BANK SENTRIES OF THE AMERICAN ARMY OF OCCUPATION on guard on a bridge across the river Moselle at the old German city of Trier. The little guard house, where once the Prussian sentry challenged the passerby, now shelters a young Yank from overseas.

THE FIRST PHOTOGRAPH OF THE AMERICAN PEACE MISSION IN SESSION to discuss America's terms of peace. The photograph was taken in the Hotel Crillon, Paris, where the delegates, with the exception of President Wilson, are stopping. Left to right are Colonel E. M. House, Secretary of State Robert Lansing, President Wilson, Henry White and General Tasker H. Bliss.

"TRUE HEARTS OF THE WORLD" is what George Simmonds, of the Klein Club, calls his 1919 nummers' creation. There's a heart made of America's ensign at the top, and one for France, the Red Cross and England, each, around the skirt of this marvelous cloak.
