PUBLIC LEDGER COMPANY CTRUS H. K. CURTIS, Passibast Charles H. Ludington, Vice President, John Martin, Serretars and Treasurer Philips Cellings, Williams, John J. Sparseon, Directo

EDITORIAL BOARD JOHN C. MARTIN ... General Business Manager Published daily at Pusito Lansini Building, Independence Square, Philadelphia, Independence Square, Philadelphia, Grand Grand Hostonia Stress Analysis City Pets Union Stillding New York 196 Metropolitan Tower 196 Ford Smilding St. Lonis 1968 Full-ring Building St. Lonis 1968 Full-ring Building 1962 Februare Building 1962 Februare Building

NEWS BUREAUS: Wassington Bussat.

N. E. Cor. Pennsylvania Ave. and 14th St.
New York Bussat.

The Sus- including Lendon Bussat.

Lendon Times SUBSCRIPTION TERMS

The EVENING PUBLIC LEGGE Is served to sub-icribers in Philadelphia and surrounding towns at the rate of twelve (12) cents per week, payable to the carrier. By mail to points outside of Philadelphia, in the United States, Canada, or United States pos-essions, postage free, fifty (50) cents per month, Siz (50) dollars per year, papable in advance. To all foreign countries one (81) dollar per-month. Notice Subscribers wishing address changed

BELL, 3000 WALNUT KEYSTONI, MAIN 1000 Ledger, Independence Square, Philadelphia.

Member of the Associated Press THE ASSOCIATED PRESS is exclu-lively entitled to the use for republication of all news dispatches credited to it or not otherwise credited in this paper, and also the local news published therein. All rights of republication of special dis-patches herein are also reserved.

Philadelphia, Wednesday, January 15, 1919

TWO AVOIDABLE WRECKS

RAILROAD operatives have always known that no system, no matter how carefully its mechanism is adjusted, is proof against accidents due to a failure of the human equation.

For this reason the railroads devised an extraordinary process of selection in order to eliminate dangers by putting only dependable men in responsible posts. Have the demands of the military service on railway personnel left important duties in irresponsible hands? This, it would seem. is a question which ought keeply to interest the investigators who have to explain the two fatal and costly railroad wreeks at Fort Washington and at Batavia, N. Y.

The Chester County July has not, as yet,

GENERAL SMUTS-LEAGUE PIONEER

THAT mankind's ability to think constructively has not been entirely dulied by the most crushingly destructive era in history is encouragingly evidenced in tieneral Smuts's cagee of nations plan, That commission, which is said to have been acquainted with its outlines since the war-prevention clauses. The point may tional peoples. prove to be well taken or it may be insufficiently mindful of certain practical considerations whitch must be made explicit before even the loosest form of world union can be achieved. Debate on such convention was summoned until it met. skeptics in the land were tremulous with fear lest the very magnitude of the traits problem should stultify the mental initial tive necessary to its solution. What really happened, however, was the formulation | wail of German critical intelligence, of a wide variety of definite plans, which gave rise to that admired blend of ideal istic and practical machiners known as the American Constitution. Despite dark clouds and harrent aggrees statesman who has lived to witness in South Africa the functioning of reorganiration machineco inconcensance in the storms days of Oom Paul.

pus i emp

33,6 fun nar $9,2 826 or nm-pre nev lab

His league a same, with its phyclaner for a general conference, a council marte of arhitration and communities loss, comparisory arbitration such where he she combined in tions on members of the society while break its covenants, deals commetals with a theme which has now proved there and boycott to which the offending matter chall then facts improve subjected passes the decision as to the lengther seminiscenses of armed force and its easiers in the hands of the council. Name or military operations with therefore not automatically enoug in the event of a breach,

Criticism of this lecolate and or other suggestions either because of their strip gency or mildress to inevitable. But a b pessimistic blindness to denu that progrear toward the goal to which humanit to looking has been made by the extremelcapable Angustion, soldier and published Lord Robert Cera is said to be fathering another plan: Elvon from Prance, where Clemenceira still prairie of the balance of power, specific lear to projects that it expected.

America's remedial machinery will be substantially fortified as representative of the associated powers abandon general ties for definite proposals. Norwithstandthis delays and an almost awed reluctance to grapple with facts, bundy numercy have already set to work and Smuta is one of

The face that the Prince of Water enged a visit to the Yanus by dancing with Angelcan nurses simply shows that he is an eminently sensible and normal young man.

