representing the West Walnut Catholic Club.

Private Harry Flesky, killed in action, was a Philadelphia boy who before this war was drafted in the autumn of last year and was sent to Camp Meade and went to France. He had no relatives in the 318th Infantry. Under circumstances that have not been made public, he was killed at 410 West 10th street.

Private Frank Manouss, wounded, formerly lived at 1838 Annin street. He was drafted in the autumn of last year and was sent to Camp Meade and went to France. He had no relatives in the 318th Infantry. Under circumstances that have not been made public, he was killed at 410 West 10th street.

Private James McDermott, reported as wounded in action on today's official casualty list, was a member of the 141st Infantry. He was wounded during the battle of the Meuse, September 26, but according to his own letter he was taken sick September 30. A brother, William McDermott, is a member of the marine corps and is believed to be in France but the family has not heard from him in two years.

Private James McDermott, reported as wounded in action on today's official casualty list, was a member of the 141st Infantry. He was wounded during the battle of the Meuse, September 26, but according to his own letter he was taken sick September 30. A brother, William McDermott, is a member of the marine corps and is believed to be in France but the family has not heard from him in two years.

Private James McDermott, reported as wounded in action on today's official casualty list, was a member of the 141st Infantry. He was wounded during the battle of the Meuse, September 26, but according to his own letter he was taken sick September 30. A brother, William McDermott, is a member of the marine corps and is believed to be in France but the family has not heard from him in two years.

Private James McDermott, reported as wounded in action on today's official casualty list, was a member of the 141st Infantry. He was wounded during the battle of the Meuse, September 26, but according to his own letter he was taken sick September 30. A brother, William McDermott, is a member of the marine corps and is believed to be in France but the family has not heard from him in two years.

Private James McDermott, reported as wounded in action on today's official casualty list, was a member of the 141st Infantry. He was wounded during the battle of the Meuse, September 26, but according to his own letter he was taken sick September 30. A brother, William McDermott, is a member of the marine corps and is believed to be in France but the family has not heard from him in two years.

Private James McDermott, reported as wounded in action on today's official casualty list, was a member of the 141st Infantry. He was wounded during the battle of the Meuse, September 26, but according to his own letter he was taken sick September 30. A brother, William McDermott, is a member of the marine corps and is believed to be in France but the family has not heard from him in two years.

Private James McDermott, reported as wounded in action on today's official casualty list, was a member of the 141st Infantry. He was wounded during the battle of the Meuse, September 26, but according to his own letter he was taken sick September 30. A brother, William McDermott, is a member of the marine corps and is believed to be in France but the family has not heard from him in two years.

Private James McDermott, reported as wounded in action on today's official casualty list, was a member of the 141st Infantry. He was wounded during the battle of the Meuse, September 26, but according to his own letter he was taken sick September 30. A brother, William McDermott, is a member of the marine corps and is believed to be in France but the family has not heard from him in two years.

Corp. C. H. Bell Wounded, Chas. Wicker Wounded, T. H. Keenan Jr. Wounded, Harry F. Marsch Wounded, Corp. R. French Wounded, J. H. Stotsenburg Wounded

R. H. Dickson Wounded, F. Mancusi Wounded, Corp. H. G. Swift Wounded, Thos. Aspell Wounded

Private James J. McManie, twenty-eight years old, was wounded in action during the battle of the Meuse, September 26, but according to his own letter he was taken sick September 30. A brother, Bernard McManie, died the day following his induction into the service. The family formerly lived in Hazleton, Pa.

Sergeant William McNeil, wounded on October 1, is the grandson of William McNeil, 12 South Thirty-fourth street. The young man enlisted in Company A, 10th Field-gun Battalion on June 20, 1917, and trained at Camp Hancock. Sergeant McNeil, who is only twenty years old, was promoted to the rank of sergeant after arriving overseas. He was a pipette for the U. S. J. before enlisting in the service. His grandfather was just recovering from a stroke of paralysis when he received the news that his grandson had been wounded in action. Sergeant McNeil wrote his grandfather on November 3 that he had been wounded in the leg and his mother, Mrs. Nell, 28, who is eighty years old, immediately took a train for the best hospital in the country.

Private Maurice Waldman is reported wounded in today's casualty list, but no word to this effect has been received from the War Department by his parents, who live at 3138 North Second street. Private Waldman enlisted in the regular army the day the United States declared war on Germany, was assigned to Company I, 109th Infantry, and sailed for France on April 27 of this year. He took part in the heavy fighting around Chateau Thierry, acting as a courier between battalion and regiment headquarters. His entire command was virtually wiped out during the great Allied counter-offensive which started on July 18. Private Waldman is fighting around Chateau Thierry, acting as a courier between battalion and regiment headquarters. His entire command was virtually wiped out during the great Allied counter-offensive which started on July 18.

