Women farmers from every part of the country are in Philadelphia today for the first annual convention of the Women's Land Army of America.

More than 400 farmerettes are here for a conference, which began at 10.30 o'clock this morning at the Art Alliance.

The well-attended session is to be held in the afternoon and evening sessions.

Problems pertaining to the "back to the land" movement, expected to permeate the country this spring, and to the employment of women as farm laborers, are being considered.

Despite the fact that many men will be released from the army by this time, it is believed farmers will still be in demand.

Problems of the foreign-born women trained to do land work will also be discussed.

This morning's session was a strictly business one, open only to delegates.

An open meeting will be held at 8.30 this afternoon at the Art Alliance, and another at 8 o'clock this evening at the Ritz-Carlton.

Nominations for social directors and reports from the State directors of the land army will be heard this afternoon.

Judge William W. Porter will preside at a banquet at the Ritz-Carlton at 7 o'clock.

Among the speakers at the evening session will be Mrs. A. Barlow, of the Y. W. C. A., who will discuss the problems of foreign-born women farmers for land work and their relation to the land army; J. Clyde Marquis, who will speak on "Markets and Marketing"; Mrs. E. T. Davis, member of the executive committee of the Pennsylvania Land Army, who will discuss the work of farmerettes in this State.

Guests of Conference
Nathan Smythe, assistant director general of the U. S. employment service, is attending the conference, and other guests include: Mrs. William A. Nicholson, Mrs. C. Howard Davison and Miss Ida Ogilvie, of New York; Mrs. E. W. Richards, of New Rochelle; Mrs. E. G. H. Schenck, chairman; Miss Elizabeth Mery, secretary; and Mrs. Edna Whitteley, of the Connecticut Land Army; Miss Anne McElwaine, chairman of New Jersey; Mrs. James Post, of Morris County, and Mrs. C. Hartrey, of Trenton, N. J.; Miss M. G. Turnbull, of Baltimore; Mrs. James Pliner, of Eccleston, and James Kimble, of Port Deposit, prominent in farm labor conference.

Philadelphia women vitally interested in the land army movement include Mrs. Willis Martin, member of the national board of directors of the women's land army and president of the National Land Army Club; Mrs. Henry S. Boyer, prominent in Red Cross work; Mrs. Edward W. Biddle, president of the Civic Club; Mrs. Edgar Baird, chairman of the National League for Women's Service for Pennsylvania; Mrs. Charles M. S. chairman of the food conservation committee; Mrs. H. La Harre Jayne, Mrs. Samuel Felix, Mrs. Miss Sophie Caldwell, Miss Mary K. Gibson is chairman of the Pennsylvania branch of the women's land army.

A feature of the conference will be an open forum, where those who have employed farmerettes will be invited to tell of their experiences.

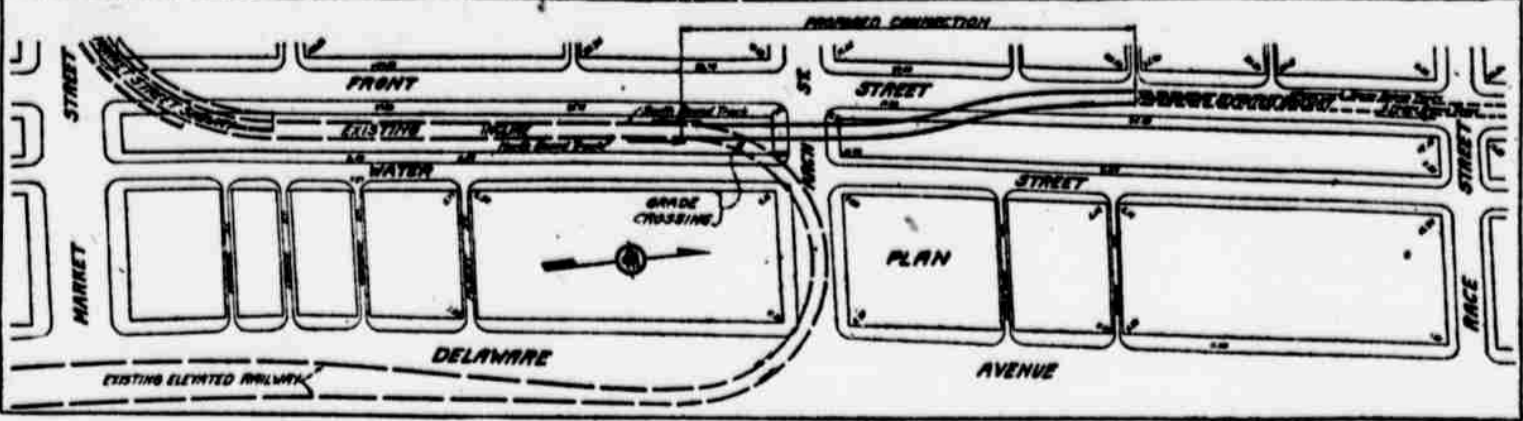

Directors of the Philadelphia land army say they have already had many calls for help on the farms during the coming season. The women, too, are eager to return to outdoor work and many new recruits are being added.

