British Agreed in 1917 to Recognize Dominions as Autonomous Nations

CITES WAR RESOLUTION

Divisions Will Also Have Part in Council of World League

By the Associated Press Paris, Jan. 22.—Sir Robert L. Borden, Premier of Canada has given to the Associated Press the following statement regarding the claims of Great Britain's self-governing dominions to a place in the league of nations as autonomous nations of the imperial commonwealth.

"In the imperial war council in 1917, I had the honor of moving in behalf of Canada a resolution, which was accepted by the United Kingdom and the other dominions and which provided for the readjustment of the constitutional relations of the component parts of the British Empire should be based on the full recognition of the autonomous nations of the imperial commonwealth.

"The principle thus established has been illustrated and carried into effect by the Peace Conference, in which the several dominions have distinctive representation as members of the world-wide British commonwealth, which in one sense, is that of a league of nations. The resolution of 1917, to which I have alluded, declared in emphatic terms the right of each dominion to an adequate voice in the foreign policy and foreign relations with which the proposed league of nations is intimately and vitally concerned.
