GERMANS NOW USE RED PERIL IN EFFORT TO SCARE ALLIES

It has caused general surprise that the revolutionary rulers of Germany have until now maintained most of the Kaiser's ambassadors and all of the officials of the old Imperial legations and consulates in neutral countries at their posts.

Retain Tricky Agents. The new "democratic" rulers of Germany cannot afford to dispense with the valuable services of these experts and of the vast organization of secret agents which they have created and which is still at their disposal.

Everywhere the Kaiser's titled ambassadors have enthusiastically donned the red cap of revolution and are willingly obeying the commands of their new socialist masters.

One of the most noted of the Kaiser's political Secret Service men, the pseudo-Socialist, Helpland Parvus, has quite recently taken up his residence in the Swiss capital of direct operations.

Camouflage Kaiserism. This America's help is still needed to consolidate the victory of the Allies and insure peace and prosperity.

Food Situation Unchanged. After all this, one more conclusive proof was needed for Germany's invariable political duplicity.

CUMMINGS NOT MURDERER. Fugitive Caught Here Did Not Kill Victim, Relatives Say.
