PAT MORAN WILL NOT JOIN THE BOLSHEVIKI, ALTHOUGH HE MAY BECOME LEADER OF THE REDS

SOUTHWORTH PLANS TO CAST LOT WITH UPLAND THIS YEAR

Brilliant Outfielder Returns Unsigned Contract to Pirates—Manager Miller Also Claims Frank Baker Will Be in Line—Delaware County League Booms

By ROBERT W. MAXWELL
Sports Editor Evening Public Ledger

FRANK MILLER, manager of the Upland club of the Delaware County League, is in again. Four years ago he startled the baseball world by signing Frank Baker to play third base, and last year stepped into the limelight with his Chester Shipbuilding team. Miller has a faculty of connecting with big league stars, and this year threatens to smash all existing records.

The Upland manager will have a ball club this year, and it will not be a bush league aggregation. He says he has some great players in line, including Frank Baker and Billy Southworth, the slugging outfielder of the Pittsburgh Pirates. The Baker affair still is open for argument, but the dope on Southworth is real news. It was not known until today that Billy intended to sever his big league connections.

Southworth was the big noise in the National League last year. Playing with the Pirates the last two months of the season, he compiled a healthy batting average, topping all of the others. He was a great help to Bezdek and really put the ball club in the running. He was expected to develop into a real star this year, but it looks as if some one put the parade out of step. Billy has returned his 1919 contract to the Pittsburgh club and is said to be ready to cast his lot with Upland.

"Southworth was working in Chester after the baseball season ended," said Miller, "and liked conditions very much. He is a wise young man and believes he should prepare for the future while his athletic ability holds. He wants a position all the year instead of six months, and intends to continue in the shipyard. The salary he receives there and the money for playing ball will net him a nice income. Billy is in Columbus, O., now, but intends to return to Chester in a short time. He wrote me yesterday that he had sent back his Pittsburgh contract, unsigned. That means he is thinking seriously of playing with Upland.

* * *

"I HAVE other major league players for my ball club, but none has jumped his contract. As soon as a man signs for the season I am through, for I do not believe in encouraging contract jumpers.

Upland Also Claims Jamieson, of Athletics

"JIMMY JAMIESON, the outfielder of the A's, also will be with Upland. Jimmy finds it more profitable working in the shipyard and playing baseball than going back to his old club. Claude Davidson will play first base and Cruthers second. Ray Ellam, of Pittsburgh, is slated for short stop and, despite reports to the contrary, Frank Baker will be on third base. The outfield will consist of Jamieson, Southworth and Jimmy Eschen. I have no pitchers or catchers, but will sign some good men in the near future.

"In regard to Frank Baker, I believe he will be with us this year. I have read the stories from New York, but it is my opinion that Frank is through as a big league ball player and no inducement can be offered which will make him return. He does not need the money, and anyway, he enjoys playing a couple of times a week in the Delaware County League. He will visit me next month and talk things over. I feel confident he will be with us."

The Delaware County League looms up as an important organization this year. With ball clubs like Upland and the Harlan team from Wilmington, some high-class ball should be played. Harlan will be admitted to the league at a meeting tonight. Manager Gallagher has promised to have a good team, consisting of Joe Jackson, Lefty Williams, of the White Sox; Bob Steele, of the Giants; Hemmingway, of the Phils; Lou Dressen, of Detroit, and Harry Lake, Otto Wagner, Walters, Billy Martin and Kopshaw, of the minor leagues.

There will be two other clubs in the circuit, but these have not yet been named. An effort will be made to get the champion Chester team back in the fold, but Frank Poth, the manager, is not ready to outline his plans. Poth did some remarkable work with his ball club in 1917, winning the title after the hardest kind of a fight. His thorough knowledge of the game, however, and his remarkable handling of his pitchers brought victory to Chester. He will be officially presented with the pennant at a banquet next month. If Poth returns to the league he will have a great ball club, for money is no object, and he will sign only high-class talent.

* * *

IT IS possible that a fourth club will be admitted locally. President J. Horton Weeks has been in communication with the officials, but no announcement will be made until the deal has been closed. Brill, Media and Trenton will not play this year, so it looks as if another cutoff-town club was being sought. Taking it all in all, the Delaware County shapes up as a classy league.

