

GREAT WELCOME FOR PRESIDENT

Accompanied by Mrs. Wilson New Grandson Visited for Half Hour

REPORTS BABY "BULLY"

Woodrow Wilson says, to use a stock phrase, has nothing to say today. It doesn't matter if his distinguished grandfather, President Woodrow Wilson, is Franciscan word. The fact that the Senate refused to pass the railroad bill yesterday makes no difference as far as he is concerned. Nor does he care about the fate of the league of nations. These are trifles that his baby mind does not fathom.

He was the smallest audience ever addressed by a President of the United States in the city of Philadelphia, and yet—he has nothing to say.

And the President—he is probably paraphrasing the Brigs cartoons in the EVENING PUBLIC LEDGER—"I wonder what a week-old baby thinks."

The sixty-minute visit of the President to Philadelphia and the Jefferson Hospital to see the latest addition to the household of his daughter, Mrs. Francis Rose Sawyer, was witnessed by thousands of Philadelphians, whose enthusiasm indicated that the President was not alone in his league of nations idea. Not since the visit of Marshall Jefferson have so many persons lined the streets over which the party passed to the hospital.

And the President, who smiled and went out in the crowd as they cheered and applauded, appeared to be the least worried person in the United States, despite the Senate tactics which yesterday turned down some of the legislation he advocates.

He did not speak or interview the reporters. The only expression he made was from the platform of his train before it pulled out of Broad Street Station.

"How was the baby?" shouted some one in the crowd.

A smile drifted over his face. "Bully!" he called, and then after a pause and more decisively he shouted "Bully!"

The presidential party included Mrs. Wilson, Admiral Cary T. Grayson, the White House physician and the President's personal bodyguard and the President's secret service men, who will remain with him throughout the European trip.

RED CHIEFS FEAR ASSASSIN LURKS

Count Ilya Tolstoy, Here, Says Lenine and Trotsky Tremble

BOLSHEVISM IS HATED

Declares Mass of Russian People Would Prefer Czar to Soviets

"Russia today has less freedom than during the days of serfdom sixty years ago."

"Trotsky and his associates are in constant fear of their lives. Their terror of assassination surpasses that of the Czar during the darkest days of Russian rule."

"The mass of Russian people today would welcome back the days of Czar rule and corruption if given a choice between that and Bolshevism."

These were among the declarations this afternoon of Count Ilya Tolstoy, son of the great Russian novelist, who will lecture tonight before the Geographical Society of Philadelphia in Wittenberg Hall.

Count Tolstoy said the information which he has received from his native country, comes from "irreproachable and unbiased sources."

Count Tolstoy's lecture will deal with the difference between the philosophy of his father and Bolshevism. Were the elder Count Tolstoy alive today, his son said, he would be among the first to denounce Bolshevism as class antagonism, annihilates industry, freedom and order in his country.

Is Counterpart of Father Personally perfect counterpart of his father when the elder was at the height of his fame. He has the deepest, penetrating eyes, the broad nose and the face, heavily lined as though with care.

He is taller than his father, is a man of more than average height and broad proportionately with hands that suggest immense physical strength.

His beard, like his father's, is carefully trimmed, something between a Van Dyke and a full beard. He explained the reason.

"When I was last in Russia," he said, "I saw a man cutting a village street one day when a woman passed, catching sight of me, cried: 'Count Leo! and faints. She believed she was looking on the wraith of my father. Since then I have avoided creating this impression among others."

When the Bolsheviki movement first started, Count Tolstoy had hoped that the father's dream of a universal democracy might be realized.

"It became evident in a short time," he went on, "that the Bolsheviki were not the father's dream of a universal democracy but a movement by the uneducated mob and it was aimed at the independence and industry of all other classes."

Bolshevism Not Popular "M. Struve, a politician of high standing in Russia and a Socialist member of the Duma, said in an assembly, he pointed out that those who think it possible for Bolshevism and civilization to go hand in hand are mistaken. Even the father's dream of order and liberty would be made impossible under Bolshevism."

It is not true that Bolshevism is popular in Russia, he said. He named Joseph and Thompson, who have circulated reports of the Bolsheviki movement, are the paid agents of the Bolsheviki party.

While in Philadelphia Count Tolstoy will be the guest of Dr. W. E. Langelbach at the University Club.

"CONGRESSIONAL DEBUT" PLEASES SINGER'S PARENTS

Rendering of "Keep the Home Fires Burning" and Older Melodies by Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Levering Jones Charming Nation's Lawmakers in Adjournment Festivities

Mr. and Mrs. J. Levering Jones, of the Coronado apartments, appeared much pleased this afternoon over the unexpected debut of their daughter, Miss Charlotte Jones, as a singer before the House of Representatives in Washington yesterday.

Miss Jones, who is now the guest of Major and Mrs. Pierre Christie Stevens and Miss Marie Stevens, of Berwyn, Md., was the first of the visitors in the gallery during the adjournment festivities. In the general "sing" which followed the arrival of the Marine Band, her clear, sweet voice sounded above the others around her. Members on the floor turned to see the young singer.

The applause was given to her personally and she was persuaded, after some protest on her part, to sing alone. Her rendition of "Keep the Home Fires Burning" and "My Old Kentucky Home" brought down the house, and she was taken to her home.
