Nancy Wynne Tells About Miss Sophie Norris's Talk at Red Cross Meeting-Miss Latta and Mr. Armbruster to Have Joint Recital

T STOPPED in to hear Sophie Norris yesterday afternoon at the Independence Square Auxiliary of the Red Cross, and I found her most fascinating and interesting. She told of her experiences with the Red Cross and the "Y" in France, working at canteens and taking charge of them. She described the first American canteen at Chalons. Did you know that it was decorated by camouflage artists and sculptors who were stationed at Chalons making camouflage for guns and airplane hangars? The walls were done in blue stripes with conventional designs of golden fruit, and as Sophie described it it sounded awfully attractive.

I'd like to tell you all about her talk, because it was so real. She gave an amusing description of her first attempt at making cookies for the men in her own canteen, that is, the one she was in charge of. She said she had never made them before in her life and she had an awful time, and they were perfectly terrible when they were finished. But she put them on sale as American cookies, and the men bought them by the hundreds and cried for more. And the next time she had better luck. It gives you a rather awed and envious feeling to hear a girl like that telling about the terrors of air raids, the plight of refugees and the touching joy of American soldiers when they saw an American girl. Incidentally, you can't blame them for being glad to see Sophie, for she certainly is good-looking in that uniform with the light blue hat.

YOU know Elizabeth Latta and Robert Armbruster are going to have another joint recital this year. It's to be at the Ritz on Monday afternoon, and you never heard of so many patronesses. Those two young people do splendid work together and they have been wise enough to combine for these affairs. They made their debut the same year at one of Tony Biddle's concerts and quite brought down the house, and they have been pleasing every one ever since and are always asked to help the charities along. On Monday afternoon some of the women who are interested are Mrs. Standley Addicks, Mrs. Dob son Altemus, Mrs. Louis Benson, Miss Mary Buckley, Mrs. Billie Clothier, Miss Helen Coates, Mrs. Robert Downing, Mrs. Henry Grove, Mrs. Scammon-Jones, who, by the way, taught Elizabeth to sing; Mrs. Clifford Lewis and her daughter-in-law, Mrs. David Lewis; Mrs. William Platt Pepper, Mrs. G. E. Pescardi, Mrs. Sydney Emlen Hutchinson, Mrs. Frank T. Patter son, Mrs. Eli Kirk Price, Mrs. Horatio Gates Lloyd and I just can't begin to tell you all of those who are interested in the recital. Of course, Elizabeth will sing and Robert will play.

MONIGHT, you know, there's the Night in Bohemia and the Midnight Frolic at the Bellevue. That is the Pen and Pencil Club affair, you know, and it sounds as if it would be quite some affair. A number of prominent E. A.'s are to be there in the boxes, as well as Governor and Mrs. Sproul and Major General Mencher, of the Rainbow Division, and Mrs. Menoher.

TSN'T it interesting about Madeleine Dahlgren's engagement to Reginald Townsend? It was announced yesterday in New York. They are both in Paris working for the Red Cross, you know, but they cabled the news to Mrs. Dahlgren and asked her to announce it. The engagement is specially interesting here, for Mrs. Dahlgres was a Drexel and is a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Drexel, of this city, and a niece of the late Anthony J. Drexel and Frank Drexel. She is a sister of the late Mrs. Charles Penrose, of this city, and of Mrs. Seton Henry, who was Josephine Drexel, and of Mrs. Harry Lehr, of Balti-

Madeleine went overseas last November, I believe, and did hospital and ambulance work for the Red Cross, having had experience on this side. Her flance, who is the son of the James Bliss Townsends, of New York, went over in June, also with the Red Cross. He's a Princeton man, class of 1912. Madeleine's various sisters are Katharine, who is Mrs. Richard Smith Emmet, of New York; Ulrica, who is Mrs. John Flavel Hubbard, wife of Captain Hubbard, U. S. A., of New York, and Olga, who is still Miss Dahlgren.

TIRGINIA and Jack were talking. And Virginia being four and Jack six, little sister is very apt to ask big brother the cause of the reason why of many things.

Some one had been reading to them a wee jingle in which duels were spoken of. Later in the day Virginia was heard to approach Jack and remark, "What's a duel, Jackie?" "It's a-oh, it's-why, it's a fight between two men," said brother. "A fi-it? Oh, what do they fight with, their hands?" "No. Ginia, they fight with swords." "Swords! What's a sword, Jack?" "A sword? Why, it's a long thing, it's awell, it's a thing they used before they had rolling pins."

What do you think is the story back of that explanation? I'd like to know, wouldn't NANCY WYNNE.

