IACK DEMPSEY STAGES "COMEBACK" WHEN MANAGER KEARNS SENDS HIM A RAILROAD TICKET

DEMPSEY GIVEN $350 FOR BOUT LAST YEAR: NOW RECEIVES $27,500

Heavyweight Contender Had Rough Sledding Before His "Tryout" With Homer Smith in Racine-Amateur Boxers Begin Tournament at Olympia Tonight

By ROBERT W. MAXWELL

Sports Editor Evening Public Ledger WHEN William Harfmon Dempsey, known to the trade as "Jack," pauses and reflects over the happenings of one short year he will burst right out laughing, provided Jack ever pauses and reflects over anything. It surely is strange what a difference just a few months make in the career of a youthful gladiator. Today William Harrison Dempsey will spill some ink over an agreement to box Jess Willard, and when he fulfills his part of the contract Tex Rickard will hand him $27,500 cash money. When Dempsey thinks of that $27,500 he's just GOTTA laugh.

Just about a year ago Jack the Glant Killer and his manager, Jack Kearns, were bumping the bumps and counting their pennies out in Chicago. They filed themselves eastward, with nothing but a four-round reputation and a desire to show what they could do at a longer distance. Chicago was the first stop, and there they remained because their credit was not good on the railroads and it was too cold to ride on the outside, Dempsey had defeated Gunboat Smith and grabbed a decision from Carl Morris, but those battles did not place him in a class with the topnotchers. He still was a preliminary fighter and few would take him

A year ago the firm of Dempsey and Kearns had tough sledding. They wanted work, but the promoters could not see them. Finally, on one cold day, when the hotel bill was due and the future looked dismal and dreary, Kearns walked through three feet of snow to the office of a friend and ad mitted he had a world's champion starving on his hands. "He's a bear of a fighter," said Jack, "and can lick any heavyweight in the world, but how can I prove it? He isn't exting regularly, fight managers have given fim the go-by and it's too cold to hunt for a regular job. What am I

"If that guy is as good as you say he is," replied the friend, "I think I can help you. There's a show scheduled for Racine in a week or so and John Wagner is tooking for a wind-up. I'll see what can be done."

DEMPSEY was accepted and given a tryont against Homer Smith the big heavyweight, who has boxed considerably in Philadelphia. Homer is no slouch, but Dempsey knocked him stiff in one round and collected $250 for his trouble. Now, twelve months later, he receives $27,500 for a fight and cats as many meals as he wishes. a it any wonder he should pause, reflect and laugh?

Dempsey Was Rescued by Manager Jack Kearns

JACK arrived in New York this morning after a lengthy trip from Sait Lake City. There were rumors galore when his absence became known. and some of the scribes over in the big town binted that his REAL manager, Jack Curley, was throwing a wrench in the machinery or putting the ball in the wrong pocket or something like that. They dished out a swell yarn which was long on language but short on facts. Jack Curley has nothing to do with Dempsey, for Kearus has him signed to a copperriveted contract which cannot be broken with TNT. The big heavyweight stopped over a few days en route because he was III and, anyway,

Dempsey went West to attend to some trifling matter-a divorce from his wife-and when friend wife got through with him he found himself short of ready cash. He got as far as Kansas City, and from there went to Excelsior Springs, Mo., to wire Kearns that he was temporarily embarrassed and to ship him a bundle of coin to satisfy the railroad conductors. Kearns jumped into his Alice-blue racer, drew as much money as he could carry from the bank, sent it westward and Mr. Dempsey departed eastward. That's the real cause of the delay, and Tex Rickard probably knows by this time why the papers were not signed Saturday. Dempsey wasn't there.

But there IS a Carley mixed up in the affair a young person named Curley Fisher, who once was Dempsey's traveling companion. Jack invited Curley to make the trip, and the double expense knocked him flat before he reached the half-way station.

However, a little thing like lack of railroad fare would not have prevented Dempsey's trip East. He has ridden higher than an upper and lower than a lower berth, and he is not afraid to tackle it again. Jack rode the rods and hung on the roof of our best transcontinental freights when business was bed, and still is quite familiar with the system. It was Jack Kearns and the family bankroll that provided him with the present

Amateurs, Will Show at the Olympia Tonight

AMATEUR boxing bouts will be given a tryout at the Olympia tonight, when Tommy O'Malley, brother of Johnny Mealey and the National A. A. U. 135-pound champion, meets Frank Varona, of New York, in a three-round bout to a DECISION. Samuel J. Dallas, president of the National A. A. U., will have charge of the bouts and is working with Harry Edwards, who donated the use of his club and will present the winner with a trophy. These bouts will continue for five weeks, and if successful another class will have a chance to battle for the champlonship.

