HEAR that the governors of the Pennsylvania Academy of the Fine Arts have extended invitations to all Army and Navy. Meers in town on Saturday for the private view of the 114th annual exhibition. There happen to be many interesting officers in town now, so we may expect quite a martial air to the exhibition, N'est ce pas? The patronesses for Saturday are Mrs. Jasper Yeates Brinton, Mrs. John W. Brock, Mrs. Herbert Lincoln Clark, Mrs. Oliver Eaton Cromwell, Mrs. John H. Gibbon, Mrs. Arthur H. Lea, Mrs. Trenchard Emlen Newbold, Mrs. Cornelius Stevenson and Miss Anna Katherine Stimson.

THERE'S to be another meeting of Mrs. Stewart Wurts's dancing class tonight in the Bellevue-Stratford. Several dinners will precede the meeting, but there will not be as many as during the holidays. Every one in the school set is excited over the next meeting, which will be February 21, and will be a costume affair. Being near Washington's Birthday, it was decided to have the class a fancy-dress one. I don't know why, because there's nothing historical to connect fancy costumes with the "Fathef of His Country"; but you immediately see yourself dressed up as Martha Washington or as Mistress Hamilton or some other of the great ladies of the land at the time of Washington when you hear February 22.

The boys who will have charge of the class tonight will be William Addicks, George Gibbs, John McArthur Harris, Jr., Lewis Grove, Joe Taylor, Matthew Baird, Jr., John Hilliard and Tom Nelson. Lewis Grove, Matthew Baird and John Hilliard will lead the cotillon. The Joseph Jeanes will give a dinner before the dance at their home in Villanova for their son Joe. Jr.

HATE to make the mistake of mentioning two such deadly rivals as Penn Charter School and Germantown Academy right in the same paragraph, and it's not cause I don't know better, but, you see, y a strange coincidence I happened to hear on the selfsame day about both senior dances. The Penn Charter dance is tonight and the G. A. dance is next Friday, which, as you may know, is Valentine's

. The Penn Charter dance is given by the Trident Senior Honor Society, which is an absolutely new school organization. It has taken the place of fraternities since they have been abolished at that school. Only the leaders of the senior class and the school are elected to it, so it's something of an honor to belong. The dance is to be held in the Bellevue, the Rose Garden for dancing (and the music's going to be good), the South Garden and Oak Room for supper and the Pergola for promenading. The ommittee includes Thomas Mikell, Rowand Nelson, Clinton Strong and E. Royer March, chairman. The patronesses are Mrs. Claude H. Bennett, Mrs. Samuel L. Clark, Mrs. Philip S. Collins, Mrs. Clarence B. Fow, Mrs. John H. Gibbon, Mrs. James C. Goddard, Mrs. George H. Gordon, Mrs. Richard M. Gummere, Mrs. Walter S. March, Mrs. William E. Mikell, Mrs. Horatio W. Nelson, Mrs. Frederick L. Smith, Mrs. Clinton A. Strong and Mrs. E. Newton

THE G. A. dance is to be held in the - Assembly Hall at the Academy on School House lane and Greene street, Germantown. It's to be a program dance, and as these dances are a tradition out there, like the worn-down step and the bulletholes in the belfry, it's sure to be a large party. The officers of the senior class who are arranging the affair are: President, David Beard; vice president, Francis Smyth; secretary, John C. Bogan, and treasurer, Henry C. L. Miller.

The patronesses will be Mrs. William P. Barba, Mrs. William K. Beard, Mrs. John C. Bogan, Mrs. Henry C. L. Miller, Mrs. Matthew Miller, Mrs. George D. Porter. Mrs. R. C. Remmey, Mrs. Henry G. Riter, Mrs. A. E. Shaw, Mrs. Clavin Smyth, Mrs. Hilson H. Whyte, Mrs. Samuel E. Osourn, Miss Nellie Kershaw and Miss Mary Irwin. No doubt there will be lots on G. A. boys at the dance tonight and lots of Penn Charter boys out in Germantown next week, because they really are pretty good friends when they aren't slamming some kind of a ball around some kind of field, or diamond, or cage, or court-or will have as their guests at the Bellevue-Stratford over the week-end, Major General George Barnett, commandant of the marines, and Mrs. Barnett, of Washington; Mrs. Reginald Vanderbilt, Jr., and Mrs. Angier Duke, of New York, daughter of Major and Mrs. Biddle. Instruction for any wounded or disabled veteran of the war will be provided at the expense of the government, according to announcement made today by Lieutenant C. J. C. Clark, organizer for the Federal Board of Vocational Education, During their course of study they will receive compensation.