AN ECHO OF THE DAYS OF PLENTY TI IS typical of the whirlight of human events that the exponent of a system warning mankind against overcating should have died while on a mission whose object was to feed his fellow beings. Nevertheless the system of Horace Fletcher. whose death has just been reported from Copenhagen, was in principle excellent. "Chew. chew, chew," with its corollary, "eat only when you are hungry," composed the once widely boosted gospel of " letolarism." It will be well worth reviving when a shattered world has been sanely reorganized.

and by Mr. Hoover and by the Allied representatives now in Paris, who have a far better understanding of the situation than Senator Borah and Senator

The Bolshevists under Trotsky and Lenine may stagger along for a time in Russia, because Russia is like no other country in the world. But Bolshevism is the doctrine on which it is founded. This is the doctrine which refuses to recoga common level. They deny the right of any citizen to live in his own way or to enjoy the happiness or the independence that he may earn by unusual talent or unusual industry. It is a philosophy for is the philosophy in which Mr. Borah and Mr. Kenyon profess to see a menace to

The progressive legislation suggested by the two Senators "to keep Bolshevism down" was described as solemnly as if the Senate were, for the moment, a center of witchcraft. And yet schemes for averting the economic losses of seasonal employment, for the peaceful settlement of strikes and the like, are not new. Enlightened men everywhere in America long ago perceived the need for improvements in the general scheme of industry. It is not creditable to either

Borah or Kenyon that they were, by their own confession, frightened into a recognition of principles long ago recog-

Yanks to France are to be given

Visit England an opportunity to visit

British Isles before their return to this coun-ry. Descendants of those who came over in the Mayflower and later boats will have an opportunity to see the old home town. Best stations, we are told, have been established at Stratford-on-Avon, Royal Learnington Spa-and Edinburgh, "as many of the men are expected to visit those blaces." But what about the Livernool ducks? Artemus Ward, fact that the untives mentioned the docks to im "at least once." And they have grown

The fact that appeals have been filed

The Pessimistic Pun says 50 per cent of he girls he sees on Chestnut street at the all right: A Munich lifer for the gentleman, renyous attempt to close a stable door after the horse has gone. Which is not criticism but commendation, for the closing of the stable door is a safeguard for the horses

America is above all other nations a worlddeliverer and a world-guide, at least we must concede that such a belief is conducive to the many fired toto a parade of children, folling two of them. Just to remind themselves of heren fieds were formed to evacuate a Mother Goose brought up to date: "Baa-victiming having been spanked and sent

The Smats a home for a League of Na-

With the carpet and regmaning inquiry

An epidemiologist and diagnostician has

There is no limit to the size of nerial cace fleets of which the correspondents are ireaming theluding passenger and freight t a standard for lack of wool, the owners of sixty mills in Philadelphia must feel fille six tions shows appreciation of the fact that in a peace pariet there must be give as well appetiess to bed, a motherly Peace Conference will now consider giving him his break-t after he has worked for it hasn't been commandeered by the Govern the dear old days in Belgium, doubtless, noon hour are hand-painted pictures.

lows that we have not yet heard the last Liversool, fifty years ago, mentioned the American soldiers in points of interest in the nized as perfectly valid.

somewhat in fifty years.

roak from Frog Hollow.

the peace of the United States.

Kenyon.

But at present much of Europe is tragically unable to follow his advice. A "Fletcherist" with no food at all is a bitter momaly. It is to the credit of the dietetic philosopher that he devoted himelf so efficiently in the abnormal war times to work which gave almost a touch of irony to his slogans, for it so happened that the world's peril was not food, as he once implied, but its pitiful absence.

KENYON AND BORAH ON BOLSHEVISM IN AMERICA

Delusions That Haunt Washington and the Truth About a Matter That Congress Doesn't Seem to Understand

IUCH that is wild and much that is silly is being said and written of Bolshevism. Nowhere has ignorance of the true origin and significance of the Russian tumult been more evident than in Congress. Yet the country was altogether unprepared for the spectacle presented by Senator Borah and Senator Kenyon when they broke into print vesterday to babble tremulous warnings of "the menace of Bolshevism in America." .

Do the Senators read? Do they know othing of the life of Europe that would enable them to sense their own absurdity and the tragedy of the Russians? Are Mr. Kenyon and Mr. Borah victims of the superstition that falls sooner or later upon every man who refuses to recognize obvious truths? Or are we to have an All-Senators' Soviet for the Promulgation of New Campaign Issues?