Private Hearing for Hal Chase Today

HAL CHASE will have an opportunity to tell his story to President Heydler, of the National League, at a private hearing in New York today. Hal has been accused of betting on ball games and trying to influence players on other clubs to do the same. Christy Mathewson, John McGraw and Pol Perritt are said to have made the accusation, and the showdown will come today. Chase has been protesting the unwarranted action given his dismissal from the Cincinnati club last summer and demanded an open hearing. This, however, was refused, for the good of the league or something like that.

The chances are that Chase will be cleared of the charges. Baseball cannot afford to get mixed up in a scandal at this time, and anyway, he is needed to play first base for the New York Giants. Mathewson is in France and will not appear, and it is doubtful if the charges will be pressed. However, Heydler will sift the affair to the bottom and announce his decision in a week or so.

Speaking of Cincinnati and Mathewson, it is amusing to note as if Christy would not be with the Reds this year. The club still is without a manager and something must be done in a very short time. Clarence Rowland, late of the White Sox, has applied for the job and intimates there has been some talk of handing it to Jack Hendricks, who resigned with the Cards—with a year's salary. Hendricks would be a good man for the place, for he knows a lot of baseball and although a pennant-winning was a club like Cincinnati. He never lacks nerve—and large on that.

* * *

IN THE meantime Garry Herrmann continues to defend the affairs of the club and at long intervals it has very encouraging information. Garry is an hard hoss. He is without a murmur and sure can be without a job on the commons.

Walsh Says Star Fighters Were Off Form

TOMMY WALSH, silent partner of Nate Lewis and lord high manager of Joe Burman and Pal Moore, has a good protest over the showing of the top-notch battlers this week. Tommy insists they are far from coming true to form, and his principal argument is the results of last Monday. He orated at a banquet at Leon Ballin's residence last night as follows:

"Can you beat it? Willie Jackson comes here and gets trimmed by Frankie Britt, who wasn't even considered, and Joe Burman loses a decision to Young Sharkey in Trenton. The Jackson affair was not such a surprise, but imagine a boxer who has the class and quality of Jackson being actually outpointed by a guy like Sharkey! I don't mind Burman was outpointed or lost the fight, but newspaper reports say he did, and I must withhold my own opinion. I do not say this because Tom is handling Burman, but he is too good a boy to be accused of losing to a second-rater. Wait until we meet Sharkey again!

"Then, look at the result of the bout in Boston! Battling Ortega, the classiest welterweight on the Pacific coast, goes up to Boston and loses the decision to McTigue. You don't know the Battler here, but take it from me, he is the best you ever saw. He beat Ted Lewis in California, and I can't see how he happened to lose last Monday. Guess the good ones had an off night, that's all.

"I know one thing, however, and that is, Pal Moore will not greet the dope Saturday night at the National when he meets Battling Leonard.