The board, which maintains offices at 1000 The board, which maintains offices at 1000

The offer applies to soldiers, sailors, marines and women nurses. The board main-tains offices in fourteen cities from Maine to California, The local office functions through-out the States of Pennsylvania and Dela-

Lieutenant Clark, who formerly was assigned to intelligence duty in the infantry, said today the chief trouble was in locating the men. To this end Lieutenant Clark has had made several thousand motion-picture slides, which will be shown in every "movie" house throughout the two States.

SOCIAL REQUIREMENTS PINCH PENN STUDENTS

Frequent Pilgrimages to "Three-Ball" Establishments Betoken Ivy Ball's Approach

Sundry establishments of a well-known haracter are beginning to go great busi-ess in the vicinity of the University of Nearly every evening furtive undergraduates may be seen slipping as unestentaiously as possible into these places with mysteri-ous packages under their arms. Later they leave, but without the package. The three balls which hang out in front of such establishments move languidly in the night air. If they could speak it would spobably be to say. "Well the Ivy Ball is coming, I see!"

Yes, that's the occasion of all the activity in the vicinity of pawn-shops. The big ocial event of the cellege year means a lot a some of the upper classmen. Sometimes means as much as a watch or another article of jewelry; sometimes only some more or less important textbooks which would probably never be opened any way. This is the why and wherefore of the whole thing.

The Ivy Ball, held every year on the campus, means the original outlay of $5 for tickets alone. That in itself may cost some poor social aspirant one square meal day for a period of weeks. Then of course there is the taxi, "coming and going" be-cause naturally, it would never do for the lady to take a chance of solling her ball gown on a plebelan street car. A taxi fare to Frankford or Manayunk will likely mean several trips to the little shop with the three halls and the leaving there for a period of weeks a regular collection of family jewelry.

Flowers, checkroom tips and the like also bring a smile of pleasure to the face of the man behind the counter in the "little cs ablishment around the corner.

But, greatest worry of ail, is the dress suit, called by irreverent college men, "soup and fish." "Soup-and-fish" is absolutely ne-cessary at the Ivy Ball and the agony and terrible succession of hardships which cer-tain individuals go through, to be able to attend sartorially correct, would stun the verage layman.

a tradition that at one Ivy Ball in the not far distant past, one of the dancers suddenly dropped to the floor. Hsaty examination showed that he was suffering fro under-nourishment—or, to put it frankly, starvation—as a result of a rigid program of fasting to enable him to attend the ball in the proper costume.

Whether or not this story is true, the out Whether or not this story is true, the out-fitting of certain men in regard to evening dress brings riches into the pockets of the proprietors of the "little establishment around the corner."

The Ivy Bail this year will take place on Friday evening, February 28, in on Friday creams, rectainly on sale at Houston Club, the larger downtown hotels and fraternity bouses. The period of preparation is under way and the three balls over the entrance of the before-mentioned establishment are probably much amused at the recurrence of the yearly phenomenon.

Seek Dividends From Peace

To the Editor of the Evening Public Ledger Sir-You are of course thoroughly familiar with the organization of the council of defense system throughout the country. Under the council of national defense in Washington, consisting of the Secretaries of War, Navy, Interior, Agriculture, Commerce and Labor, and with Grosvenor B. Clarkson as director, there has been built up under the Governors of the forty-eight States a complete defense system now consisting in addition to the State organization of 4000 counties, of the State organization of 4000 counties, of 16,000 women's divisions and some 184,000 community and municipal units. This great field machinery has represented the people of the United States in Washington and has carried through to the smallest community the problems and theasures of the national government during the war.

In Washington the council of national defense has created such vital bodies as the war industries board, the aircraft production board, the commercial economy board, acting in a sense as a great administrative laboratory; and other similar governmental war agencies. The council of national defense has been content to build these agencies and turn over to them the specific problems which come within their jurisdiction.

It had not originally been the intention to continue the State council of defense system beyond the date of the signing of the armicontinue the State council of defense system beyond the date of the signing of the armistice. However, we find many problems that now require careful handling—problems in which the co-operation of the people throughout the United States is not only desirable, but absolutely necessary. There is the problem of Americanization, the problem of unemployment, the transference of the $37,000,000,000 of war risk insurance outstanding from a war to a peace basis; in short, it is no less imperative to meet the problems of readjustment than it was to prepare for war. For that reason Mr. Clarkson, director of the council, at the personal request of the the council, at the personal request of the Secretary of War, chairman of the council, has agreed to continue in office and has written the States suggesting that a special
