A SCRAP OF PAPER

By CUNNINGHAM

THERE are many incidents more or less of local note that happen among our gang. At present the topic between shots around the bachelor pool, or is it pocket billiard, table in the cigar store at the corner is the way Frank McGee discovered that Dick Cleary was married. That's the large noise in

OUR SELECT CIRCLE.

FRANK is the big boss of the cigar store and grabbed a lotta "flu" germs. In the meantime Dick Cleary, who strolls in every night to fan a little, decided to get married. Dick just got a license, dashed off to the church, and after a few days' honeymooning in Atlantic City returned

TO THE DAILY WORK.

OF COURSE the gang put the saddle on him and run him ragged for a couple o' days about what an awful sap he was for falling for the married stuff, and then it was forgotten. Dick came into the store every night as usual. Last week Frank McGee had recovered from the "flu" but no one ever thought to tell him that Dick was

A MARRIED GUY.

LAST night Frank an' Dick were chinnin' across the counter when Frank was handed a letter. He said "Jumpin' cats, it's from Hub McLoughlin an' he's in Paris. I didn't know he had sailed." Then he read the letter. Half way through he looked up, shook hands with Dick and said, "Congratulations, I hear

YOU'VE BEEN MARRIED.

IN THE letter Hub said he was walking down a street in that gay city of Paris and he picked up a scrap of the EVENING PUBLIC LEDGER and he saw that Dick Cleary had jumped the single traces because the scrap of paper contained the MARRIAGE LICENSES.