Time will tell. Meanwhile, it must be admitted that nothing so far uttered in the United States could serve more effectually to becloud the real truth about Bolshevism or to give vain hope to scattered propagandists of the cult in America than the Borah-Kenyon statement of vesterday.

Even while Mr. Borah and Mr. Kenyou were speaking, the hard-driven Germans in Berlin and the people of the Argentine Republic were proving again what every rational-minded man should know-that wherever civilization has once been decently established, wherever people are able to read, wherever great injustice has not prevailed to help demented radicals to leadership, there can be no Bolshevism.

For Bolshevism is not a science. It testimony is indeed the most stimulating is ignorance and fear and misery and hunger and idleness. It is not a menace. It is one of the suddest things in human President on his English visit received a history because it is the inevitable result nemorandum on the subject from Mr. of centuries of misrule which at last Lloyd George, is reported as critical of its | shook the faith and the courage in emo-

The cult of Bolshevism always stops at the limits of the famine area. That fact alone is more eloquent than any commentary that one might make in a topic is the rightful province of the relation to the general question of eastern Europe. And even within the famine Argument used not militate against area left by the war, the tide of Boleventual adjustment. Of its failure to do | shevism is receding. Lenine himself so the record of the making of the Amer- has recently been trying to enlist the ican Constitution furnishes informitiz sympathy of the more conservative eleproof. From the time the Philadelphia ments in Russia since he found that he could not get along without them. Bolshevism reached its high point in Germany and there the wave of fanaticism crested and broke against the defensive prompt performance of any righteous tack

There was no time in all the recent disturbances when the new conservative government at Berlin, harnssed as it has been, could not have swept Liebknecht and his Bolshevists out of existence in ten hours. But the German conservaliminaries to that achievement and what tives, with a wiser conception of the browery in recent righting. But they fought the best thought in the world desires to be situation than is usual in this part of to the has spigot. And the Government performed in Paris are by the time time to be the world, maintained forbearance to the treops probably enjoyed rushing the Spartaable. General Smars is no adis narase last and in sheer pity refused to turn spinner, but an extremely hard-headed machine guns on the rioters. In Russia Bolshevism is an emotion. In Germany | ban, black sheep, have you any wool that it was a disorderly rior of the worst elements in the various cities led by half demented men.

Everywhere the habit of ordered thought is like a wall against the Trotsky cult. Hopelessness and illiteracy, the delusions that beset men who are half starved, and fear of a world that seems to be made up of cruel eneprice these are the essentials of active Bolshevian, and it is strange in these days of responsibility that Senators and Congressmen should have failed to realse what is so pitifully true.

It is still the fashion in Washington to think of Russia as if each of its 150,. 000,000 peasants were a Trotskyshrewd, malevolent, resourceful and heat upon overthrowing civilization. Mr. Lodge said recently that Russia was populated by anthropoid apes. This view has a romantic value, of course. But we might profit by looking

All the familiar methods of communication are broken down. Famine is just around the corner. And in this vast world of men and women and children penned off from civilization there is still talk of invading armies. Against such a background Bolshevism does not appear abnormal. And certainly it is not a condition that may be remedied with gunfire. It can be remedied with beyond Trotsky and his aides to the vast nes across all the oceans) and no likelihood nat the most imaginative of them will ever mass of suffering and uncertain Russia. neeve the wonder of the actuality. which wants nothing but an opportunity to live and work in peace. And we might When President Wilson makes his speakobtain a better notion of the dynamic og four on his return to the United States, forces behind the Bolshevist movement here will not be wanting political wiscacres f we should pause to realize that in eady to declare that the round trip is de-Russia and elsewhere in eastern and signed less for international enlightenment southern Europe about 100,000,000 women and children, blameless and un-Congressman Wood, of Indiana, recently fortunate victims of circumstances, are eferred to Herbert Hoover as "the most exfacing starvation. Russia's ports are ensive luxury ever fastened on this counblockaded. The whole economic sysry." Oh, well, when we think of Belgium. tem Is in chaos. In Germany and in we feel we are entitled to a little luxury eastern and southern Europe, most of the now and then. normal processes by which life is sup-The fact that the policemen convicted ported have ceased. Industry has ceased.

the State law has no terrors for Director In spite of the Berlin press agents, we annot believe there is any danger from Bolshevism in Germany. For though Bolshevism has kinks in its conscience and bloodclots on its brain, it also possesses a certain amount of idealism wholly foreign to Hun the means suggested by the President I materialism.

