Invitations for Raben-Pappenheim Wedding Received Here Saturday-Major Henry Norris Home-Miss Heckscher Attends Princeton "Prom"-Mountaineers Benefit

ALTHOUGH the wedding took place last Tuesday, March 4, the invitations to attend it only reached the family on Saturday, and the wedding I am talking about is the Pauline Pappenheim and Count Raben's. Her mother, Countess Pappenheim, sent invitations to a number of her old friends here, too, and on Saturday we learned that the wedding took place in St. Margaret's Church, Westminster, at 2:15 o'clock on Tuesday, March 4, and was followed by a reception at the countess's house in London at 15 Mansfield street.

MAJOR HENRY NORRIS, by the way, who married Miss Ethel Wheeler, an aunt of the Countess Pauline, returned to this country on Friday, and Mrs. Norris came up from North Carolina to meet him. They were to return home after a short stay in Bryn Mawr at Mrs. Charles Wheeler's home, though Mrs. Wheeler herself is still down at the Norris place, and then to go down to her, but since he has arrived Mrs. Norris has sent word to her sister, Mrs. Dick Elliot, who is at Bryn Mawr, that Major Norris is invalided and will probably have to be some time in one of this city's hospitals. They are coming to Philadelphia on Monday and Mrs. Norris will stay at her mother's place with the Elliotts while Major Norris is here.

Mrs. Wheeler was joined last week by Hannah Hohart, her son Charlie Wheeler's stepdaughter, and they will remain at the Norris house in North Carolina for several weeks.

THE Philadelphia Auxiliary of the Southern Industrial Educational Association, the Philadelphia Chapter of the Daughters of the Confederacy and the educational committee of the Philomusian Club—all of that—are going to have a meeting today at 3 o'clock in the Junior Room of the Bellevue. General Waller will preside, and talks will be given by Mr. C. C. Calhoun, of Washington, and Miss Susanne Grigsby, of the Hindman School in Kentucky. The subjects are to be Americanization, education, conservation and recreation, and the whole thing is in the interest of the returning soldiers of the southern mountains.

There are so many fine characters among the mountaineers that these organizations are trying to bring them before the attention of people "out in the world," and at the same time to take to them the education and culture of the outsiders, or "foreigners" as they usually call people from other states. All this, and some awfully interesting stories of those people and the hardships that they go through in order to get their education and their civilization, in spite of no roads, flooded mountain creeks cutting them off from everywhere and things that we never even think about up here, will be told at the meeting today. The committee in charge of the meeting includes Mrs. Louis Lewis, Mrs. A. M. Butler, Mrs. P. H. Lane, Mrs. William K. Beard, Mrs. Alfred P. Lee and Mrs. Victor Cochran.

VIRGINIA HECKSCHER is going up to Princeton on the 14th to attend the Prom. She is the daughter of the Ledyard Heckschers, of Bollingbrook, Radnor, and a granddaughter of the late Mr. Charles Brerly Hart. She is a sister of Barbara and Ethel and Ledyard H. Heckscher. It goes without saying that she will have a good time at the Prom, for undoubtedly the dance will not be the only "feature"; there are always shows, games, club teas and things up at Princeton.

I HEAR that the Community Center Library of Bryn Mawr is to be extended for the benefit of the people of the Main Line in general. This new branch will include all the newest novels of the day and will undoubtedly be an awful help out there, where there are no large public libraries and such things. Mrs. George C. Thayer, Mrs. Nathan Hayward, Mrs. J. Stanley Reeves, Mrs. Horatio Gates Lloyd, Mrs. Charles Sinnamon, 3d, Mrs. Theodore Spencer and Mrs. Emyln L. Stewardson are to have charge of the arrangements and organization.

HE'S a big boy; big enough, indeed, to know his alphabet—and wear everybody's life out spelling it wherever he sees any of it. His mother found him the other day studiously picking out the letters on the large calendar out in the kitchen. Aside from the fact that he called the "c" an "o," he really got it very well. He's been so good about learning that on Saturday afternoon Mother took him into town with her and told him he would give him a treat—treat suggesting to her mind candy, ice cream or a toy.

So, after they had had a hair-cut, during which he spelled "cat" and "rat" and so on for the barber, and Mother had bought some gloves and a few uninteresting things like spoons and lace, she asked him which he would like to have. And to her amazement Son replied that he would like to have some soap. Quick to take advantage of the first appearance of any desire for cleanliness, however unheard of, Mother hustled him to the soap counter and picked out the prettiest purple cake she could find. But that didn't suit. He wanted just a plain yellow cake, and as soon as he showed it to her the reason became apparent—it was marked "Soap," in large, easy-to-read letters.

AND Son fell on it with ecstatic chuckles and romped in dreamy tones, "S—O—Mother, what's this letter?" was led out of the store unprotesting.

FLONZALEY QUARTET IN FINE CONCERT

The Flonzaley Quartet gave its second concert of the season before the Chamber Music Association in the ballroom of the Bellevue-Stratford yesterday afternoon. Two quartets were played, the M major of Ravel and the C major, op. 59, No. 3, of Beethoven. The compositions formed a strong contrast to each other, but more in spirit than in sound, for the Beethoven sounded as fresh and as modern as the Ravel composition.

WELFARE WORKERS AID HOME-BOUND SOLDIERS

All Organizations Have Men on Transports to Give Cheer to Heroes. As soon as the home-bound soldier steps on the transport a thousand questions rise to his lips. Will he get his job back again? Or, failing that, what will he be able to do? If wounded, disabled—how will he live? And his mother, wife, children or other dependents—how will they make out? The fighting enthusiasm has left him; fears, doubts, depression, too often get hold of him. He wants to ask this and that. To whom shall he go? The faithful welfare worker is there on board the crowded troopship as he was in the trench, at the hospital and in the cantonment. The welfare worker is not a transport worker accompanying the returning "doughboys" and "robs" since June. More recently the government has given passports to the other welfare agencies, including the American Red Cross, the Knights of Columbus and the Jewish Welfare Board. Each has one or more men, depending upon the size of the ship, to look after the heroes. Transport workers are there in no one more easily made to feel than the man who has been through a great cause and is now returning. He knows not to what.

ART FEDERATION NAMES MEMORIAL BODY HERE
