JUST GOSSIP ABOUT PEOPLE

Nancy Wynne Tells of the Thomas Dolans Moving to Devon. She Speaks of the Hewson-Stokes Wedding-Rum-

DID you know that the Tom Dolans , Perry Powers are working like everything have leased the Howard Clark place at | to make it successful. Devon? Yes, for three years, and with the option of buying it after that. The Dolans have always lived in Torresdale since their marriage some twenty-five years ago. Mrs. Dolan was Miss Isabelle Hoffman, a cousin of Percy and Jack Fraser. One of her boys is named Hoffman Dolan. In winter the Dolans live at 2107 Walnut street.

The Clark place is very beautiful. It is built on Colonial lines, long and low, finished in white, and has a green roof. It is on Valley Forge road and stands out against the hills of the surrounding country. It is just across the road from Clovelly, the William Baker Whelen place, and up the road from Llanyan, the old Lloyd homestead, while below is the historic old St. Davids church, which, as you know, is filled with Revolutionary relics.

Since Mr. Clark's death, two years ago, Mrs. Clark has found the house too big. Amy and Clarence H., 3d, her two children, are both married now, and so you see it was pretty lonely. Amy, who married Jack Hollingsworth, lived in West Philadelphia at the Clark property, 4200 Spruce street. The old Clark property, which extends from Locust to Spruce and from Forty-second to Forty-third, was bought up some time ago

Jack Hollingsworth has been abroad in the army and during that time his wife has been living with Mrs. Clark at the Touraine in town. Mrs. Clarence Clark, 3d, has apartments there, too. Jack Hollingsworth is back now, but Clarence is still on the other side.

HAVE you heard about the dance that the enlisted personnel of the supply department of the Philadelphia Navy Yard is oing to give at the Bellevue on Thursday, Bebruary 20? It's to be in the ballroom and the Clover Room, and I believe the proceeds are to be given to the Pennsylvania Auxiliary of the Navy Relief Society. Mrs. Daniels, wife of the Secretary of the Navy, has been invited, and Mrs. Dewey also. Mrs. Dewey has not been well and she hasn't accepted for sure as yet, but she has sent word that if she feels all right next week she'll be on hand. There are to be novelty dances, with favors, which sounds awfully attractive.

Among those who have taken boxes are Rear Admiral Helm, Rear Admiral Hughes, Rear Admiral Hall, Captain Martin, Brigadier General Bradford, Captain Cooper, Captain Carr, Captain Anderson, Captain Baxter, Captain Heap, Lieutenant Commander Johnston and Commodore Griffin. The vavy yard orchestra is to provide the music, and i, you've ever danced to that ou know that it's some music.

DID you know that Nancy Stokes and Dr. William Hewson are going to be mar ed at noon on Saturday, March 1? Timt is the Saturday before Lent, for Lent, you know, starts on March 5 this season. The marriage is to take place in Moorestown, where the Stokes live, and will be in Trinity Church there. Nancy will have four bridesmaids and two matrons of honor, and Doctor Hewson will have his brother for best man and six ushers. Nancy is awfully attractive. She came out about five years ago, and, though she lives in Moorestown, has gone to everything socially here, as it's not far from the city. I expect it will be a very pretty wedding. The matrons of honor are to be Mrs. Johns Hopkins and Mrs. Fred Ballard, and the bridesmalds will be Nancy Reath, Eleanor Deans, Helen Doughten and Mary Boyd.

EVERY day you hear of another rummage sale, don't you? And in the hearg of special ones sometimes you forget the continuous one that goes on up at the Emergency Aid shop all the time. The only variety in the going on is that a different committee runs it each week, and I really think the women in charge vie with one another to sec who can beat who. I stopped in yesterday, and do you know they actually had brand-new dresses from some of the Walnut street dressmakers? Why, I pretty nearly had a fit. I could not begin to tell you all they had. It's remarkable what you do get at rummage sales sometimes. Very often, I grant you, it's just stuff for dealers; but as yesterday, really all you need to have is nerve, and you could buy yourself a frock that had been worn only once and wear it to any party and look "great" in it. Because there were several dance frocks given by people who have gone into mourning and by a girl who has married lately and gotten all new things; and so didn't she, or rather her .nother, give all her evening dresses!

Sometimes you get giving so that you give something you don't want to, don't you? I heard a killing tale about a rummage. Every one in the house was interested in a sale, and one member of the household began to collect everything and send it off to the sale.

The following week the father of the family was getting dressed to go to a party with mother. He was all dressed up, look ing as fine as a fiddle, and downstairs he went and dove into the closet. Well, he dove and dived and dived, but somehow the coat he wanted did not appear. Then the family took up the search, and nowhere was his black overcoat to be found. Finally the member of the family who had been collecting things for the rummage felt a sudden horrible overturning of her heart. and she said faintly, "I sent two of your old frock coats to the rummage last week,"

"Two frock coats nothing!" replied the head of the house. "I only had one; you must have sent the new overcoat I had made for evening clothes." And it turned out she had, and when the wife called up to ask if an overcoat had been among the things sent from their house the woman on the board declared, in enraptured accents: Oh, yes, my dear, and it sold right away. Why, it had scarcely a mark. We got-But mother was too faint to ask what they got for it. The wee bir,i. however, told me later that she heard that the handovercoat had gone for $4. So you there are often real bargains to Major Robert L. Denig, U. S. M. C., of 2131 Porter street, who was awarded the Distinguished Service Cross, has been recommended for the Croix de Guerre. The exploit was the storming of Mont Bianc Ridge, which the major admits was "some scrap." Major Denig claims the honor of being the first Philadelphian in the marine corps to get into the war,

James got within two months of his diploma when he enlisted in the army. He had left school a year before to fight on the Mexican border, and when the call came for men to go to France he forgot about his diploma, enlisted and for six months fought for Uncle Sam. He wants to go to college and needs the diploma to enter.