Recognition of the services rendered at summer by the women's secretary of labor W. B. Wilson has approved a plan of co-operation between the land army and the United States Employment office.

Pennsylvania was one of the first States to organize farmerettes to answer the call to military service. Of 500 mercantile units in this State Philadelphia sent out twenty. The bloomer and sock uniforms, looked askance upon at first, became as respected as the olive khaki or the navy blue of the men in service. Farmers skeptical at the beginning of the season grew to admire the look and conscientiousness of the women workers and put in their requests for more.

With last season's experience as a starting point, the women expect to prove far more valuable to the country this season. They have organized and trained in virtually every sort of farm work and will be ready to answer the calls from the farmers.

PROPOSED FRANKFORD "L" AND MARKET STREET SUBWAY CONNECTION

The above map depicts the physical characteristics of the proposed junction of the Frankford elevated with the Market Street subway at the Delaware Avenue loop. Frankford trains will enter the west-bound tracks of the subway at the connecting link and continue to the Sixty-ninth street terminal of the Market Street elevated road. The return trip will be made over the same roadbed to the loop and thence to Bridge Street, Frankford. A straight five-cent fare will be charged in each direction.

The transport Orion, scheduled to reach New York January 20, has only two casual officers on board.

The War Department also announced that the Second Battalion and Machine Gun Company, 367th Infantry (Ninety-second Division), about 1000 strong, and the First and Third Battalions and Machine Gun Company, 369th Infantry and the First Battalion and Supply Company, 370th Infantry, both regiments of the Ninety-third Division, had been assigned for early convoy.

BABCOCK TO MANAGE INAUGURAL PAGEANT

Pittsburgh Mayor Chosen Marshal for Governor's Parade Next Tuesday

Mayor E. V. Babcock, of Pittsburgh, will be the grand marshal of the parade which will follow the inauguration of Senator Sprout as Governor of Pennsylvania next Tuesday.

Selection of the Mayor was made after former Governor Edwin S. Stuart had declined because of advancing years and it was found that Brigadier General William G. Price, Jr., the original candidate, would not arrive from France in time. Mr. Stuart said he had not ridden a horse in eight years.

Plans for the parade have been virtually completed by the committee in charge of arrangements. The military section of the parade will be made up of a company of sailors and a company of marines from Philadelphia Navy Yard, headed by the marine band.

Other units in the military section will be cadets from Pennsylvania Military and Pennsylvania State Colleges, twelve companies of Pennsylvania Reserve Militia, a detachment of the State Constabulary, two companies of the United States Defense Reserve from Philadelphia and one from Cumberland County.

The Union Republican Club, of Philadelphia, the Vaux marching organization, will lead the civilian section. David H. Lane will be the marshal of the 600 marchers, who will be attired in olive hats, gray spats and long dark overcoats.

All the up-State counties are preparing to send delegations. State Treasurer Harold M. Kephart will make his first public appearance in a silk hat as the marshal of a delegation of seventy-five from Fayette County.

GEN. JOS. A. GASTON TO LEAVE CAMP MEADE

Will Be Relieved as Executive Officer of Cantonment by Col. F. W. Bugbee

Special Telegram to Evening Public Ledger
Camp Meade, Md., Jan. 14.—Brigadier General Joseph A. Gaston—"General Joe"—as the boys lovingly speak of him—is to be relieved of duty as the executive officer at this cantonment.

Official advice from Washington this morning stated that Colonel Frederick W. Bugbee, now on duty at Camp Wadsworth, had been named to succeed General Gaston. Nothing was said, however, to indicate what assignment would be given the general brigadier who made so many friends among the officers and men here as well as among the civilian population of the nearby cities and hamlets.

Colonel Bugbee is not a stranger to Meade. He is a Californian and at the time of the entry of the United States into the world war was a major of infantry. He was sent to this camp as a lieutenant colonel of the 17th Infantry and before his transfer South was the acting commander of the 12d.

As soon as it was learned this morning that General Gaston was to be relieved of duty, Colonel Bugbee was notified and he was transferred here to take the command of the 17th Infantry.

Under the Sherman law, on which was based one of the two indictments against the seven, immediate dismissal of city employees is provided as one of the penalties for violation of the act.