* * *

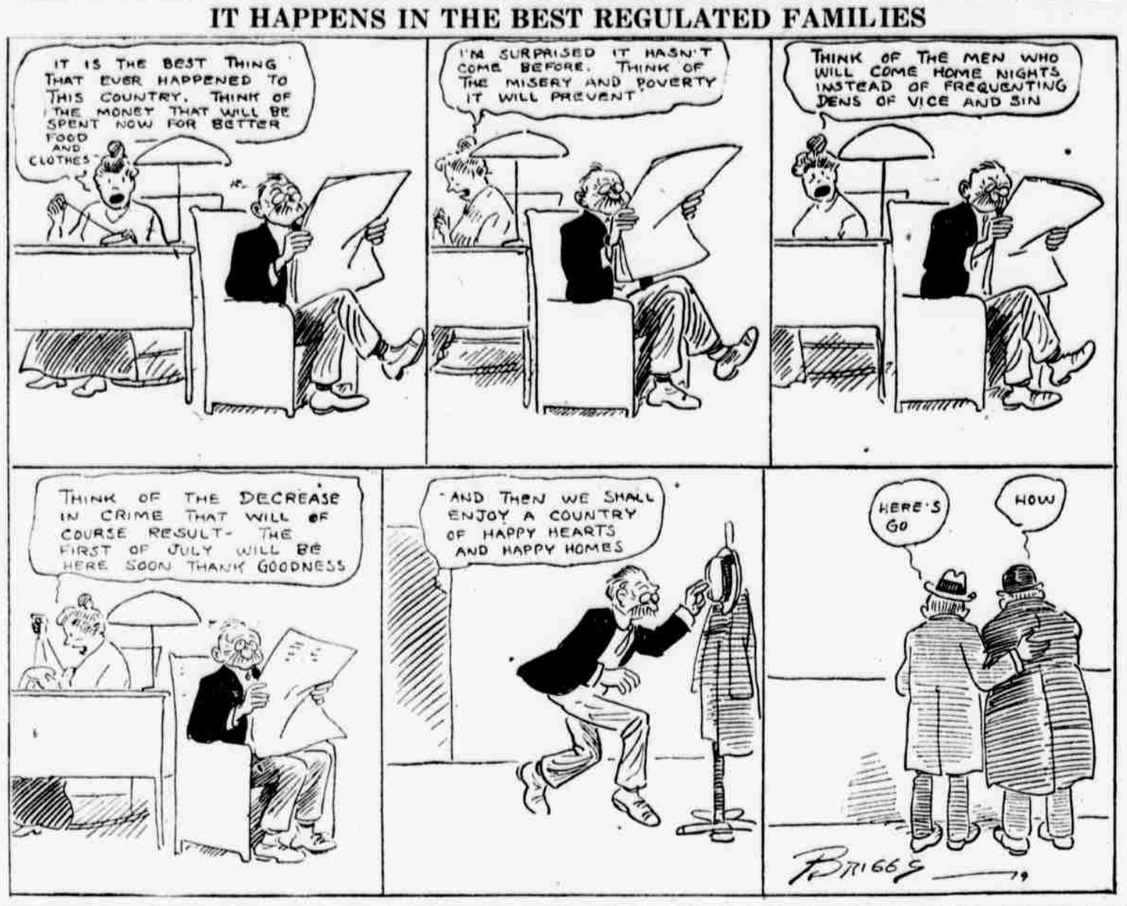
"PAL is ENTIRELY too good to have an off night and he will show some speed. If he is good enough to beat Jimmy Wilde, what chance has Battling Leonard got?"

Comiskey Plans to Tour South America

CHARLES A. COMISKEY, owner of the Chicago White Sox, is planning an invasion of South America with two teams of major league players next fall. According to the information received today the Chicago magnate is desirous of having Jawn McGraw and his Giants go along. The proposed trip would start soon after the close of the world's series next October.

"I wanted to go to South America not only last fall, but the year before," Comiskey said, "but war conditions prevented. These conditions now are eliminated, or will be by next fall. It looks now as if we can arrange it after [illegible]"

IT HAPPENS IN THE BEST REGULATED FAMILIES



WILBAR A GREAT 30-MINUTE TEAM

Bobby Winskill's Bunch Again Goes to Pieces in Last Ten Minutes

VICTRIX PULLS SURPRISE

Bobby Winskill, manager of the Wilbar basketball team of the American League, who has developed all the great players in America, more or less, now has a wonderful bunch under his wing. They have been able to keep up to the best in the business for thirty minutes. Bob says they will soon be able to go the full forty and win at that, but again last evening he fell flat in his promise and after running up a big lead with the great Midvale Steel five had only let the score of 25-19.

But while Wilbar lost they gave the spectators plenty of excitement for three-quarters of the game at least, and some of the stunts caged by the losers were about as sensational as were ever seen on the floors in this respect. Equally credited with several of the baskets that he caged in hard fancy he made a few of the most sudden and unexpected that the ring crowd went simply wild.

Get After Stars

All during the first half it appeared as though Wilbar might win and New York, Haggerty and McCarter were given tough treatment by the shooters, who had evidently come to see the big leaguers defeated. "Maybe they're not making managers out of 'em," yelled one rooter. Haggerty also blew on a few and these and added to the cheering with "go horse" was the salutation he generally received.

Everything went wrong for Wilbar and at one time they were trailing at 15-5. The half ended 16-12. McHale, the ex-two to hold goals, and Sc Kloss star at the end of the first twenty minutes. For the first eleven minutes of the final period there was little scoring and with the figures 20-15 something happened. In three minutes Haggerty had scored four times and Kerr once, and quick as a flash all interest left the game. The final count was 30-19.

Victrix Springs Surprise

The biggest surprise of the season occurred when the Victrix five basketball team of the Lehigh Valley League defeated the Wilbar aggregation three straight in the semi-finals of the championship of the league. The Falls five had made this team look like a set of rubes and in their mad efforts to get revenge for the defeat they had entered the game with the determination to win at any cost. The Victrix team, however, played a wonderful game and showed class that was unexpected. Their passing was perfect and their shooting was also of the best. Their defense was also strong and they held the Wilbar team to a few shots. Their victory was a popular one and they received the congratulations of their many friends.