Wedding Solemnized This Morning With Nuptial Mass at Church in Germantown

Nuptial Mass at Church in Germantown

An interesting wedding was solemnized with nuptial mass this morning in the Church of St. Francis of Assissi, Germantown, when Miss Gertrude A. Conlin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John F. Conlin, of 4617 Pulaski avenue, was married to Mr. J. Connor Relly, also of Germantown. The ceremony was performed by the bride's uncle, the Rev. Thomas Madden, C. M. The bride's father gave her in marriage. She wore a gown of pearl-colored charmeuse, with st hat of the same shade, and carried a shower of Pride roses and Iflies of the valley. Miss Ellen R. Conlin, the bride's sister, was her only attendant. Her gown was of peach-colored georgette crepe, and her Jeghorn hat was trimmed with georgette crepe matching the gown. A shower of pink roses was carried.

Mr. John Relly was his brother's best

Mr. John Reily was his brother's best man. The service was followed by a break-fast for the two families at the home of the bride's parents. The bridegroom and bride left on an extended trip and will be at home after April 1 at 301 East Upsal street, Germantown.

A Frugal, Good and Kindly People

To the Editor of the Evening Public Ledger Sir—Just a word of appreciation of Chris-topher Morley's splendid travel article on "Little Italy." I particularly appreciate the sentiment of the last paragraph. Yes, they are to be congratulated for coming here, and America congratulated for opening her arms

America congratulated for opening her arms to them and her opportunities.

They come from a heavenly climate and most beautiful surroundings—sunshine and laughter, the grapes, the pemegranates and the almond. As to Mr. Moriey's misgivings as to whether they are losing more than they are to gain in this great land of opportunity, that will depend entirely on the treatment they receive at the hands of their hostess—America. ostesa—America.

You must admit that we are just be-ginning to discover the "Italian" and that we are just becoming sensitive to the worth of their emigration. Indeed, very few like Mr. Merley have gone down into the Italian quarters and have been big enough to push aside the screen of dirt on the surface (which our city fathers allow) and peer into the real life of a people who are and are going to be more and more one of the biggest assets to our national life. Medesty forbids me to to our national life. Medesty forbids me to dwell too much on this, as I am speaking of the people and the country that gave me birth, but as an American of Italian birth and as one living here since childhood, having witnessed this gradual awakening on the part of you true Americans of longer residence, it gave me the greatest delight to read the splendid article, "Little Italy," a real appreciation of a frugal, good and kindly people.

NICOLA D'ASCENZO. Philadelphia, February 24.

As to Alien Tongues To the Editor of the Evening Public Ledger: Sir-If the bill introduced in the House by Mr. Walker, of Philadelphia, "Providing for publication of official advertising in Italian and Yiddish newspapers in cities where ther are 40,000 persons speaking these languages."
should pass the Legislature, at Harrisburg. it means that the two nationalities spoken it means that the two nationalities spoken of will be encouraged in ignoring the English language. The United States Government has been unable to thoroughly Americanize the foreigners where they are in colonies, especially the older ones, as they are satisfied to use only their own language as long as they can get along with that.

The time has come when we must impress on the minds of these foreign-speaking peoples and they in turn must recognize the

on the minds of these foreign-speaking peo-ples, and they in turn must recognize the fact that they wishing to do business in this country must conduct it in the language of this country. Steps should be taken to compel all foreigners of adult age, not speak-ing English, to attend night school where they will be taught to read, write and speak they will be taught to read, write and speak English and the fundamental principles of American citizenship. If employers would not employ any non-English speaking labor unless they attend night school the ques-tion of Americanizing the foreign element among us will in a few years be a thing

If this idea is carried out the foreignspeaking people themselves would soon come to realize that it is for their benefit as well as for the country.

The writer would like to know of the Hon Mr. Walker, who is a public servant of the citizens of Philadelphia, whether he is work-ing for the interest of the foreign-speaking people residing in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania or for the welfare of Pennwant to see all churches, fraternal orders women's clubs, pariotic organizations and individuals, who have been talking of Americanism and about Americanizing the foreign-speaking people in our midst, to send their protest against this bill being enacted.

Let us have editorial comments in the newspapers on this bill, as the writer fully realizes that the newspapers are, to a certain the contract of the protest against the newspapers are, to a certain the contract of the protest of of tain extent, the moiders of public opinion.

We trust and believe they are always ready to do anything in their power that will help to Americanize the foreign-speaking people residing in our midst.

Why not call a mass-meeting and send in a public protest against this un-American BOYAL C. STEPHENS.

Great to Be Crazy

Philadelphia, February 22.

