

61 CITY SOLDIERS LAND IN VIRGINIA

Famed "Phantom Regiment" Among Heroes Back From Overseas

5000 ABOARD TRANSPORT

53d Coast Artillery and 50th Engineers With Philadelphians Return

"Sixty-one Philadelphians are included in the ranks of the famous "Phantom Regiment" and other units which have arrived at Newport News aboard the transport Nansamond from overseas.

More than 5000 veterans of foreign service arrived on the transport, most of them being "three stripes" men whose three gold chevrons attested eighteen months abroad against the Germans.

The "Phantom Regiment" became known from end to end of the American lines. Attached to no division, it was here today and gone tomorrow, constantly being moved to another spot where the valor of the men would be most useful in the fighting.

The regiment went abroad as the Seventy-fourth Engineers, but its unusual ability of turning up at a point of stress at just the opportune moment earned its nickname.

Other units in which Philadelphians returned on the ship were parts of the Fifty-third Coast Artillery and the Fifty-sixth Engineers. Several Philadelphia casualties unattached to any particular unit also arrived. The men will be quartered at Newport News for a few days and then sent to the demobilization camp nearest their homes.

Heroes Given Royal Welcome

The men were given a royal welcome at the landing, the reception extending as yet rendered to returning heroes at the southern port. Several bands were in attendance. The men were given a chance to speak to welcoming relatives waiting on the pier and several touching reunions were witnessed by thousands.

An anxious mother from New York and a wife with the baby whom the father had never seen were among those who greeted soldiers.

The Philadelphians who returned on the Nansamond are:

- Cougars Road, 209 Chestnut street; George Herthum, 2332 Percy street; Albert Hasbuck, 442 East Girard avenue; Lansing McCurry, Albert Floyd, 1323 Ruby street; Peter J. Brown, 1941 South Beechwood street; John J. O'Neil, 1225 Aldrie street, and John White, 2017 Fitzwater street, all members of the casual units.

Local men in the Fifty-third Coast Artillery included:

- William E. McCusker, 3947 North Franklin street; Sergeant W. F. Small, 1301 Arch street; Corporal Clayton Dietzel, 1649 Doughton street; David Reed, 3204 Frankford avenue; Harry Schenker, 2512 North Fifth street; W. B. Bushey, 134 West Huntingdon street; Joseph P. Bealin, 5035 Hooper street, and Joseph Scholiched, 2431 South Eighth street.

City Engineers Who Landed

- In the Fifty-sixth Engineers were: First Lieutenant Hiram G. Straub, 1810 Fontaine street; Edward Planners, 1628 North Twenty-seventh street; William D. Hamilton, 706 Jefferson street; Corporal M. P. Banks, 2609 South Lehigh street; Francis G. Hoke, 2229 North Delhi street; Corporal Ralph E. Lare, 605 Hermitage street, Roxborough; William J. Popper, 425 North Twenty-seventh street; William H. Herbinger, 2848 Lambert street; Edward L. Moyer, 2015 East Orleans street; William N. Yates, 2559 North Thirty-first street; Maxwell Platt, 1828 East Moyamensing avenue; William S. Jamison, 2116 North Twentieth street; Ernest Hopkinson, 5229 North Second street; James J. Carmley, 1114 Tree street; John J. McCarron, 1122 Dunton street; Gustave G. Glasser, 224 West Wilder street; William F. Pynes, 2707 Latona street; Lawrence G. Great, 421 West Oxford street; Robert B. Stewart, 1912 Glenwood avenue; John F. Buehner, 1954 Mascher street; Carl M. Fetters, 7297 Woodland avenue; Carl A. Schutt, 2659 Water street; Frank B. Lewis, 2539 Collins street; Sergeant Erwin P. Zennbrodt, 2332 Moore street; Andrew Davinport, 239 North Broad street; Frank N. Costello, 1129 Tower street.

In the Seventy-fourth Engineers were:

- Thomas M. Fisher, 297 Rochelle avenue, Wissahickon; John Bucher, 513 West Susquehanna avenue; Elwood W. Morgan, 5322 Jefferson street; Thomas J. Wilk, 919 Orkney street; Sergeant Robert Joyce, 824 North Ringgold street; Arthur B. Stern, 4313 1/2 Street; William J. N. J. CONFERENCE AT OCEAN GROVE

Bishop Shepard, a Newcomer, Presides at 83d Methodist Session

CAMDEN PASTOR SLATED

Ocean Grove, March 12.—With Bishop William O. Shepard, of Wichita, Kan., a newcomer to the eastern field, presiding, the eighty-third session of the New Jersey Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church convened this afternoon in St. Paul's Church here.

The opening meeting was confined principally to organization and the assignment of delegates to the various committees. Bishop Shepard was in charge of the ceremonies incident to the sacrament of the Lord's Supper which preceded the organization.

The Rev. Aaron E. Ballard, dean of the Methodist preachers in the New Jersey Conference, presided over the memorial service and roll call of deceased members last night. The memorial address was delivered by the Rev. Pennington Corson, Sr., Doctor Ballard, who is ninety-five years old, is president of the Ocean Grove Campmeeting Association and the Pitman Grove Campmeeting Association.