English Boxers Easy for Americans, Says Pal Moore

Memphis Youth Convinced Wilde Would Be Mark After Watching Bout Against Joe Lynch

"DAFFY," SAID BRITON

By JAMES S. CAROLAN

PAL MOORE is a wonderful observer. The conqueror of Jimmy Wilde, who now is visiting this city, is a splendid judge of fighting talent, especially when one of the fighters in certain to be a future opponent. The most recent ring notable was innocently propelled into this office yesterday by the skillful maneuvering Tommy Walsh, self-acclaimed "world's greatest manager."

Pal was much impressed with the English style of boxing and the English code, but didn't hesitate to say they'd all be "suckers" for good American fighters. The crafty southern boy had heard much of Jimmy Wilde, but reputations count for nothing with this game son of scat once he has an opportunity to see the other fellow under fire.

When Wilde went on against Joe Lynch, the rangy New York battler, in one of the semi-final bouts, it required only one round for Moore to rate Wilde a Mark.

"Well, it be a mark for me," Billy him at any time," smiled Pal as he watched the British hero in action.

The day before Moore engaged Wilde, a delegation of Englishmen went around to Pal's training quarters to get a line on Wilde's opponent in the final. After watching the little, active Moore dance all over the gymnasium one of the sons of Britain present whispered to a friend:

"It's daffy, I say, it's daffy."

"I look to me I say it looks it," murmured the other.

Of course these stage whispers were audible to the inquisitive ear of the hard-working Pal. He glanced at his critics and scowled this reply:

"I'll show you Englishmen more real fighting tomorrow than you ever saw in your life before. Just gaze on me."

After Pal, now Wilson Moore, disposed of Wilde, the followers of the English boy immediately began to howl that Jimmy never was any good in a short bout, but just wait until he is hooked up in a distance fray. These same rooters overlooked the fact that Pal, now Wilson Moore, is one of the best distance fighters in the game. Back in 1915 he fought three fifteen-round battles and one twenty-round engagement in one month. According to the effervescent Tommy Walsh, Moore has fought more long-distance battles than any other bantam in the game.

Five Bouts Listed

Five bouts have been arranged for what the loquacious Tommy calls Pal, now Wilson Moore's, American tour. The first will be against Young Hank McGovern, of Port Richmond, at Baltimore tomorrow night. Then follows a six-round fray with Battling Leonard at the National Saturday night.

On February 3, Pal, now Wilson Moore, faces Dick Leadman in Buffalo. One week later Pal, now Wilson Moore, entertains Earl Puryear in Peoria, Ill., and on February 17 the latest sensation battles Johnny Ritchie in Memphis.

The Quaker City fans will have their first chance to gaze upon Pal, now Wilson Moore, here Saturday night at the National.

BOXING STARS TO AID

Best Boys in East to Exhibit at McGuigan Benefit

The best boxing talent in the East will be seen in the big benefit show for the family of the late Jack McGuigan to be held at the National on Wednesday night, February 5. Many of the headliners now on the bills have signified their willingness to appear in the benefit for the game little fighter. Many of these already have asked for a chance to exhibit.

Frank Bode, chairman of the committee, and his co-workers are rapidly completing the show, which promises to be a most pretentious affair.

SCRAPS ABOUT SCRAPPERS

JOHNNY MURRAY, the fast New York lightweight who appeared in Philadelphia a few months ago, is scheduled to go to the post with Battling Ortega, the classy welterweight champion, at Boston Monday night, according to Fitz Herman. The battle will be at the National A. A. on February 17, and Manager Jack Hanlon yesterday closed the match with Frank (Doc) Higgins, Murray's manager.

Murray appeared here only six times before getting a match with Herman. His first appearance here was against Jimmy Murphy, which he knocked out in the second. Then followed engagements with Tony Ketchel, Harry Kidd, Brown, Wallace Nelson, Young Robinson, Frankie Conway and his last showing being against Clarke.

Benny Leonard.

Bath Joe Burman [illegible] for their coming six-round battle, which is to be staged in the Eagles' home at the corner of Broad and Moyamensing avenue, next Monday night. Burman recently stopped Frankie Conway in six rounds.