CONGRESSMAN MOORE'S LETTER

Tongue-Twisters of the Merchant

Marine-Victor Berger and the Amenities

Washington, Jan. 15. TOO late now to make a change, perincompatible with reason. It denies all haps, but that list of names given to rights to those who do not agree with the ships at Hog Island and attributed to Mrs. Wilson's sentimental regard for her nize personal rights. The Bolshevists in Pocahontas ancestry would suffer revision if the jackies had anything to do with it. Russia aim to flatten all life out upon Think of a bright sailor lad on a day's leave trying to describe the sailing qualities of the good ship Sagaparae, or getting up any American enthusiasm over the Quistconck, or the Saccarappa, or the other unfamiliar and unpronounceable tongueweak men and weak minds. Rather than twisters intended to cerebrate our aborigirise, the Bolshevists, accustomed to nal ancestors. Why require a pronouncing roughing it close to the earth, want to guide-book for Hog Island shipping, when eliminate all that is strange to them and it would have been so easy to adopt familiar draw all life down to their level. This names like Woodrow, or Penrose, or Schwab, or Winston, or Colonel House, or

Mayor Smith, or Champ Clark, or Dave

Martin, or Hoover, or The Vares, or

Uncle Joe, o. Uncle Dave, or The Darby

Ram, or Tumulty, or a thousand and one other names that might have provoked the fighting spirit.

THE trial of Victor Berger, the Milwau-I kee Socialist, who was re-elected to Congress, recalls his service here, where, as he said in the Chicago court, he was cordially received by both Republican and Democratic leaders." Berger was regarded as a good fellow who did not talk too bruch and who, in the several speeches he did make, fairly and within proper bounds. defended the socialistic philosophy. Unlike his socialistic successor, Meyer London, or New York, who was defeated at the last election, Berger did not sit upon the Democratic side nor was he ever honored by being put in the chair, as London was on several occasions. Berger was the first Socialist to come to Congress, and as such was a momentary curiosity, but as in the case of all other celebrities, the novelty wore off. No man can long remain a hero or a freak where there are so Berger's virtue was his good humor. Some one saw him-a rank Socialist-getting his finger-nails manicured and twitted him about it. "Yes," he said, "! have also taken a bath." It is interesting to note that Berger was elected over William H. Stafford, a Republican and one of the most industrious members of the House, whose parents were Philadelphians and who himself was a graduate of the Philadelphia High School, The conviction of Berger may now result in some action to unseat him, although Congress thus far has shown no disposition to proceed in the matter.

. . .  $Y^{\rm OU}$  can never tell. Even Henry M. Flagler, the Standard Oil magnate, who specialized on railroad construction in Florida, could not tell. Flagler put the it that there is civil war in Munich. Oh. east coast of Florida from Jacksonville to I office of the Dearborn Independent. Key West on the map, made garden spots of St. Augustine, Daytona, Ormond, Palm Beach and Miami and established a "ferry" to Cuba. He blazed the way for E. T. Stotesbury, Philander C. Knox, Phipps, the steel man; Hanan, the shoe man; Deering, the Harvester Trust man; William Jennings Bryan, Richard Croker, of New York; Colonel Ned Murphy, of Philadelphia, and other fairly "well-to-dos" who resort to sea bathing in January when it suits their fancy. It was Flagler and his money that made it possible for Brother Collins, of Moorestown, N. J., to get the people down to help him heautify and develop his once waste acres on the shore side of Biscayne Bay. Flagler could Influ ence banks and railroads and bend them to his will, but he couldn't tell what was going to happen when his strong hand reinquished its hold upon the situation. Now it develops through the marriage of his widow to Doctor Bingham, of Kentucky, and her death thereafter, that probably the last thing the Florida pioneer would have dreamed of has happened. His vast estate, accumulated in New York and elsewhere, approximating \$100,000,000, is being settled in Louisville, and the inheritance taxes alone are reported to be sufficient to wipe out the entire debt of he Blue Grass State.

