TEACHERS CALL Insurance Agents Decide to Urge FOR MORE PAY Men to Hold U. S. Policies Educational Association Asks Assembly for 25 Per Cent Increase

Harrisburg, Jan. 3 .- The Pennsylvania State Educational Association closed sixty-ninth session here yesterby unanimously recommending that the proposed bill giving all public school teachers an increase of 25 per cent in salaries be passed; that leg-islative appropriations be provided for the carrying out of the retirement-fund plan, and that the blennial school applan, and that the blennial school ap-propriation be increased from $18,500.-600 to $25,600,000. Dr. Frederick E Downes, superintendent at Harrisburg, was unanimously elected president, and the association decided to hold its next meeting in Philadephia next December, Marcus Asron Vice Decident of the Marcus Airon, vice president of the Pittaburgh Board of Fublic Education, and teachers cannot live on the sal-aries being paid at present and that many are dropping out of the profes-sion. He continued:

sion. He continued: "It is the tenchers who have made the United States what it is today, and what have they received as a reward for their work? A cup of hemiock and a crown of thorns is the only thing they have received for their spiendid service, and it is now the duty of the State to uphoid its name as a leader in public improvements to lead the way in the payment of decent ways to instructors."

The truest way of growing rich is not by hearding or by petty conomizing, but by investing money in the best and most lasting way. Get-rich-quick schemes are most frequently get-poor-quick traps, and the same may be said of merchandise and shopping off of Chestnut street. Showy, shoddy goods wear out and must be repurchased and repurchased; those of sterling quality, with a seemingly higher initial price, outlast time. Five-and-twenty years ago an interesting young couple set up housekeeping; from attic to cellar all furnishings were new. Seven children blessed the union, and today all that remains of their original floor coverings is their biggest "initial extravagance," an oriental rug.