The preliminaries will be made up among the following boys: Al Shubert vs. Joe Leonard; Joe Dorsey vs. Young McGovern; Max Williamson vs. Jack Dale and Joe Mandell vs. Bobby Burns.

Matchmaker Jack Hanlon, of the National A. A., has booked a double wind-up for February 8, being Memphis Wilde, who recently knocked out Freddie Rose, will oppose Young Chandler and Johnny Dundee will face Tim Droney.

Tim Droney, of Lancaster, who is being handled by Jack Kennedy, is scheduled for the late Young Terry McGovern, will meet Johnny Nelson in the final bout of the Camera A. C. tomorrow night.

Joe Bowinkle and Joe Marks, Ralph Ernst and Ben Taylor, Jim Smith and George Ward and Tommy Dugan and Eddie Wood will make up the rest of the programme.

Joe Welsh and Jimmy McCabe will be the contestants in the semi-finals to the Leonard-Moore battle at the National. Huckie Hutchinson faces Battling Mack in the main preliminary. Two other good bouts are on the program.

Gibson Says Benjamin Would Defeat Tendler

Billy Gibson is thoroughly impressed with the class of Joe Benjamin, the California lightweight who meets Benny Leonard in one of the champion's exhibitions on the coast, in fact, Gibson thinks so much of Benjamin that he says the end of Lew Tendler.

"I'm taking on the toughest kid on the coast in this Joe Benjamin," Gibson was quoted, "and I'd take on two more if Jim Coffroth had them. I wish this Benjamin would go east for me. I'll bet $2500 that he can lick Lew Tendler and then I'll double me bet that he knocks out the next toughest lightweight they can find."

Schaefer won the afternoon game by the score of 300 to 215, but was far from his best in the evening and missed a number of easy shots.

The total score for the afternoon and evening games was: Cochran, 600; Schaefer, 471. Cochran made a high run of 69 in the evening game, and his average was 25 2-11. Schaefer only averaged 15 6-11.

REDS NOW AFTER MORAN AS PILOT

Garry Herrmann Offers Former Phil Chance to Manage Cincinnati

New York, Jan. 30.—Patrick Moran, former manager of the Phillies, will not coach the Giants after all. Instead "Pitchburg Pat" will tackle the tough assignment of attempting to be the Moses who can lead the Cincinnati Reds out of the jungle. Moran, from present indications, will be manager of the Cincinnati club by tonight.

Despite the fact that Moran signed a few weeks ago as coach and assistant manager of the Giants, McGraw, manager of the New York team, will throw no obstacle in his way if he can land the Cincinnati berth.

August Herrmann, president of the Cincinnati club, offered Moran the Cincinnati management if he could get away from New York. Pat came down from Pittsburg, Mass., today and informed McGraw of the Cincinnati offer. McGraw promptly agreed to cancel Pat's $5000 contract, if he can come to terms with Herrmann.

Moran was hired principally as a successor to McGraw. McGraw now is tied with Connie Mack, of the Athletics, in winning six major league pennants, something no manager ever had done before. It was McGraw's ambition to break this tie and be the first man to win seven pennants, and then take hold of the executive department of the team. For this reason Moran was hired at a figure of $5000, an unusual figure as a coach. Besides, McGraw was willing to sacrifice one man out of the condensed twenty-one limit just to carry Patrick. Pat was very happy after his talk with McGraw and boarded a train for Cincinnati. He will hold a conference on terms with Herrmann tomorrow morning.

Herrmann had been waiting to hear from Christopher Mathewson, his manager in 1916-17-18, for several weeks, but had been unable to get an answer.

SOCCER NEWS AND NOTES

Manager Martin Regan, of the Disston A. A., announces that in future any player not reporting for a scheduled game will be definitely suspended. The Disston team this season has had a hard struggle to get eleven players on the field.

When it comes to producing goals there is no better man than "Jimmy" Wilson, of the Merchant B. C. In his last few games he holds a record of sixteen placements.

Pusey & Jones will use one or more of its five new players that it recently signed up in its opening game of the second round on Saturday with the Yan Ship.

Jack Connelly will use Stevenson, the former halfback of the Chicago soccer eleven, in the game on Saturday with New York Shipbuilding.

It looks now that Manager George Bowe will trot out his new protege "Tommy" Garner on Saturday. With "Dick" Shoulding back also the Jerseyites should give the islanders a hard tussle.