THE departure of Lieutenant Colonel George W. B. Hicks to "do things for Philadelphia" under the auspices of the Philadelphia Chamber of Commerce, which "loaned" him to the Government, takes away from the War Department a very efficient officer. It is not generally known at home that George Hicks, cite statisticlan and designer of the "comprehensive plan" which featured Mayor Reyburn's Administration, was in direct charge of all the cables between the War Department and General Pershing, and that under his care orders went forth to back up our een appointed adjutant meneral of New forces to the extent of $10,000,000,000 Secretary Daniels and Mayor Smith While on the Job here, the Colonel-he should hire him to determine just what alls started in as Major-was in his element as an organizer. He set up more than twenty departments to handle the mails the telegrams, the telephones, the cables and the transportation of supplies, and he goes back to Philadelphia with bigger ideas than ever about the things that should be done to properly develop the city. The Colonel's son, George W. Hicks, also entered the service, having been overseas as a sergeant. . . .

GEORGE WASHINGTON, whose activities as a Mason have made Alexandria, the home of his lodge, a Mecca for the brethren, is not the only Washington who attained distinction in the fraternity. There's Jim the printer, or, to be more accurate, James W. R. Washington, who, before the typesetting machines upset the calculations of the stick-holders, was one of the swiftest compositiors in the business. Jim is past master of Richmond Lodge, No. 230, of which he has been secretary for of compliming are to hold their jobs and years. Always something of a poet and draw their pay until the Supreme Court rator. Jim has now gone into the Manasses upon the case seems to indicate that onic history class with Julius Sachse; Judge Norris S. Barratt, John K. McCarhy, Judge George B. Orlady and the other iterary lights of the craft. His story of Richmond Lodge, which has found its way to the capital, is comparable in some re specis with the historical sketch of Kensington Lodge, No. 211, prepared for its 100th anniversary in 1886 by J. Fletcher Budd, an old-school Philadelphia lawyer.

THE CHAFFING DISH

an menteral para di kacamatan di Kabupatèn Kabupatèn Kabupatèn Kabupatèn Kabupatèn Kabupatèn Kabupatèn Kabupat Kabupatèn Kabupatèn

How Henry Does It

T WAS a bright busy morning in the Henry Ford in his editor's sanctum had scattered crumbs of bread on the windowsill for the birds and was deep in the omposition of his weekly humorous page. The managing editor wheeled his rubber tired desk up toward the stained glass window (representing Integrity triumphing over Sloth), adjusted his wind shield, gave one or two preliminary honks and started off on high gear to ascend the heavy grade of a leading article on the Peace Confer-

As he rounded a sharp curve into the third paragraph a proofreader approached with a worried face. In his hand he held the manuscript of an article for the next ie said The managing editor released his clutch and muffled his exhaust. "What is it?" he asked.

"Why, this stuff the Bess bought the ther day. Some one came in and sold him a bunch of epigrams. He passed them on to me; said they were the brightest, newest things he had read in a long time. That's just the kind of thing we need, he said-some of the homely truths that have never been uttered."

"Well, what's the matter with homely truths?" said the managing editor. "Truths are still true even if they're homely." "Look at 'em." said the proofreader.

The managing editor took the sheet. At the top, in Henry's hand, was written New Sparklers for Our Readers." Underneath were the following: A stitch in time sures plue.

Re sure you are right and then go ahead. Eternal vigilance is the price of liberty, Nothing succeeds like success. All is not gold that glitters. The love of money is the root of all cril Necessity knows no law. Can the Ethiopian change his skin? Kind hearts are more than coronets. There is a limit at which forbearance cases to be a virtue,

"This is terrible," said the managing ditor. "We can't print those. Do you mean to say the Boss bought them?" "Gave the author five hundred dollars or 'em."

"Well, look here," cried the editor in a panic, "run out and buy a copy of Bartett's Familiar Quotations' for the Boss. If this news gets around among the authors, we'll have him paying good money for the serial rights of the Book of Proverbs Hurry up, man, or we'll go barkrupt." Just then a musical chime sounded brough the office and the editor sprang to his feet. "There goes the bell," he said. "That means the Boss has finished another avticle. Ten minutes' recess for every body." The door of the sanctum opened and

Henry came out, his blue eyes shining with enthusiasm. In his hand was a roll of manuscript. "Ah," he cried on seeing the editor. " have discovered how to do it. Before writing my article I sat down and read the multiplication table. How splendid it is, and it's all true! It gives one such a grasp of essential facts, of underlying

Putting on Slippers

don't you think?"

Perhaps the pleasantest action known to man (by which we mean human beings) is house, city apartment or hall bedroom; a while principles. The great truths are so simple, or lodging house gas stove, what a mood of relaxation and content comes when working boots are taken off and the old pair of scuffed foot-easies put on! And we like to think what it must mean to the demobilized soldier, for there are no slip pers in the army.

