LASTING COUNCIL, GREY'S PROPOSAL

Need Only Permanent Allied Peace Congress to Found World League

SEES U. S. AS TRUSTEE

Any Organization Without America Would Perish From European Intrigues

> By the Associated Press London, Dec. 23.

Viscount Grey, former Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, has written, at the request of the research committec of the League of Nations Union, an introductory note to a pamphlet entitled "The Peace Conference and After." The note is an elaboration of his recent speech expressing his views of a world league.

After urging the great opportunity afforded by the Peace Conference for taking a practical step in the direction of forming a League of Nations, Vis-is not necessary for the Peace wital beginning of such a league that is absolutely necessary is that it should not commit suicide, but keep itself alive by adjourning and leaving a manent peranization, instead of dis-

"Two more points I would especially commend to careful and sympathete attention. One is the possibility of applying the principle of trusteeship to those the wall instead, the conferred briefly with Colonel E. M. House before his vast tracts, especially Africa, where no independent national government of the mative inhabitants can be formed. The cacy of the part to be taken by the finited States in helping to give effect to this principle of trusteesing and in the council of the world. Without the United States, any council or league of nations will soon be little better than the old concert of Europe, which was spoiled in the groundwork for the actual Peace Conference.

The work of the American commissioners will not be delayed by President Wilson's visit to England. It is stated that the daily conferences will continue among the delegates and the corps of specialists employed in the various harmones of the great undertaining and ganches of the great undertaking, and also with such representatives of the muy wish to communicate with American delegates. Such discussions will naturally be purely informal.

Lip to the present moment there has been no definite decision as to when the onference will hold its first sessions, nor t, is it known how many delegates will represent each of the various nations. The delay in arriving at an agreement of the date for beginning the conference may be explained by the fact that there has been no meeting so far between the British and the American delegates.

Not much importance is attached to the number of delegates each notion bell have, because the delegations will beer as units in the formal proceedings.

President Wilson and Mrs. Wilson went out walking together today for the first time since their arrival in Paris. They slipped away from the Murat Pal-ace through the famous old garden, and walked up the boulevards and through

England Must Compromise on Sea Policy, Paper Warns

Guardian of December 19:

There is a third matter of dominating importance for the Peace Conference referred to according to the Assicated Press report, both by President Wilson and by Mr. Daniels. It is that of the law of the sea and its dominion. Mr. Churchill, with characteristic investionally has made his own eristic impetuosity, has made his own eclaration on this subject. It is now the turn of the American President and the Secretary of the American naval department. Mr. Churchill's simple view is that the British navy has been supreme on the seas for some centuries, much to the benefit of the world as well as to our own, and that it has got to remain supreme. But that got to remain supreme. But tout hardly exhausts the matter. As against Germany, or against Germany in combination with any possible ally of Germany, it was essential that we should make our-selves, safe and we did make ourselves safe. But the German navy or all that matters of it, is now in British harbors, and nothing is reore unlikely than that it will for many a long day emerge from that secure custody. Germany was easily sec-ond in the race for sea-power. No other European State came near her. That blace is now taken by America. America has just completed a great three-year program of naval war concruetion. Mr. Daniels now announces that he has recommended to Con-gress the adoption of another three-year program substantially the same year program substantially the Are we, then going to build against America, or is she going to against us? Both suppositions are pre-posterous. Yet it is conceivable that America, with her powers of construc-tion vastly increased by the war, may

The following excerpt is from an editorial, warning England to compromise with America on British see gram is for an annual expenditure on new warships of, 600 million dollars. Or 120 million pounds, if that is a gram is for an annual expenditure on new warships of, 600 million dollars, or 120 million pounds, if that is a challenge, it is a rather formidable challenge, it is a rather formidable one. It is not a challenge. What then, does it mean? It may pretty safely be taken to mean that the United States, by far the greatest civilized community in the world, does not mean to play second fiddle anywhere, and that if we can't trust her she wen't trust us.

That brings us back to the teague of nations and to the whole question of the sea law of the future, which obviously and beyond question must be quite a different thing from the sea law of the past. Naval warfare has been absolutely revolutionized in the course of the war, and sea law will have to be revolutionized to suit. liltherto we have from time to time made our own sea law to suit our-selves and have imposed it on the rest of the world. We made it during this last war just in the old fashion. America has always objected, but has not been in a position, or has not thought it worth while, to give effect to her objection. Now she proposes to have a say in the matter. She proposes to bring up the whole question at the Peace Conference.

Do we intend to object and to stand on our old position of dictaring, with-out appeal, to the rest of the world? It would not be reasonable, seeing that the rest of the world, including the great Power of our own breed, repre-sented there, and including the neutral nations, which have suffered almost as much as the belligerents, has, after ad, an interest in the matter. Also it would not be prudent. America is at this time, as she has shown by every means in her power, exceedingly friendly to us. Why should we seek to presume on her friendship?
