Need for the supplementary bills arises from the distinction between the city and the county governments of Philadelphia. The charter revision com-mittee favors the abolition of this dis-

ter, but it proposes, in addition to the elimination of the Department of Sup-plies, many other changes in the execu-live departments. It proposes to sep-arate the functions of the Department of Public Health and Charities and to create a new department to be called the Department of Public Welfare. To the latter would be intrusted those duties relating to the supervision of the char-itable institutions of the city, including hospitals and reformatory institutions. In this connection the report of the subittee which drafted the bill sets

The Mayor, the bill provides, must also submit a copy of the budget to the City Controller, who will examine it and re-turn it to Councils with his comments. ### Single Chamber Provided

Single Chamber Provided Probably the most important change provided for in the government is the substitution of a single-chamber Council of twenty-one members for the present bicameral system. It is proposed that the Council shall consist of members elected from the senatorial districts, one Councilman being elected for each 20,000 qualified electors. The bill vests in this Council all the powers and duties now exercised by the Common and Select Councils and prescribes a mode of pro-codure as to make it more simple and better understood. The Councilmen are to be elected for terms of four years and to be elected for terms of four years and are to receive salaries of $5000 per year. The act specifically prohibits dual office-

"Under existing law," says the report of the subcommittee, "while City Coun-cilmen cannot hold any other city office, they are not prohibited from holding county offices. The result is that a large ber of Councilmen hold such offices, which they mainly depend for their thood. In consequence, their inde-tence of action is greatly interfered if not destroyed, as they find it with, if not destroyed, as they find it ifficult to resist pressure brought to ear in connection, with their duties as Jouncilmen by those upon whose favor hey hold income-producing offices. This will of dual office-holding has long been ecognized and the proposed bill de-troys it by making Councilmen ineligi-to hold any other office of profit of a held any other office of profit of kind whatever. It also provides Counclimen shall be paid salaries 5000 each, which is reasonable, in of the fact that they will now be ired to give more time than for-y owing to the reduction of their here."
