TO RESUME TITLE PLAY IN ENGLAND

Application Made to Stage Tennis Championship at Wimbledon

AMERICANS MAY ENTER

International tennis competition next nmer is predicted in the report that the All-England Club has applied for sanction to hold the championship at Wimbledon. This event was abandoned during the war, and plans for its revival show that English tennis players are preparing to resume activity.

The executive committee will recom mend to the annual meeting of the United States National Lawn Tennis Association on February 7 that arrangements be undertaken to re-establish the Davis Cup contests in 1920.

The English champlonship of the coming season will have something of an international flavor, however, for in describing the plans the London Field says that players representing the Allies are expected to take part.

Schneider, Parent, Boardman and Rieber Chosen Honor Men

Vincent Schneider, Albert Ford Parent, John Boardman and Henry George Rieber will receive loving cups as home

Rieber will receive loving cups as honor men of the senior class at the Northeast High School yesterday. It has been the custom to bestow a spoon, bowl, pipe and cane, but the old idea has now passed away.

Schneider, first honor man, entered Northeast from the Claghorn School and has since competed in baseball, basketball and football.

Al Parent is also a three-sport athlete, excelling on the track, gridiron and m the cage. He also is high in his scholastic work, and is the class president. He came from the Schaeffer School.

RIVET RECORD HELD BY MERCHANT GANGS

Crews Cling to Top Place as Tenaciously as They Did to Last

Phenomenal riveting records are credited to the crews of the Merchant Shippard at Harriman.

An average of forty rivets an hour was attained by the riveting gangs of the yard on December 28, according to official tabulations made in the contest between the Merchant yard, Hog Island and the Submarine yard.

One month ago the Merchant yard held a tight grip on last place. Then, suddenly, the crews seemed to become electrified. They placed the yard at the top of the list, which place it has maintained up to date.

More, the Merchant riveters left their rivals far in the rear, neither Hog Island nor the Submarine yard ever reaching a daily average of thirty rivets per hour. On the other hand, the Merchant yard workers point to thirty-three rivets per hour as their low mark since their real drive began. Forty was the high December 28 the averages for the yards

The remarkable records are explained by the yard officials as the result of taving plenty of work ahead of the liveting crews. Nothing discourse

Among the hull riveting gangs extraordinary records have been made by No. 13. The only unjucky thing about No. 13 is its number. They averaged sixty-two per gang per hour for the week ending December 12.

The assembly yard riveting gangs jumped to seventy-five per hour per intakes by consulting Vague.

These newspaper quotations represent live cattle prices in Chicago on December 30th, 1918.

The list shows price ranges on nine general classified groups with a spread of $13.85 per cwt.—the lowest at $6.50, and the highest at $20.35.

Why this variation in price?

Because the meat from different animals varies greatly in quality and weight.

Although the quotations shown are in nine divisions, Swift & Company grades cattle into 34 general classes, and each class into a variety of weights and qualities.

As a result of these differences in cattle prices, (due to differences in weights and meat qualities), there is a range of 15 cents in Swift & Company's selling prices of beef carcasses.

These facts explain:

1-Why retail prices vary in different stores.

2-Why it would be difficult to regulate prices of cattle or beef.

3-Why it requires experts to judge cattle and to sell meat, so as to yield the profit of only a fraction of a cent a pounda profit too small to affect prices.