To the Editor of the Evening Public Ledger: Sir—The fellow who first said "Gee, ain't it great to be crazy," would certainly be right in his element were he alive today and reading the newspapers, and endeavoring to get a reasonably sane line on what's hap-pening and why. For instance—at almost the very hour that

Democratic Senator was speaking in the United States Senate, attacking the proposed plan for a league of nations, for which a President elected on a Democratic ticket has President elected on a Democratic ticket has been largely responsible, and propounding to the world at large the stirring question of "Shall we surrender with the pen what Washington gained by the sword?"—at almost the very moment that this clarion interrogation was being sounded the Republiran Governor of the state that is the very keystone of Republicanism, was declaring in equality clarion tones: "It is hard to find anything inconsistent with Washington's position in our present undertaking," and "with our detached and distant position" no ionger a factor, thanks to the wonderful intentions as a sector, the great power and influent ence of the America of today to be thrown into the effort to avert war by any honorable and understandable means?" Or, if you don't like any particular person for any particular reason, in these topsy-turvey days, all you have to do is call him.

or her or it a Bolsheviki Too had the P. R. T. didn't wait until right to spring its short course in Biblical ikip-stops.

No wonder that the man who, when asked what he did in the French Revolution, has come ringing down the corridors of time because he replied that "he lived through it!"

wont to say, what a time and opportunity it would be for Gilbert and Sullivan! GROGGY, BUT STILL IN THE RING.

Has Some Strong Ideas

to the Editor of the Evening Public Ledger. Sir-Lieutenant Heyle, of the Ninth Anti-Sir-Lieutenaut heye, of the Sun Aircraft Baitery, recently wrote you a letter praising the Y. M. C. A. at a certain place in France. What he said may be true of that place but is it true of other places in France? I was over there sixteen and a half months and I ran into a few Y. M. C. A. places my-self. I can safely say that the Y. M. C. A. self. I can safely say that the Y. M. to a never gave our regiment as much as one cigarette, but they charged two prices for whatever we got. Some places they would tell us to get out so that others could get in. If we didn't have money we were not welcome. They seemed to me a poor bunch of Christians. of Christians.

Wouldn't it have been better if you had boosted the Salvation Army? What they gave was given with a free will and a good heart. PRIVATE E. R. GIBBONS. Battery F. Forty-third Artillery, R. A. R. Eustin Vo.

Do Not Trust the Germans

To the Editor of the Evening Public Ledger: Sir A league of nations depending on moral suasion and on the honor-mark the word- of German war leaders, were a joke, t not seriously spoken and advocated in high places. It is inconceivable that a hor-ribiy burnt child should so little dread the fire. All the world has proof in sad and desolate All the world has proof in sad and desolate homes that German war leaders have no honor and only await the chance and are working plainly to order more atroclous and horrible things tomorrow.

German war workers and war lords are the guilty parties and they should be punished, at least, interned for this generation until their underlings are taught to think in different terms than thieving and looting and raping their neighbors.

If they were put in the Lusitania and tor-pedoed it would be a good lesson for future would-be German war leaders, or sunk in one of their own submarines or blinded by their own gas or liquid fire. None of these war workers, the chiefly guilty and dangerous parties, are harmed. They were always in the parties, are harmed. They were always in the safety zone ordering atrocious deeds done by

And so long as they live and are free they will seek just such results only by more hor-rible methods. Our only present and future safety is to mete out fitting and proper punishment to the war lords.

The fear of coming future war by embli-tering and offending is German propaganda or the cheap and cowardly talk of a weak judge fearing to pass a just sentence. are now just as actively striving for Russia as they were for France and Belgium. Until the makers of this war are lasseed and cor-raled and German domination driven out of Russia we are in a greater danger than ever

To punish the perpetrators of the war and to drive German war makers out of Russia is our only safety. Even destroying their fortifications and occupying their munition plants and policing with a large force are futile measures unless the ringleaders are entenced to life imprisonment or the death just as they meted out death to our nnocent Lusitania victims.

Incidentally the German people would know and appreciate that they were whipped, to their own great benefit and to the everiast-ing benefit of all the world . E. C. T. Philadelphia, February 25,

BALL TRIUMPHANT WELL ATTENDED

Dance for Memorial Fund Last Evening Filled Three Ballrooms to Overflowing

The ballroom, the Clover Room and the Junior Boom of the Bellevue-Straiford, to say nothing of the boxes upstairs, were filled with people last evening at the Ball Triumphant. The ballroom, decorated with huge American flags draped along the walls and over the edge of the boxes, made an appropriate setting for the numerous uniforms of soldiers, sailors, marines and the officers of many branches of the service who were present.

The incidental vaudeville entertainment consisted of several dances by McCarton and Marrone; songs by Lady Tsein Mei, and during the intermission an auction of "Splash Me Dolls," in which the four types, blonde, brunette, gray and red, were represented by "living models."