Private Albert B. Lewis, captured last summer, but who has been released and recently rejoined his regiment, is twenty-one years old and lives at 24 East 12th street. He was drafted in the autumn of last year and was sent to Camp Meade and went to France. He had no relatives in the 318th Infantry. Under circumstances that have not been made public, he was killed at 410 West 10th street.

Red Cross "Eats" Saved Lives of Yankees in Hun Prison Camps

Young Lewis enlisted about two years ago and was made a member of the Forty-ninth Company, Fifth Marines. When taken prisoner he was sent originally to Camp Rastatt, Germany, where he met another Philadelphia boy with whom he was acquainted. His name is John Crowe, 3020 North Stillman street. He was captured in the same way as Lewis and was held in the same camp. After a short stay at Rastatt, Private Lewis was sent to Camp Rastatt, Germany, where he met another Philadelphia boy with whom he was acquainted. His name is John Crowe, 3020 North Stillman street.

Private Albert B. Lewis, captured last summer, but who has been released and recently rejoined his regiment, is twenty-one years old and lives at 24 East 12th street. He was drafted in the autumn of last year and was sent to Camp Meade and went to France. He had no relatives in the 318th Infantry. Under circumstances that have not been made public, he was killed at 410 West 10th street.

Private Albert B. Lewis, captured last summer, but who has been released and recently rejoined his regiment, is twenty-one years old and lives at 24 East 12th street. He was drafted in the autumn of last year and was sent to Camp Meade and went to France. He had no relatives in the 318th Infantry. Under circumstances that have not been made public, he was killed at 410 West 10th street.

Private Albert B. Lewis, captured last summer, but who has been released and recently rejoined his regiment, is twenty-one years old and lives at 24 East 12th street. He was drafted in the autumn of last year and was sent to Camp Meade and went to France. He had no relatives in the 318th Infantry. Under circumstances that have not been made public, he was killed at 410 West 10th street.

Private Albert B. Lewis, captured last summer, but who has been released and recently rejoined his regiment, is twenty-one years old and lives at 24 East 12th street. He was drafted in the autumn of last year and was sent to Camp Meade and went to France. He had no relatives in the 318th Infantry. Under circumstances that have not been made public, he was killed at 410 West 10th street.

Private Albert B. Lewis, captured last summer, but who has been released and recently rejoined his regiment, is twenty-one years old and lives at 24 East 12th street. He was drafted in the autumn of last year and was sent to Camp Meade and went to France. He had no relatives in the 318th Infantry. Under circumstances that have not been made public, he was killed at 410 West 10th street.

Private Albert B. Lewis, captured last summer, but who has been released and recently rejoined his regiment, is twenty-one years old and lives at 24 East 12th street. He was drafted in the autumn of last year and was sent to Camp Meade and went to France. He had no relatives in the 318th Infantry. Under circumstances that have not been made public, he was killed at 410 West 10th street.

Private Albert B. Lewis, captured last summer, but who has been released and recently rejoined his regiment, is twenty-one years old and lives at 24 East 12th street. He was drafted in the autumn of last year and was sent to Camp Meade and went to France. He had no relatives in the 318th Infantry. Under circumstances that have not been made public, he was killed at 410 West 10th street.

Private Albert B. Lewis, captured last summer, but who has been released and recently rejoined his regiment, is twenty-one years old and lives at 24 East 12th street. He was drafted in the autumn of last year and was sent to Camp Meade and went to France. He had no relatives in the 318th Infantry. Under circumstances that have not been made public, he was killed at 410 West 10th street.

Private Albert B. Lewis, captured last summer, but who has been released and recently rejoined his regiment, is twenty-one years old and lives at 24 East 12th street. He was drafted in the autumn of last year and was sent to Camp Meade and went to France. He had no relatives in the 318th Infantry. Under circumstances that have not been made public, he was killed at 410 West 10th street.

Private Albert B. Lewis, captured last summer, but who has been released and recently rejoined his regiment, is twenty-one years old and lives at 24 East 12th street. He was drafted in the autumn of last year and was sent to Camp Meade and went to France. He had no relatives in the 318th Infantry. Under circumstances that have not been made public, he was killed at 410 West 10th street.