When members of the board were told yesterday that he was short of two graduation requirements, and had failed in com-ation requirements and had failed in com-mercial work they shook their heads. But when somebody mentioned the results of his war course the result was electrical. Every member sat up prepared to face the who would dissent. Nobody did.

EMERGENCY AID CLUB HAVEN FOR DOUGHBOYS

Paris Recreation Center Sponsored by Rodman Wanamaker Popular With U. S. Soldiers

Women of the overseas committee of the Emergency Aid heard their director, the Rev. Frederick W. Beekman, former rough rider and rector of the American Church of the Holy Trinity, in Paris, recite the achievements of their club in the course of his report to the committee. He spoke at the Ritz-Carlton yesterday.

"Theodore Roosevelt, Rodman Wanamaker and the 'ice cream ladies' of the Emergency Ald of Pennsylvania are the idols of the American doughboy on leave in Paris," he said, "Formed under the encouragement of Colonel Roosevelt and sponsored by Mr. Wanamaker, the Soldiers and Sailors' Rest Club of the Emergency Aid has grown to be the largest recreation center for troops in Paris, and is the only club which General Parshing has ever visited. He has attended at meetings of the club three times.

"The red banner of the Emergency Aid of Pennsylvania is the best-known anot for doughboys in Paris," he said. "Only eighteen months from the day we sailed to France have passed, and yet we have the reputation of being the best-orkenized and most efficient or being the best-organized and most emclent organization in America. The Emergency Aid of Pennsylvania is accredited abroad as being the most beloved of the war-work organizations with Paris branches." of being the best-organized and Dean Beekman, who was formerly of Beth-Ichem, prefaced his report on the activities of the "S. and S.," as the doughboys termed the club, with praise for the American soldier. "The American army is the freest from drunkenness of all the armies in the field. I saw personally hundreds of thousands of men at all hours of the day and night, and, all told. I never saw more than three men who were under the influence of liquor. The Amer-ican is the greatest fighter, the most intellgent soldier and the most responsive to the finer impulses of all the Allies. He is profane in his soldier-like manner, without meaning to be irreligious, but he is essentially clean." Dean Beekman told the Emergency Aid how the idea of having a recreation center for American troops had originated with Mr. Wanamaker and how the project had been referred to Colonel Roosevelt for deosevelt told me to go over and take a chance, that the army rules on the other side might be less strict than they were here," Dean Beekman reported. "Go see here," Dean Beekman reported. "Go see General Pershing and say that I asked you to go, and see, then, if anything can be done, were the parting words that the greatest American since Lincoln told me. "When I did see Pershing and told him about the plan, it took the general only five minutes to give me permission to establish minutes to give me permission to establish

News About the Leading Films of the Day and the Players in Them

Barbara Tennant, who established berself n the favor of the English theatregoers through her clever pantomine work and later in Shakespearian repertoire, has been lured before the camera. While in California she received an offer to play with Grace Darmond in the big special production, "What Every Woman Wants," being produced by Jesse D. Hampton, in Hollywood. She accepted it.

"Wedding rings are not very popular in the South Sea Islands. Martin Johnson, in fliming his remarkable picture series, "Cannibals of the South Seas," for the Exhibitors' Mutual, found most of the "Marys," as the native females are known, minus the two central front teeth of the upper jaw. The daring explorer learned this aperture was caused by a mighty smash from the cannibal-husbands' right fist, which is merely a method followed by civilized but rough husbands in informing their wives they still love

A short time ago, a partner of one of the leading firms of play brokers stated that "The Lion and the Mouse," according to his estimate, had outlasted something like 200 plays which have had their opening on Broadway and which have been considered highly successful. He stated further that stock company managers in the hig majority of cases preferred to rebook and replay "The it more than once in past seasons in prefer ence to some releases of big productions that had been made within the last three years. Ireland and Bunting

To the Editor of the Evening Public Ledger. Sir-The war and its consequences have resulted in other consequences, and it is in the hope of remedying the latter that I write to you, imploring your help and that of your readers. The proclamation of the Sinn Feiners, declaring Ireland a republic, has occasioned a terrible scarcity of orange flag material. It seems there never was a great surplus of such material and the action of the Irish in declaring "the Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland at an end" found this country absolutely unprepared and unable to cope with the flood of orders for flags that

The greatest convention of the Irish people ever held in America is to be held in Philadelphia this month, and not a yard of real orange is to be had at any money. Emergency Aid Decides to Wait Until After Victory Liberty Loan

The week's campaign for $2,000,000 for he erection of a memorial to the Philadely men who gave their lives in the war has been postponed until the second week in May. This announcement was made today at the headquarters of the Emergency Ald, 1423 Walnut street, which is in charge of the campaign.

It has been thought better to wait until the conclusion of the coming government Victory Liberty Loan. There will be no cessation of activity, however, on the part of the women and the organizations who have the raising of the fund in charge.

The Victory Bail at the Academy of Music tomorrow night is the opening gun in the arousing of public interest in this undertaking to commemorate the high place Philadelphia has taken in the sacrifices which made the world safe from autocratic aggression.

In the May campaign many interesting features are already being planned, among which will be a beautiful pageant on the Parkway. On February 25 there will be a Ball Triumphant in the Bellevue-Stratford. Ball Triumphant in the Bellevue-Stratford.