SENTENCED POLICE RETAIN THEIR JOBS

Six Convicted in Fifth Ward Case Stay Pending Appeal Decision

Police Lieutenant David Bennett and five patrolmen under jail sentences in the Fifth Ward election fraud case, returned to duty today.

Pending final action on the case by the Superior Court, to which an appeal was taken, Director Wilson, of the Department of Public Safety, said he would take no action looking toward the dismissal or suspension of the six men.

This attitude of Director Wilson was condemned by James Gay Gordon, Jr., who appeared as attorney for the Commonwealth in the preliminary hearing of Deutsch and the policeman.

"Any decent city administration would have turned them off at once," Mr. Gordon exclaimed. "These policemen have been convicted and sentenced as felons."

Ignaz Deutsch, former Common Councilman, and the policeman, were sentenced yesterday by Judge Hulse in West Chester. Deutsch was ordered to serve two years in jail and pay a fine of $1000. Bennett, eighteen months in jail and $800 fine, Patrolmen John Wirtschauer, Michael Murphy, Emanuel Uram and Louis Feldman, one year and $400 each, and Patrolman Charles P. Hayden, nine months and $500 fine.

The court ordered the sentences be served in the Chester County Jail.

U. S. Clothing Inspectors Tell Quartermaster Notice Was Short
Protest had been sent to the quartermaster general of the United States army at Washington by John F. McEvoy, an attorney, representing sixty clothing inspectors at the Schuylkill Arsenal who were given only two days' notice that their services would no longer be needed.

The government workers declare that when they reported for work yesterday, they were notified they would be out of jobs tomorrow. The inspectors say they should have been given sufficient notice of their dismissal to allow them to procure new positions.

It was pointed out in the protest to the quartermaster general that the men were appointed from civil service lists and it was customary in such cases to give workers two weeks' notice when their services were no longer required by the Government.

PROPOSE LEAGUE OF BUSINESS MEN

Fern Rock Improvers Ask Concerted Action in North of City

FOR MUTUAL BENEFITS

Abolition of Skip-Stops and More Car Lines Among Objects

Roused by failures to obtain adequate transportation service to and from the northern section of the city, an alliance of business men's associations was proposed last night when members of the Fern Rock Improvement Association met with the Logan Improvement Association, the Oak Lane Association and the York Road Improvement Association for concerted action for better trolley facilities.

Ratification of the alliance will be sought at a meeting of the United Business Men's Association, the central body, next Thursday evening. This is not a merger, merely a concert of action on all matters pertaining to the interests of the communities represented.

By means of the league of alliance it is hoped eventually to obtain a number of amalgamations for mutual betterments in all parts of the city, serving the same functions for the various localities as are served for the city at large by the United Business Men's Association.

Abolition of skip-stops and the introduction of more car lines will be among the first aims of the alliance.

Because the present Fifth street trolley line has its present terminus at Olney avenue, nearly a mile below the Oak Lane station, demands will be made upon the Philadelphia Rapid Transit Company for an extension of service to the upper point. In the demand all the 3000 members of the northern bodies will stand together if the "get-together" overtures shall be accepted by the other associations.

Although residents of the Fern Rock section assert that in the main their territory is the best lighted and best paved in the city, plans for the installation of additional lights on Fifth street and Green lane, and for the placing of a high power arc lamp at the intersection of the two streets will be urged upon the city.

G. R. SHELDON IS DEAD; G. O. P. EX-TREASURER

New York Financier Succumbs to Injuries Received in Mine Accident

By the Associated Press

New York, Jan. 14.—George R. Sheldon, financier and former treasurer of the Republican National Committee, died today at Carbondale, Ill., of injuries received in a mine accident recently near that city.

Mr. Sheldon was long active in Republican politics, having been a New York delegate to the Republican National Convention in 1900, New York member of the Republican National Committee 1903 to 1904, treasurer subsequently of the New York State Republican committee, and in 1908, succeeding Cornelius N. Bliss as treasurer of the national committee, in which capacity he served for eight years.

As a financier he was at the time of his death a director in eighteen corporations, including the American Locomotive Company and the Bethlehem Steel Company. His offices were in the Wall Street district, where he was head of the banking firm of William C. Sheldon & Co., founded by his father.

Mr. Sheldon was born in Brooklyn in 1857 and was graduated from Harvard in 1879, entering the banking business at once. He was president of the Union League Club, a Republican organization, from 1907 to 1911, and was a member of other clubs.

The financier was injured January 8 while on a tour of inspection in a mine at Dowell, Ill., being caught between a string of coal cars and dragged fifty yards. He was taken to a hospital at Carbondale.
