

NEW SPARTACAN REVOLT PLANNED

Reds Expected to Attempt Seizure of German Government on Thursday

TO OPPOSE ASSEMBLY Berlin Guard Strengthened to Combat Uprising—Artillery Sent to Weimar

Zerfel, Feb. 4.—The Spartacans will make another attempt Thursday to seize the German Government, according to the Vorwarts.

Their leaders, the newspaper said, have gone to Wilhelmshaven, Brunswick and other communist centers to bring back partisans to reinforce the Spartacans in Berlin.

The grand duke related how, with his family and the Dowager Empress and Grand Duke Nicholas Nicholasvitch, the former Russian commander-in-chief, he has been kept in prison in a house in the Crimea.

Vienna, Feb. 4.—During a manifestation here Saturday in honor of the union of German-Austria to Germany, Otto Bauer, the Foreign Minister, said the German Government had invited German-Austria to send a plenipotentiary to a new commission being formed in Germany to replace the old Federal Council.

Opposition Piled Up

Both expeditions penetrated 200 miles or more, encountering ever-increasing opposition, and both finally were compelled to dig in for the winter when still several hundred miles from their objectives.

Meanwhile, the rescue of the Czechs from the south and the armistice left the expeditions utterly without military purpose, but decided in a dangerous position.

The most recent advice is that both units have been forced to fall back under the attack of superior numbers of the enemy's armies, which are reported to be increasing in strength constantly and rapidly.

Hostage to Soviets

Anti-Reds Want Intervention

Undoubtedly, then, the Allies must intervene or withdraw in virtual defeat.

To withdraw—the anti-Bolshevik governments will urge here—will be for the Allies to desert them after having set them up. On the other hand, the counter-revolution they promised has failed utterly to materialize, even where the Allied expeditions have formed the military nucleus.

American official opinion here is that the Allied troops in Russia so far have been much more effective in stirring up reaction and violence by the Bolsheviks and aiding to their strength than in raising forces against them.

RUSSIAN GRAND DUKE WARNS OF GERMANY

Paris, Feb. 4.—(By A. P.)—The former Grand Duke Alexander Michaelovitch, brother-in-law of the former Russian Emperor, who has arrived in Paris, as he declares, "not for political purposes, but to make known the truth about Russia," says in an interview in the Matin that the Allies must beware of Germany.

The grand duke related how, with his family and the Dowager Empress and Grand Duke Nicholas Nicholasvitch, the former Russian commander-in-chief, he has been kept in prison in a house in the Crimea.

AWFUL SARTORIAL BLUNDER

The morning President Wilson left London photographers quickly discovered that he had his left trouser leg turned up, while the other remained in correct pose. It was regarded as the only Wilsonian "blunder" during his busy stay in England. His photograph taken with the King will record this "trousorial" blunder in the archives of the historical visit regard only for possible aggressors from States outside the league, or in revolt against it. It adds that the Associated States should impose upon the Central Powers, by peace treaty, limitations of armaments and the control of their manufacture, so as to permit members of the society of nations to reduce immediately and substantially their military establishments.

Hopes for Speedy Ratification

Some questions, however, do require immediate consideration, it seems generally agreed. These are subjects such as the assessment of the damages caused by the war, the responsibility for the war, the regulation of the use of international waterways and railways, the difficulties presented by the present state of chaos in the treaty relations between the nations as one result of the war, and treatment of the labor question by international accord.

Some of these problems would require

Hastens Peace Treaty

There is a growing feeling here that the treaty of peace should be speedily perfected, now that the principles of the society of nations and many of the details of its construction have been agreed upon.

Bourgeois Presents Plan

Leon Bourgeois, the French proponent of a league of nations, transmitted to the commission recommendations as to principles, which have been submitted to him by the Inter-Allied Association for the Promotion of a League of Nations.

One of the recommendations urged the establishment of an international commission on education, with recommendations of a military nature. One of these would bind the associated States to prohibit the sales of arms and munitions now possessed, or which may be ultimately manufactured, to States outside the league, while another would prohibit the trade and manufacture of all arms and munitions of war by private establishments.

It also was recommended that the members of nations shall fix the number of men to be enrolled in the military and naval forces of each member, having ferings, the terrible tragedy of France, but it is a tragedy which could not be repeated. As the pattern of history has disclosed itself, it has disclosed the hearts of men drawing toward one another. Comradships have become vivid. The purpose of association has become evident.

Fulfilled America's Wish

"When the soldiers of America crossed the ocean, they did not bring with them merely their arms. They brought with them a very vivid conception of France. They landed upon the soil of France with unaccustomed pulses. They knew that they had come to do a thing which the heart of America had long wished to do.

"The nations of the world are about to consummate a brotherhood which will make it unnecessary in the future to maintain these crushing armaments which make the peoples suffer almost as much in peace as they suffered in war.

"So as we sit from day to day at the Quai d'Orsay, I think to myself as might, if we could gain an audience of the free peoples of the world, adopt the language of General Pershing and say, 'Friends, men, humble women, little children, we are here. We are here as your friends, as your champions, as your representatives. We have come to work out for you a world which is fit to live in and in which all countries can enjoy the heritage of liberty for which France and America and England and Italy have paid so dear.'

Walker-Gordon Just as it comes from the Cow Natural Milk Clean

An individual towel for every cow

In the production of milk the Walker-Gordon Laboratory Company takes unusual precautions to insure cleanliness and purity.

A veterinarian constantly watches the health of the cows. Each animal is washed before milking and kept standing till milked. The milker washes and dries his hands with a clean towel immediately before and after milking each cow. Barns are scrubbed daily.

You will like the fresh milk flavor of Walker-Gordon Milk.
