BUSINESS NOTES

The government of India, in view of the necessity of conserving rice for local consumption, on account of the short-grape of the harvest due to the lack of rain, has decided to prohibit its exportation. Certain exceptions are made, however, to countries which, on account of including a large Indian population and having been dependent in the past on India as the nearest source of supply, must be regarded as having a superior claim on the halance of the rice crop not required in India or the United Kingdom. According to Vice Consul Charles M. Haywood at Calcutta, the present will not be permitted to the United States, Australia, Canada, Dutch East Indies, Japan and China.

Italy does not intend to permit the return of German cotton goods to its markets. Prior to the war German mills virtually had a monopoly of Italy's trade in cotton fabrics. Letters received indicated that Italy is preparing to do an increased business with American mills. In order to establish closer trade relations between the two countries mill agents have been requested to forward samples to Italy.

Demand for heavy industrial chemicals continues light, both for domestic or export recount. The dealers are now waiting to see what steps the government will take to dispose of the great stocks of chemicals it accumulated during the war period.

BANKER SAYS NEW TAX BLANKS "GET THE GOAT" OF FINANCIERS

Complicated Instrument Causing Much Worry-Savings Institution Official Discusses Plan to Popularize Acceptances

66TO USE a collequial expression," remarked a well-known banker I yesterday, "the income-tax blank has got the goat of every one in the financial district." He went on to describe some of the expressions which he said were being given out on all sides. It is not, he said, that people are against the payment of such taxes as they should pay, but to pile on top of that payment the filling out of a form that the "13, 14, 15" puzzle or "pigs in clover" is child's play as compared with it. An up-to-date broker, who was worrying over his blank, said he had heard of a negro preacher who preached a sermon on "How to Unserew the Inscrutable," "I only wish I had him here," said the broker. "I would give ten cents for a copy of that sermon."

On all sides every one is talking about these tax blanks and wondering what the Treasury Department had in mind in getting out such a obtained by making the necessary returns as simple as possible. One this service free for their customers will have all their special income-tax

Popularizing Acceptances as Savings-Bank Investments

A dispatch from New York yesterday said that the savings bank of plans to popularize acceptances as savings bank investments. Some days ago it was also stated that the savings banks of New York state had started a movement looking to a connection with the Federal Reserve

The vice president of one of the large local savings institutions said as regards the purchasing of acceptances for investments in savings banks of this city and state it could not be done at present at least, dentally, he said that years ago, in the early days of his connection with the banking business in this country, acceptances were not by any means uncommon as financial instruments, and he hoped they would become

He had not heard of any movement by the savings banks of this city and state to connect with the Federal Reserve System.

Discussions on Victory Loan Sale

As the time to launch the Victory Liberty Loan draws nearer the views of bankers and brokers become more defined until they have naturally developed into two distinct camps on whether the campaign should be conducted on a platform of patriotism or from a purely business basis. There is in addition a difference of opinion as to whether the notes should be issued on a 5 per cent basis, subject to all federal taxes, or on a 4 per cent tax-free basis. Those who argue for the higher interest rate say that without such a rate it would be impossible to sell them to the public, and the government in such a case would have to fall back upon the banks. In New York state the Association of State Banks has gone on record in favor of 5 per cent on notes which would be subject to federal taxation and 4 per cent on tax-free paper.

Bankers in this city acknowledge that it is too early to decide on the correct rate of interest for the Liberty Victory notes, and that it would not be good business to announce the rate or rates till a few days before the campaign opens. One thing is certain, that whatever the rate on which Secretary of the Treasury Glass decides, it will have a direct bearing on the general market position of bonds and on the need for the conservation of bank credits for commercial purposes.

Business Conditions in Great Britain

Conditions of labor, business and finance in Great Britain seem to be about the same as we find them here, according to If. Gordon Selfridge, the head of Selfridge & Co., London, the biggest department store in that city, conducted on the plans of an American department store, who says!

"There is still a wide difference of opinion as to the prices that merchandise should and must bring during the coming months. I. personally, cannot see how prices shall be maintained at their present rates because the enormous numbers of manufacturers, who heretofore have been on war work exclusively, are now free for civil requirements. During the last few years manufacturers have learned that their machines are capable of doing very much more than they had considered possible in pre-war days.

"Factories have been making more of everything than they ever did easy-going methods. The more a machine makes the less are overhead charges, of course, and this should work toward lower prices of merchandise. On the other hand, wages and salaries have increased decidedly and there is a general desire that they shall not recede more than is necessary from their present point.

"Raw materials, of course, are higher and the cost of carriage and insurance, which have been a great factor, still show their effects because most of the stuff on hand now has been brought to this country at high cost.

"One factor which is continually used by the manufacturer to maintain higher prices is a claim that orders for export are very heavy. We have pooh-poohed this argument and insisted that they were not great enough to be a deciding factor, nevertheless we find even up to now. the end of January, difficulty to obtain any concessions in prices except in a few directions. We insist that prices must come down, gradually, at any rate, if not as rapidly as would have seemed likely. We find ourselves only buying closely from hand to mouth and we decline to place orders ahead beyond the bare requirements.

Liberty Loan Bonds displayed weakness throughout yesterday, although prices were not substantially changed from those obtaining at the close of business on Saturday. The passage of the new revenue bill was accepted with considerable satisfaction in the Street, as it had been feared that it might be delayed until after the adjournment of the present

Foreign government bonds were irregular, although prices held firm, particularly for the Anglo-French 5s and the French Republic 54s. The French municipals were slightly lower. Dominion of Canada bonds were fractionally above last week's levels. New York city bonds were slightly lower, with but few changing hands.

Throughout the industrial list there was a tendency toward moderately higher prices, although operations were confined within somewhat narrow limits. Railroad bonds were more active and a little above last week's figures.

A good deal of interest attended the bidding on the $8,000,000 414 per cent thirty-year city of Philadelphia bonds, which were awarded to a syndicate composed of Drexel & Co., Brown Brothers & Co. and the Guarantee Trust Company of New York. The bid of the syndicate was for all or none at 100.61. Bond houses generally seemed satisfied at the result, aithough a higher bid was expected.

It is said a local house will soon put out an issue of $1,800,000 per cent serial bonds of the Autocar Company.

This clause had been stricken out. It was originally inserted for the purpose of putting a check upon recalcitrant Councilmen, who, it was believed would prefer to do their duty and fix a rate rather than enfer the stigma of having needlersly penalized the tax payers.

Th's penalizing clause was discussed at length Friday last when the bill was presented to the charter revision committee by the subcommittee which drafted it. It earned strong opposition, and the general committee was urged to strike it out of the bill. A conference of the charter revision committee was held in Philadelphia, at which it was deeded to accept this advice. The members who were opposed to the clause pointed out that

"Well Seasoned."

"Established 1868," says J. Rufus Wallingford junior; "what has that got to do with the lumber that a concern sells?"

J. Rufus junior may not believe it, but a well-seasoned firm is pretty sure to sell better lumber than one that began business last year. We have found by long experience that selling the best lumber pays the seller, as well as the buyer.

Some day you'll build. Build to last. See that the lumber comes from LLOYD.
