The Young Lady Across the Way

The young lady across the way says there doubtless is some good reason for insisting upon the repatriation of all the poor French and Belgian refugees, but it does seem like a shame not to let them go home at once.

A Practical Lesson

—Sydney Bulletin.

Schoolmaster—Now, Lindsay Velasquez Brown, you will take your exercise book and write 5000 times, "We must not waste paper."

OUT OF A JOB

—The Passing Show.

"All very well to talk of peace. But what will my husband do?"
"Surely he can find something like his present work?"
"No, he can't. He's a press censor."

A KEY INDUSTRY

—The Passing Show.

"Well, I reckon, as belongin' to a key industry, they ought to let me out of this at once."
"Oh! What's your trade?"
"Burglary. Mostly with violence."