Private Albert B. Lewis, captured last summer, but who has been released and recently rejoined his regiment, is twenty-one years old and lives at 24 East 12th street. He was drafted in the autumn of last year and was sent to Camp Meade and went to France. He had no relatives in the 318th Infantry. Under circumstances that have not been made public, he was killed at 410 West 10th street.

Private Albert B. Lewis, captured last summer, but who has been released and recently rejoined his regiment, is twenty-one years old and lives at 24 East 12th street. He was drafted in the autumn of last year and was sent to Camp Meade and went to France. He had no relatives in the 318th Infantry. Under circumstances that have not been made public, he was killed at 410 West 10th street.

ment to go through the Senate before the end of next January. Should it fail of passage the suffragists will present a measure calling either for presidential suffrage or one similar to the Illinois law, providing equal suffrage for all offices. A bill providing for one or the other will probably be taken up and held in reserve in case of the failure of the Senate to adopt the amendment. At the headquarters in the Finance Building officers of the State association confidently assert that a poll of the Legislature shows a majority for suffrage in both the House and Senate at the next Legislature. The House, in which a State amendment was defeated only by a narrow margin two years ago, is counted fairly certain. In the Senate the lines are more closely drawn. A floor leader to handle the suffrage measure will probably be designated at the conference Wednesday. A suggestion has been made that the annual convention of the suffragists be held in Harrisburg during the session of the Legislature, because of the effect it is believed it would have on the legislators. No convention has been held so far this year. It was to have been held last month, but was postponed pending action by the Senate on the Federal amendment.

SUFFRAGISTS SHAPING LEGISLATIVE PLANS

State Leaders Will Meet Here Tomorrow to Determine Campaign Program

State suffrage leaders will convene here tomorrow to determine on the legislative program which will be submitted to the next Legislature.

The conference, which will be held at the headquarters of the Pennsylvania Women's Suffrage Association in the Finance Building, will be under the auspices of the board of directors of that body. Twenty prominent suffrage leaders from all sections of the State, headed by Mrs. John O. Miller, of Pittsburgh, president of the association, are expected to participate.

One of the most important questions to be decided is the kind of suffrage measure to be presented to the Legislature. Suffrage leaders have taken no action on this question so far pending the passage of the Federal suffrage amendment by the Senate. They expect the amend-

"One of the authentic masterpieces of this year's action."—N. Y. Tribune.

Simple Souls

By John Hastings Turner "Molly, the Beggar Maid of the piece, is altogether a plain and real. Locke has never done any woman as well as this."—New York Evening Sun. $1.35 net

CHARLES SCRIBNER'S SONS FIFTH AVE. AT 46th ST. NEW YORK

The House that Heppie built

FOUNDED IN 1865—ADOPTED ONE-PRICE SYSTEM IN 1881 C. J. Heppie & Son—1117-1119 Chestnut Street—9th & Thompson Sts.

Victor Records for Christmas

Heppie's is the place to buy your records. We have a large stock of records, trained salesman and messenger service. If you do not have a Victrola, call, phone or write us for catalogs and full particulars.

Down town: 1117-1119 Chestnut Street Uptown: Sixth and Thompson Streets

The Wilson Label Protects Your Table

TO prepare and distribute the necessities of life carries with it a great responsibility. To meet this responsibility demands two essentials—a policy, and an organization able to carry out that policy.

Our policy toward each user of our products is expressed in our slogan "The Wilson Label Protects Your Table." This is our code. It is our pledge. The Wilson W-shaped label is your guaranty that back of it is all the honesty of purpose, skill and expert ability humanly possible. It means that every Wilson product is selected, handled and prepared with the respect due the foods you will serve at your own table.

This respect governs our work. Your own mother could not be more careful, more thoughtful or have more consideration for your enjoyment when she prepares the favorite dish for the family.

THE Wilson organization is one of thinkers—men able to make the Wilson policy genuine. We use our machinery to manufacture; we use thought in our management and our distribution. No man who is not capable of taking the customer's viewpoint is big enough or broad enough to share in the management of this company.

Our guaranty of Wilson products is unconditional. That is the only guaranty worth while, and when we make it we rely upon the fairness of every user of our products. We have found our customers fair, and we mean that they shall always find us just the same way—and that our label shall stand for this policy of ours unflinchingly.

We like to feel that the people who ask for Wilson products are our friends. We value their comment—whether praise or criticism. It helps us to continue to build this institution and to hold the confidence of the public.

Wilson & Co. logo and address: 305 Mutual Life Ins. Co. Bldg. Philadelphia Headquarters

Goodyear advertisement: RUBBER COMPANY 430 CHESTNUT ST.