

CHARGES ITALY EXCEEDS AIMS

Serbian Minister, However, Believes Differences Can Be Adjusted

URGES FREE AND OPEN DISCUSSION OF QUESTIONS INVOLVED, AFTER PRESIDENT'S PLAN

Wireless to Evening Public Ledger. The Hague, Jan. 25.—Speaking to the Serbian minister, the EVENING PUBLIC LEDGER correspondent asked how the relations between Italy and Serbia were at the present moment and what settlement was hoped for from the Peace Conference.

"The relations between Serbia and Italy have always been excellent, but at the present moment we are confronted by serious difficulties concerning the demarcation of our frontiers, which we firmly believe can be settled, but when depend entirely on Italy. It is the duty of the Serbian government to enter into the negotiations in order to complete the international union; but we now see her coming out of her frame and attempting to appropriate countries inhabited by Serbs, Croats and Slovenes.

"The example of Dalmatian counts proves that Italy has not adopted President Wilson's ideas. It is a country where the national idea of the Serbs and Croats is absolutely established. Commencing west of Plume and extending along the Adriatic coast to Montenegro, it is a Serbo-Croat country. It has no pretensions to claims based on the fact that there is a majority of a few thousand Italians in the town. Plume, however, is only a port, behind the walls of which there is a Serbian garrison. To the south, to deprive the Serbo-Croats of this port would be to strangle their commerce.

"There are more Italians in New York than in Rome or Naples, but Italy would never dream of appropriating New York. As for Trent, Trieste and the regions of the Alps and Graivone, I consider that according to the ideas of President Wilson the situation should be well investigated and studied in the country itself, so that it would soon be appreciated that the Serbo-Croat and Slovene claims are based on the condition that a limitation of frontiers should be formed on the principle of nationalities.

"It would be unfortunate if Italy could not discard old ideas transmitted of the times when nations were dispersed like a flock of sheep. I think it would soon be appreciated that the Serbo-Croat and Slovene claims are based on the condition that a limitation of frontiers should be formed on the principle of nationalities.
