Gurnee Munn and Frederick Drayton Among Those Who Have Returned From Overseas-Major Stevenson and Family to Live in San Domingo

ONE hears so many different rumors about the returning men it's no wonder we are slightly mixed. Most of us in our mind's eye have had the Gurnee Munns and Mr. Russell Levis. home from New York for a day or two. and as a matter of fact they are not here yet. In the first place, Gurnee, who had been overseas more than a year, landed at St. John's in Canada on Monday, and Marie Louise and her mother-in-law, Mrs. Charles A. Munn, went up there to meet him. They went from Canada to New York and the elder Mrs. Munn returned to Washington on Wednesday night. Mr. and Mrs. Munn are still in New York, but they will come over here the end of the week and go to Radnor.

What a relief it must be to these young wives to have their husbands back safe and sound after so long an absence. Mrs. urnee Munn was Marie Louise Wanar, you remember. She is very young though she has been married about three year. She has the darlingest little on, Gurnee, Jr., who is about two years

TOLD you the other day that the Church of the Good Shepherd at Roseont had decided to continue the all-day ceting for sewing and to serve luncheon as in Red Cross times. I was told at the me that this church auxiliary was taking he lead, but since then I have received a letter from Miss Emily Walton which tells ne that for many years the women of the Church of the Good Samaritan, in Paoli, have held all-day Thursday meetings for ewing, and that in the last year it was lecided to serve luncheon at the Red Cross sewings, and that this will be continued, All along the Main Line the workers of the auxiliaries are doing very good work,

AM really getting quite excited over the giving of "Ravished Armenia" at the Bellevue tomorrow evening and Saturday afternoon and evening. There's a terrific lemand for invitations, and it seems as if rmenia would surely be much richer for is party to be given for her. The women n the committee are working like Trojans, know, for I stopped in at the Believue esterday when the bids were going for the boxes, and they were going some.

70U know Evelyn Chew Stevenson and You know Every color staying with her small son have been staying with Mrs. Sam Chew. Evelyn's grandmother, at her home, 1716 Walnut street. Well, they left last week for San Domingo, where Major Stevenson is stationed. It's funny how domesticated a girl becomes after marriage, isn't it? The year Evelyn came out she was a regular will o' the wisp. No one would ever have thought that she would settle down to home and a baby. But she has, and there isn't a more de voted mother to be found among the girls of that year, many of whom have been married several years.

Evelyn is very good looking and is alrays so welf-dressed. They expect to reain in San Domingo for two years at east. Major Stevenson is in the regular ermy, you know, FRITZ DRAYTON is home. He arrived last week from France and has been in a hospital in New York. He was wounded in the leg, you know, and has to walk on crutches for a while; but it is only for a while, so you know that is good news, isn't it? Mrs. Drayton is living at the Wellington this winter. She rented her house in Harrison Row in the early part of the year. It's pretty lonely to live in that great big house when both sons are in the army, so the logical thing to do was to take an apartment.

The Brocks have apartments there, too, but Ella and Joe Du Barry have gone to Washington since Jee's return, for he has to be treated in the Walter Reed Hospital for his lameness.

ETHEL, though five years of age, has not been into town more than once or trice. She lives in a great big country place and she generally plays by herself, but recently Ethel followed Mother, into he kitchen when the nice washwoman ared accompanied by a small brown girl of the same age as Ethel. Little Mandy erest in Ethel, so Mother thought she rould allow Ethel to play with her. Just s she was leaving the kitchen, having told the little girls to go out of doors and play he happened to look back, and to her mazement saw Ethel approach "Mandy" and stealthily stick her tiny tongue out while she neatly licked the little brown heek. "Why, Ethel!" cried Mother. "What on arth made you do that?" "I thought maybe her was chocolate," id Ethel. NANCY WYNNE.

Defends Catholic Irishmen

To the Editor of the Evening Public Ledger: Sir-Contributors to the correspondence departments of our newspapers, who oppose granting to Ireland the right of self-deter-mination, base their objection, principally, on some imaginary injustices which the Catho-lies of that country, being about four-fifths of the population, would inflict on its non-Catholic inhabitants. To students of Irish history, this objection is either a mere subterfuge or a form of hallucination.

Dean Swift, though probably the first Sinn

einer, never expressed any particular love for Catholics, and was up to the day of his death their great popular idel, so much so. hat when he was supposed to be in danger of arrest because of his "Drapier's Letters," the Catholic people followed him and watched over him as fondly as they watched over

O'Connell a century later.

