G^{LEASON} and Comishey will get along well together. The new manager will be bass and know's enough about conditions in Chicago to have his own way. But the deal shows Commy is a real business man. He buries personal grudges for the good of the ball club, and that accounts for his success. For two years he and Fielder Jones did not speak, but Jones continued to manage the

Jack Hendricks Has Ironclad Contract With Cards

PEAKING of managers, we cannot forget Jack Hendricks, the pilot of the St. Loole Cards, who is supposed to have been presented with the tinware for a Christmas present. Hendricus was pried loose from a swell job in Indianapolis last year after considerable difficulty, handed a twoyear contract calling for $7500 per and told to go out and make a record with a Class Z ball club. He was up against it from the start. Hornshy had an inflated idea of his importance and fell down miseraidy, and the best men were taken away by the army. Near the end of the season Jack was staggering along with fourteen players and was forced to use a catcher in the outfield part of the time. In spite of that he made good as a manager, and the rube stockholders are trying to fire him as a reward.

There is no chance to give Hendricks the gate titless he receives $7500 cash money before he departs. I saw Jack in villengo last week and looked at his contract. It calls for two years at $7400 per year, payable in twelve monthly installments, the payments to be stopped in cuse of war interfering with the game, but to resume when conditions become normal. It is signed by Branch Hickey, president of the club, and the hest lawyers in Chicago say it is ironelad. Thus the attempt to oust Hetdricks runs against a legal barrier which will put the oustees down for the count. . . .

T PRESENT Hendricks is in St. Louis, holding down the sab as A manager as if nothing had happened. He has not been noticed officially that he is unnecessary, but is ready to flash the papers when the time comes and fight his case in the courts. Money is not at all plentiful in St. Loole, so it would not be surprising to see Hendricks managing the team this year.