"Ilving models."

The committee in charge of the affair consisted of Mrs. Walter S. Thomson, Mrs. William J. Clothier, Mrs. R. Dobson Altemus, Mrs. John C. Norris, Mrs. Richard Norris, Mrs. Samuel D. Lit. Mrs. John Mason, Mrs. Campbell Madeira, Miss Nellie Hopkins, Mrs. Campbell Madeira, Miss Nellie Hopkins, Mrs. Clothier was gowned in a Persian brocade with a long, narrow train, Mrs. Altemus wore a draped gown of dark blue and silver brocade. Mrs. Agnew T. Dice, Jr., who was among the guests, wore an attractive dress of dark purple net with silver figures. Miss Mary Flero had on a red satin dress with tulle sleeves and a rope girdle. Among the Emergency Aid aides who were present in uniform selling cigarettes were Miss Pauline Denckia, Mrs. Joseph H. Balley, Jr., Miss Josephine Hooper and others. Mrs. Joseph Rollins was gowned all in white with a white lace scarf over her shoulders. The proceeds of the dance will be for the memorial fund, with which a triumphal arch is to be creeted in the Parkway.

Reception for Soldiers, Sailors and Marines at Second Regiment Armory Tomorrow Night

Under the auspices of the War Camp Community Service, a reception to the soldiers, sallors and marines in Philadelphia will be given tomorrow evening in the Second Regiment Armory, Broad street and Susquehanna avenue.

The affair will be given by the Philadel-phia Liberty Sing Leaders' Chorus, which organization is composed of the founders of the Liberty Sing idea in Philadelphia, and also those leaders who held and conducted sings in blocks, parks and auditoriums during the war. during the war. Special invitation has been given to about 300 marines who helped to stay the Germans in France. These men will be in charge of Major Owen or Colonel A. J. Drexel Biddle. All sailors and soldiers stationed in Philadelphia have been invited to be present.

Two canteens will be established in the armory. One, where coffee, doughnuts and ple will be dispensed, will be in charge of the Salvation Army. The other will have eigarettes and chocolate. This will be in charge of the Ladies of the Grand Army of the Republic Auxiliary No. 335, of the American Red Command Grand No. 1 Women's ican Red Cross, and Group No. 1, Women's Benefit Association of the Maccabees, volun-teers and juniors, of whom there will be about 300, and all in full Red Cross uniform.

The program for the evening will include a concert by the Philadelphia Police Band, after which Arthur B. Eaton, president of the Philadelphia Liberty Sing Ladles' Chorus. will make an address of welcome. Then will follow other addresses.

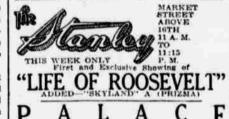

There will be a demonstration of the manner in which Liberty Sings were conducted here while the boys were fighting. Wassill Leps, one of the original members of the Leps, one of the original members of the Liberty Sing Commission and musical director of that organization, will be the musical director Thursday evening, and John S. Hart will be the song leader. A recitation, "Who Won This War?" will be given by Miss Beatrice Eaton, the first young woman in Philadelphia to have an open-air block sing. There will also be a drill by the Philadelphia Guard of the Women's Benefit Association of the Maccabees in full uniform. Then will come a dance.

Then will come a dance.

Because of the request for tickets, it has been decided to admit by card only. Cards of admission can be had at all newspaper

The Philadelphia Liberty Sing Leaders' Chorus was organized to perpetuate the work done by the leaders and conductors of sings during the war and also to co-operate with the Council of National Defense and War Camp Community Service as well as other organizations requiring the services of its members.

What Shall We Do With Him?" to Be Answered by Local Film Fans

One of the problems of the Peace Conference will be the final punishment for the Kalser. The question, "What Shall We Do With Him?" is going to be put up to the local movie fans by the several theatre managers, who are going to exhibit a motion picture in the near future which should be of great interest to everybody. In an interview with Jay Emanuel, the local representative of the World Pictures, he said that the public should decide this question, and he prepared a few questions for them to answer.

If you could have your way about it, what sort of a fate would you mete out to the ex-Kaiser?

sort of a fate would you mete out to the ex-Kaiser?

Do you think he should be placed in a cage and exhibited throughout the world?

Or do you think that he ought to be placed in solitary confinement in one of his own evil prison camps?

Or should he be placed on some lonely island and left there to die in the way that Napoleon was treated?

You will see a vitally interesting motion picture, "What Shall We Do With Him?" and you will be given the opportunity of registering your vote in the matter.

This picture is not a war picture. It is a timely, interesting presentation of the biggest problem facing the world today. It demonstrates the fact that the ex-Kaiser is one of the biggest criminals in history, it shows
