

Flood in Cairo; Wreck on the Isle of Wight; Roof Tennis; Varied Views Far and Near

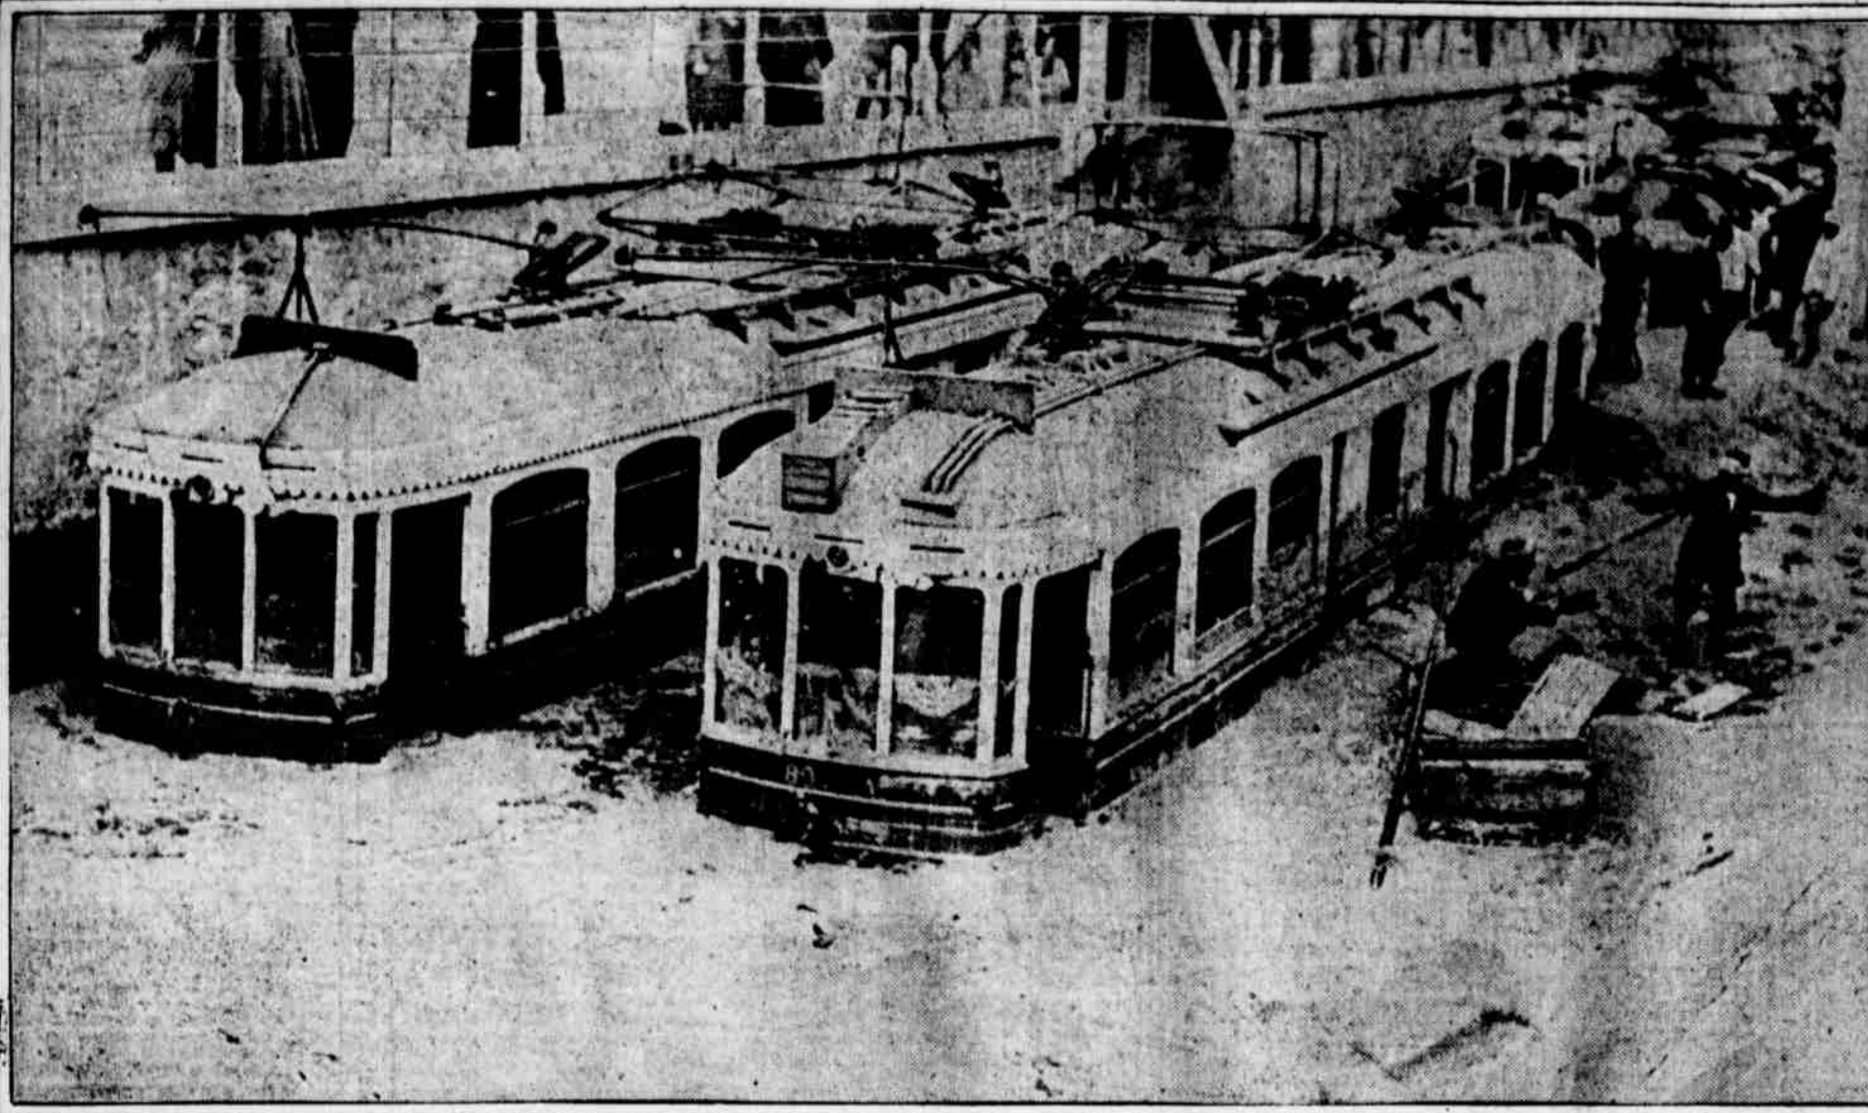

PHOTO BY I.F.S.

ANCIENT CAIRO was recently swept by a devastating flood that wrought vast damage to the city. In the view are Cairo street cars half engulfed by the waters and sand of old Father Nile.

© W. A. G.

A DANGEROUS SPOT on the English Channel. A British navy patrol boat blown on Bembridge Ledge, Isle of Wight, and wrecked.

TENNIS ON THE ROOF—C. N. Beard, Cynwyd, a contestant in the covered-court tennis tournament for the Middle Atlantic Championship, on the Wanamaker Store roof.

© W. A. G.

A CHARMING AFTERNOON FROCK of tan and blue figured chiffon attractively draped. The hat is of blue trimmed in wheat and poppies.

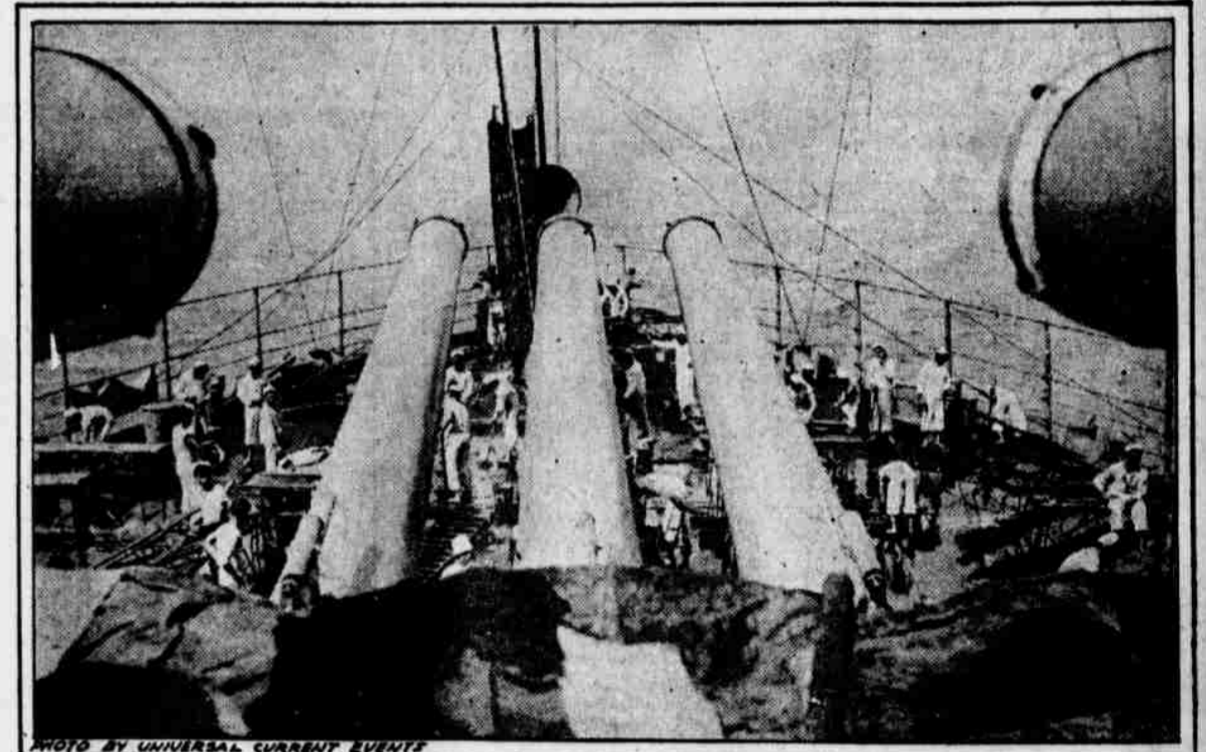

PHOTO BY UNIVERSAL CURRENT EVENTS

THE ATLANTIC FLEET is again at peacetime maneuvers off Guantanamo Bay, Cuba. The picture shows sailors of the U. S. dreadnought Oklahoma at their deck-cleaning task.

PHOTO BY I.F.S.

THESE FOURTEEN SPANIARDS were seized by Federal agents in New York because of their alleged anarchistic proclivities, unearthed just as the President reached this country.

STARR'S & EVING

THE MEMBER FROM OHIO, Captain Victor Heintz, honorably discharged from the army, has been conspicuous in Congress with his military belt and overseas insignia, worn contrary to regulations. Captain Heintz: "Why should I not wear in the United States the insignia worn in battle overseas?"

A BOSTON GROUP who welcomed Wilson. At the left is the new U. S. Senator from Massachusetts, David I. Walsh; in the center is Sherman L. Whipple, a leader of the Massachusetts bar; at the right is Major General Clarence K. Edwards, commanding the northeastern department, U. S. army.