"Matt" Barrett, who formerly sported the Merchant B shirt, will be in the "opera" line-up for the Germantown Boys' Club on Saturday.

By crossing over and beginning the second half immediately both the big cup matches were over in time to let every one arrive home in time for Xmas. This should be a lesson for the Allied Leaguers to get started and get restarted without so much lost motion.

Ness, of the New York Ship, is playing one of the best games of his career in the goal nets. Many seem to think Ness is on a par with Harry Pearce. They are entitled to think and when the two teams meet that will be time enough to decide.

Hemingsley, the center forward of Merchant A. is playing a great game. He has improved wonderfully, especially in avoiding so many off-side plays that he ran into early in the season.

Schedule Second Round Boys' Club Soccer

February 1—Germantown B. C. "Golds" vs. Germantown B. C. "Indians," at Germantown B. C.; B. C. "Blues," vs. Emmanuel, at Front street and Erie avenue; Lighthouse B. C. "Whites" vs. St. Nathaniel's, at Front street and Erie avenue.

PENN WIN PERSONAL TRIUMPH FOR DAVIS

Quaker Captain Blanks Wolfe, State High-Scoring Star—Bezdek's Quintet Falls Early, 34-13

21 FOULS FOR SWEENEY

By EDWIN J. POLLOCK

"NOW, listen, Lardie, I want you to watch this fellow Wolfe. They say he's a knockout." Penn's basketball coach was parceling out a bit of advice to Lardie Davis, the Quaker captain, prior to the game with State in Weightman Hall last night.

"Yeh, he must be good. Saw where he got eighteen field goals against Susquehanna," replied Lardie wath as much nonchalance as a man ordering ham and —— Davis was no more interested in Wolfe than he was in his Muhlenberg rival in the last home game.

"Susquehanna may not be much," the Red and Blue coach argued, "but any young man who can score eighteen field goals in one game is good, believe me. Now I want you to stick to him. Don't let him break out, or I'll break out in a rash."

Hard to Shake

Lardie possesses excellent hearing and is of an obedient temperament. He stuck to Mr. Wolfe like flypaper, and whenever the State center man tried to get away he got all tangled in a mass of arms and legs. Lardie was as easy to shake as a broken ankle.

In previous games Wolfe was the big noise of the State attack, but last night he was a mute. He was shut out of the scoring and outplayed from the first tap.

Davis's playing took the drive out of the Bezdek's quintet, and after the first five minutes Penn outclassed the up-State aggregation and won pulled up, 34-13.

Side Attraction

The game started like the Syracuse battle of last year and ended like a gafoo with Starr Garden. State has one of the best five-minute teams in collegiate ranks, but after that limit the best stuff is all off. After the first five minutes elapsed the only thing interesting was the tiff between Davis and Wolfe.

Neither one of the center men scored, but Davis was a big factor in the Quaker team play. He got the tap on Wolfe from the first whistle and this gave Penn a great advantage, for invariably Sweeney or Stannard would get the ball after the jump.

Coach Bezdek has his team passing in great shape, but the Blue and White players need must spend a number of minutes on study with the rule book. The only thing they led Penn in was fouls. Thirty times the officials called fouls on State, and with a man like Mike Sweeney doing the shooting the practice is serious.

Mike Sweeney Stars

Sweeney scarcely ever had a better night on the foul line than he did against Bezdek's quintet. He toed the line twenty-seven times and added 21 points to the Quakers' total. Besides caging the 21 fouls, Sweeney played a great floor game and netted a pair of field goals. In all he was responsible for 25 of the 34 Penn points.

Danny McNichol was the only other Penn man to score twice. Stannard and Peck each contributed one goal and Mouradian added a point on a foul toss after Sweeney was taken out near the end of the engagement.

State had twenty-one chances to score from the 15-foot line, but cashed on only nine. Ritts shot five out of eleven, Mullen got four out of eight and Killinger and Friedman each missed one. Killinger was State's best floor man, and he gave the Quakers a scare in the first half, when he came through with two baskets.

Matty Next Manager of New York Giants?

Hugo Bezdek, manager of the Pirates and coach of the Penn State basketball and other athletic teams, when told at Penn last night that Pat Moran would manage the Reds, said: "It does not surprise me in the least, and I really believe that Christy Mathewson will be the next manager of the Giants. I look for McGraw to name his former star pitcher as leader of the New York club as soon as Matty returns from abroad."