The writer is convinced that the Irish republic will have the freest and fairest goverament of all time; that every citizen of Ulster will be accorded the same freedom, the same opportunity, the same civil and religious liberty that will be accorded to the citizens of Munster, Leinster and Connaught; that if the non-Catholics join bands in the effort to establish and maintain that republic, the right of separate schools, and an equitable division of the school tax will be freely granted to them; that the Irish re-public, with a population 20 per cent Profestant, will have a Profestant President, long before the United States with a Cathol population of 29 per cent, will have a Catho-lic President. I will go even further and say that it is my firm conviction, since Catholics and Protestants become united or this determination to have an Irish republic that this 20 per cent of the population wif never have less than 25 per cent of the members of the Irish Parliament, thus greatly surpassing in point of religious tor-erance even our own great Republic, Catho-lies today not numbering 10 per cent of the members of the House and Senate at Wash. ington. I will go still further and say that a Catholic Menace in an Irish republic would not have two subscribers in all the land. Catholic Ireland, in its halycon days, in the days that preceded the invasions of the Danes and Normans, civilized, educated and Christianized the peoples of Europe, using only the weapons of peace and love in the execution of these noble purposes. Much has been made of Ireland resisting conscription; of her failure to submit to es oription by a foreign Power. She believ that by yielding to this demand of England, she would demolish her claim to national entity; would seemingly acquiesce in the binding of the shackles of empire on her future. The plain purpose on the part of England was to obscure from the minds of men the broken pledges, the betrayals, the dishonored words of British politicians. It was a brazer effort to place upon a people whose service to liberty has been immeasurable, the onus of refusing to come to freedom's defense in an hour of peril. It was a trap to enmesh the unwary. But, actuated by their love of liberty and by their gratitude to Heigium and France, the young men of Ireland volunteered—volunteered to an extent that gave Ireland a larger percentage of her man-power to the great war, through which will be inaugurated world democracy thereby terminating autocracy wherever it obtains, than even our own glorious United States itself. JOHN O'DEA.

"Hysteria"

To the Editor of the Evening Public Ledges

Sir—The last five years will go on record as a period of hysteria and monomania unequaled by anything in the page.

The first, "German Imperialism," has received its deathblow, Second, Billy Sunday's religious hysteria, or "Metry-gowed," as it is sentified to the property of the sentified of the property of the sentified in almost cound," as it is sometimes termed, is almost forgotten.

The next two cases of aggravated hyseria are woman suffrage and prohibition. Those who have read in the daily press the antics of the women suffragettes in Washington, D. C., in picketing the White House with banners in all kinds of inclement weather and their late capers, building bonires in tin cans on the public streets of that city, cannot help but realize that these persons are insane, for no sane person would be guilty of such acts. These poor, debuded creatures are more to be pitied than blamed, and in place of being sent to prison, should be committed to a sanitarium for the cure of nervous diseases, until such times as they recover their wits and become normal The fourth and last cuse of aggravated hysteria is prohibition—this overlaps all others—for it has affected all stages of

The Legislatures who have ratified the mendment fail to realize what it means. mendment fall to realize what it means. They have been carried away by this national lysterio. They lose sight of the fact that while they have ratified the amendment, they have antagonized at least 20,000,000 voters who are opposed to prohibition. The majority has ruled, but this fact does not pacify the minority by a big majority, and will be a big factor in the presidential elec-tion and in all future elections. It has been remarked that the Legislatures of the different States look for a decision from the Supreme Court, and as the saying is, "Let

George do it."

The liquor trades were unfortunate in having on the Agriculture Committee of Congress Prohibitionists of the most pronounced type, whose acts have, without doubt, been instru-mental in a great measure in the prohibi-tion movement. Under the guise of con-servation of food they camouflaged their real object, prohibition. At the same time, the representatives from two large wheatgrowing States were urging and nearly growing States were urging and hearly threatening the President to make the price of wheat $2.65 a bushel, when five years ago they were glad to get $1 a bushel. This was to enrich the wheat barons in their States, who have thousands of acres and can raise wheat from twenty-five cents to fifty cents a bushel less than the small farmer, who is more than satisfied with $2.20 wheat. It did not make any difference to the committee if the people of the United States had to pay $12 a barrel for flour. It was the wheat barons' interests that was to considered first to the exclusion of all others. Thank the Lord, none of the pres-ent members of the Committee on Agricul-ture will be there after March 4 if Congress calls a special session. Philadelphia, January 36. R. F. W.

"Three things are evident to one who is a student of international history. First, if iere is not a strong and permanent union of the nations in the interest of the higher welfare of all nations there cannot be a stable and lasting peace; second, if the government of the United States does not give its generous and hearty support to such a union of various it never will come into existence; third, if the work of such a league of nations is not broadly and permanently constructive it will be a failure even if it is organized."