Mr. Edwards has started something that all other clubs should follow. He is giving the aspirants for honors in the boxing game a chance to show what they can do and appear before a large audience. Good boxers are scarce nowadays and it is necessary to develop new talent. If a few of the amateurs are good enough to step into professional ranks, they now will have a chance to prove it. Tonight's bout will be watched with interest and will be held before the semiwind-up. Lew Tendler and Harlem Eddie Kelley are in the star event.

Philadelphia fight fans are in a class by themselves. They are the wisest persons in the world, for they can spot a burn bout as quickly as any one and it is impossible to put over any phoney stuff. More than that, they are big-hearted, generous sports, for they donate liberally to every charity that is brought to their notice. They gave almost $7000 to Jack McGuigan and his family in the last year and responded liberally to the tobacco fund and boxing glove shows. But they want a run for their money, and that was shown at the National last Saturday night.

In the semiwind-up Jack Russo butted Oscar Gardner over the eve early in the first round and the bout was stopped. Jack Hanlon immediately arranged a substitute bout, but in the meantime the wind-up be-George Chaney and Pete Hartley was put on. In any other town most of the audience would have left after the wind-up, but not in this Every one kept his seat, waited until the substitute event was over and then left. Incidentally, they saw the best match of the evening when Russo defeated Joe Tiplitz.

PHILADELPHIANS attend a boxing show the same as they atand enjoy themselves from the start. The wind-up does not mean much to them. They want five bouts the same as they want five acts in the theatre.

Ex-Managers Fall Into Soft Jobs

EX-BIG-LEAGUE managers cannot kick about their luck this season. They have had all of the breaks and probably will discover that every and has a silver lining, or words to that effect. Frinstance, Patrick Joseph Moran was handed the tinware and shown the gate by the Phils, and ter signing with the Glants he was lifted to Cincinnati as manager. Pat ot the best of the deal, for he is in charge of a strong ball club.

Clarence Rowland also was canned from his job as manager of the thite Sox, and now is owner and manager of the Milwaukee club of the rican Association. Clarence and some of his pals raised $75,000 to put he deal through, and it looks like a good paying investment,

Jack Hendricks was banished from St. Loole after one year with the Gards and should be congratulated. First, he did not have to work in St. ole any longer; second, he received a year's salary in advance for work e did not do, and third, he was made manager of the Indianapolis club a good salary. Thus he gets paid twice for one year's work. Pretty of for the ex-managers.

DIE pleasant news drifted in from Mobile, Ala., yesterday, when it was announced that Bradley Hogg, the iron man of the Phillies, had his contract and would be with us this year. Bradley also announced had been handed a raise in salary, which is startling. Many of the vers have been boosted this year, despite the talk of a salary limit. ved a letter from Gavvy Cravath today, and the slugger says I again do the fleet-footed act in right field.

GOTHAM STARS

Scholastic swimming stars of New York and vicinity are planning to come over to this city next Saturday afternoon to make a wholesale clean-up in the annual University of Pennsylvania interscholastic swimming champion-ships, which will be held in Weightman Hall.

Brooklyn Polytechnic Prep. has entered virtually the same team which won the point trophy last year. Learning Jelliffe again will lead the team. He has been crawling the fifty yards close to 25 seconds and 100 in 58 seconds. Joe Burrill, runner-up in the century dash last year, also will represent Brooklyn Poly.

Eberhart Is Star

Another star sprinter scheduled to compete is Walter Eberhart, of Stuyvesant High School, a double winner at the city's P. S. A. L. championships, who has been pronounced by Herbert Vollmer, the New York A. C. world's recordist, the season's find in the metropolitan district. Eberhart thrashed 100 yards in 58 3-5 seconds a few days ago in the pool of St. Paul's School, Garden City.

With this formidable array of stars pitted against them, the West Philadelphia High mermen will have to show unexpected strength to win the team trophy. The Speedboys have not lost a meet this season and the local schoolboys are pulling for them to triumph next Saturday.
