

Canteen Workers Greet Arriving Soldiers at the Navy Yard : Who's Who in the Day's News

DOUGHBOYS who arrived on the American steamship West Hosokie yesterday at the Navy Yard pier, foot of Broad street, were supplied with coffee, sandwiches and cakes by canteen workers, under command of Mrs. Henry Pepper Vaux.

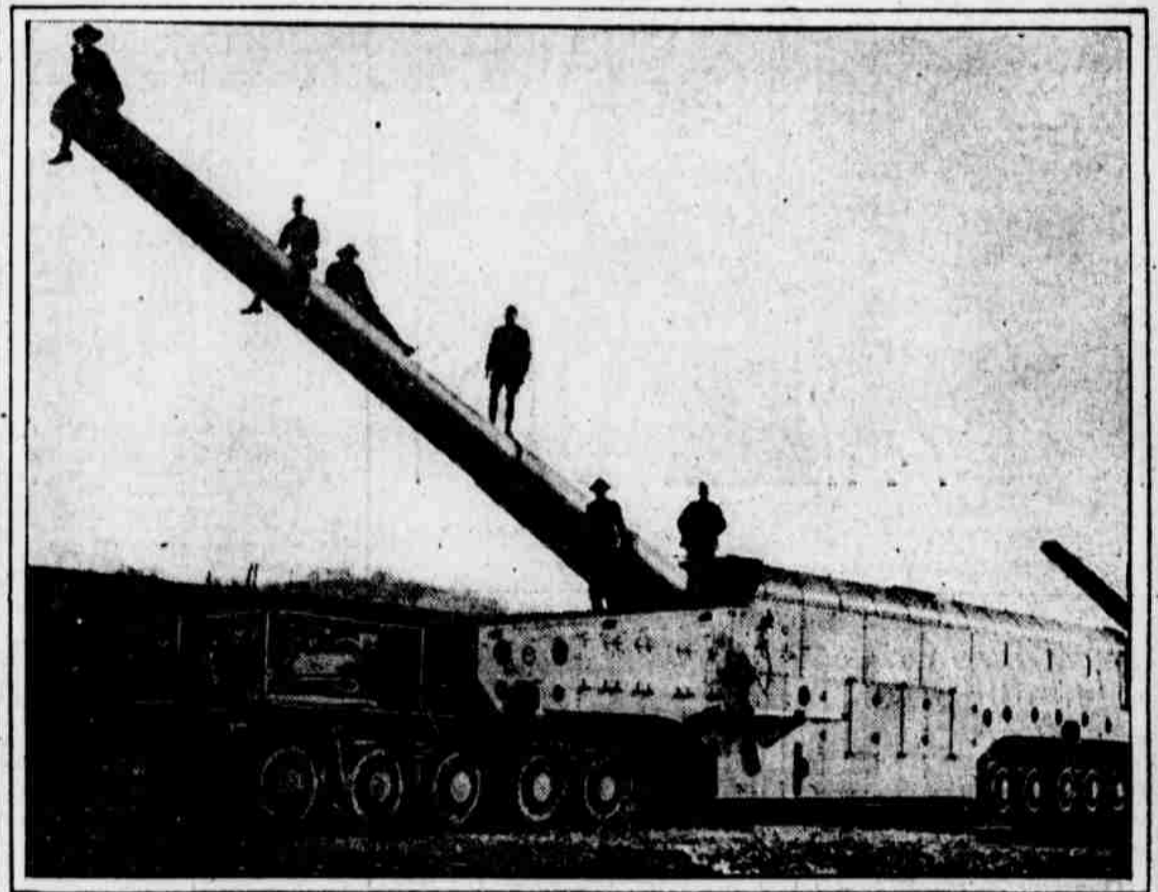

THE THOUGHTFUL-VISAGED warrior-aviator is Captain Edward Buford, of Nashville, Tenn., who arrived yesterday at League Island. Captain Buford holds the Legion of Honor ribbon, the Croix de Guerre and Distinguished Service Cross for gallantry in action. He put seven German airplanes out of action, of which two are officially accredited. He won the D. S. C. for fighting five boche planes single-handed.

AN AMERICAN motor launch manned by Yanks patrolling the Rhine. The boat is armed with machine guns.

THIS IS BABY Patricia Wallace, only grandchild of Hugh C. Wallace, Ambassador to France. She has never seen her father, Captain Melville W. Wallace, serving with the A. E. F. overseas. The War Department will not permit relatives of soldiers to visit France. Mrs. Melville W. Wallace cannot accompany her father-in-law abroad.

ONE OF THE TWO huge fourteen-inch fifty-caliber siege guns that arrived yesterday at League Island on the West Hosokie. These monsters, sixty feet long, were to be used in the bombardment of Metz. They were lashed to the upper deck of the steamship with steel cables supported by timbers.

SIX LITTLE BRIDES who recently arrived on the transport Plattsburg. The troopship brought forty-seven foreign brides of American soldiers and sailors. From left to right are Mrs. J. L. Phillips, of Neodesha, Kan.; Mrs. Doris Crawford, of Covington, Ky.; Mrs. D. V. Seabrook, of Portland, Ore.; Mrs. L. Bercuson, of Salem, Mass.; Mrs. C. L. Corothers, of Wilkensburg, Pa., and Mrs. Isadore Kraines, of Brooklyn, N. Y.