"WHERE ARE ME FRIENDS?"

There must be some subtle connection between the brain and the feet, for how much better and happier is one's thinking when the slippers are on. Our Oriental friends, who wear slippers and sandals so much more than we do, perhaps do not appreciate them as much. Slippering i a high art; it is a luxury and a symbol of momentary truce with the world. Too much of it is enervating; and to wear slippers in the morning, unless one is ill savors of slovenly languor. Hence the impleasant associations of the innocent word slipshod. But after a hard day's work, to drop one's boots to the floor with a satisfying thump, get on the friendly meccasins of peace and pick up book or pipe or knitting is a testimony of innocence and a quiet mind. It would be hard to think of Hindenburg or Trotsky in slippers.

And by slippers, of course, we do not mean those absurd little neelless jimeracks the ladies call "mules." Heelless carpet slippers are just as bad. They having precariously by the big toe when you raise your foot above the floor. Probably they were the undoing of Achilles. We will have nothing to do with them!

On Small Talk

Sweet Physiis fair looks wond rous wise, Dark lustrous hair, bewitching eyes, All subtle charms are ners, but pray Don't heed what Phylly has to say!

For Phylis's awful when she talks. And then it is my poor muse balks, To wonder why all this should be, That she should gush such junk to me!

O Pace so rare! O Form divine! I would that magic art were mine. To put your chatter on the burn, O Elavisher! If you were dumb! QUINTUS H. FLACCUS.

The Fishermen

All the world comes to the fisherman sooner or later. People used to make fun of the placid, unwearied anglers on the banks of the Seine. Calmly they sat and ruminated. They never caught a fish, but what of it? Auplanes hurled bomts or Paris, Big Bertin rained death, the city shook with all the thunders of war. They fished on undisturbed. And now their pastience is rewarded. As they sit there with their bamboo poles they see Mr. Wilson Colonel House, Mr. Lansing, Foch, Cle menceau, Lloyd George, Barfour, orlando and all the rest of them coming and going to the Qual d'Orsay. They know them all by sight. Even Admiral for is it Real Admiral?) Grayson must be known to them, Perhaps the admiral may even join them on wet days when timeliangs heavy on his hands. And, who knows? If the Peace Conference should split even or some knotty point, perhaps they'll have to call in one of the sage fishers of the Seine to give the casting vote. Calm and sagaclous fishermen, we salute you! All things come to the angler who is patient and

SOCRATES. Having played mentor and philanthropist putting on slippers. Whether in farm- now shows a disposition to play politics for for so long, Uncle Sam, in Congress, at least, bides his time.

THE COLONEL

DEEP loving, well knowing His world and its blindness A heart overflowing With measureless kindness

> Undaunted in labor. (And Death was a trifle). As swift as a saber. Direct as a rifle

All Man in his doing, All Boy in his laughter. He fronted, unruing, The Now and Hereafter

As stanch as a cedar. A comrade, a brother-Oh, such was The Leader We loved as no other!

When weaker souls faltered His courage remade us. Whose tongue never paltered,

Who never betrayed us. His hand on your shoulder All honors exceeding. What breast but was bolder Because he was leading!

And still in our trouble. In peace or in wartime. His word shall redouble Our strength as aforetime.

When wrongs cry for fighting No odds shall appall us: To clean, honest fighting

Again he will call us. And cowboys or doughboys. ati U

We'll follow his drum, boys, Who never said "Go boys!" But always said "Come, boys!" Arthur Guiterman, New York Tributs

An Omission A poem printed on this page the other day, entitled "The Two World Wars," sheren wo lave been credited to its author, Mr. Ales son J. Edmunds, of this city. The name of page 1 author was inadvertently omitted. What Do You Know?

3. Who was tirant's Democratic opponent at a time of his first election to the president

5. What two popular actors, one an English the other an American, died this west 6. What is the significance of the word "in

1. What is a marabou? 8. What does the abbreviation N. B. siand for 9. Who said "Spare the rod and spall the chil"

10. What is the highest mountain in the section, Answers to Yesterday's Quiz A gold chevron on a soldier's right siers is dirates that the wearer was seed a

3. The Gulf of Bothnia is the northern of Thomas W. Gregory has unnounced his re-nation of the cubinet office of Augu-General of the United States. Plethern means unhealthy repirties

The contrivance (usually of rings a