Bishop Shepard and his cabinet were in session at conference headquarters in the Marlborough Hotel, Asbury Park, yesterday, and it is understood decisions were reached on a number of the appointments to be made, but no announcement was made either by the bishop or the superintendents, the Rev. E. A. DeMartin, of the Camden district; the Rev. Alfred Warg, of the Bridgeton district; the Rev. M. E. Snyder, of the Trenton district, and the Rev. James Williams Marshall, of the New Brunswick district.

Camden Pastor Virtually Chosen

One of the appointments virtually agreed upon is that of the Rev. W. Earl Ledden, of Belmar, to State Street Church, Camden. The Rev. Mr. Ledden, who was graduated from Drew Seminary and for a time served at Oceanic, has been at Belmar for five years. The Rev. George A. Johnson, the present pastor at the Camden church, is not in good health and for this reason is compelled to retire.

All-day sessions will begin tomorrow and continue until the close of the conference on Monday morning, when appointments will be announced by Bishop Shepard. The mornings will be devoted to conference business, while the afternoons will be taken up with meetings of the different church societies and anniversaries. Lectures will be given in the evenings. Tomorrow afternoon the anniversary of the national Foreign Mission Society will be observed in the conference church and at the same time the Preachers' Aid Society will hold its annual meeting in Association Hall, with the Rev. M. E. Snyder presiding.

Bishop on America's Opportunity

The league of nations may make the world a decent place in which to live, but it cannot make a decent people to live in the world; it will not be the means of making a new world. Bishop Shepard declared last night in his lecture before the conference delegates on "The Christian Destiny of America."

"The league of nations cannot spring full-blown from the peace table," he said, "but must be allowed to grow; must be discussed." While the league will be only an opportunity, not an end, something great must come of it, he said.

HARMONY SHAKY IN LEGISLATURE

Philadelphia Factionalism Awakens in House Elections Committee

FIGHT ON BRADY BILLS

Country Members Propose to Band Together for Mutual Benefit—Trouble Ahead

Dinner Closed Affair

The dinner last night was a closed affair, but if the talk given out yesterday by league members, is an indication of what they have in mind from now on a strong and well-organized third faction in the House is going to play both ends and the middle against the rival Penrose and Vare factions.

There is no definite thought as yet of forming a third party in the state, was the rather significant utterance of Robert L. Wallace, of New Castle, recognized floor leader of the league. "The country members have decided they must stand together."

"The league is not 'dry' nor 'wet,' although a majority of the members are 'dry.' It is not the aim of the organization to antagonize bills introduced by members from the large cities of the state, but we are going to insist we get our share of legislation."

Penrose reported the bills out with the highest little racket seen on the bill table. It reminded members of the fierce factional feud which disrupted the session two years ago. The vote to report out affirmatively was twelve to eight.

Purposes of Bills

The Brady bills, three in number, would pull out the Vare-controlled board of registration commissioners in Philadelphia, simplify election machinery and curb the activities of the county commissioners and set back the date of the primary from the third Wednesday in September to the fourth Tuesday.

Vare members charged the bills were factional measures and declared it was an attempt "to win elections in Philadelphia by legislation." Representatives of the House Law and Order Committee, George W. Williams, Tioza; Allan D. Miller, Susquehanna; J. P. Bigler, Mercer; C. G. Corbin, Mifflin, and Senator Plymouth W. Snyder, Blair.

Speeches Nonpartisan

"The speeches were strictly nonpartisan," Wallace said, "but all reflected the general idea that it is time the voters outside of Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, Lancaster, Harrisburg and other cities of the state be heard from in unmistakable terms."

"The Democratic party in Pennsylvania has no standing, and it is time for the appearance of a strong organization that will take a stand against so-called organization measures."

As three Democratic legislators are understood to hold membership in the league, Senate leaders have taken cognizance of the growing impatience among House members and are trying to hustle along adjournment. May 18 was tentatively decided upon as the date to close up the session, but as a result of the unrest it may be set ahead to May 8.

Carbuncle Kills J. C. Packer

Sonbury, Pa., March 12.—James Cameron Packer, fifty-five years old, millionaire lawyer, banker and horseman, died yesterday at his home here. A carbuncle caused his death. Mr. Packer was a director of many banks and owned many farms in this section of the state.

WOMEN TO URGE EIGHT-HOUR BILL

Society Leaders to Aid Trades Union League at Harrisburg

MAURER BACKS MEASURE

Would Increase Production and Help Workers, According to Advocates

Representatives of the Women's Trade Union League of Philadelphia, with delegates from other important civic and labor organizations, will go to Harrisburg Tuesday, March 18, to appear before the Senate Judiciary Special Committee on behalf of the women's eight-hour bill.

The new legislation is in the form of an amendment to the existing women's work law. It provides that "no female shall be employed or be permitted to work in or in connection with any establishment for more than six days in any one week or more than forty-eight hours in any one week, or more than eight hours in any one day; provided that for the sole purpose of making a shorter workday on one day in the week, any female may be employed by such establishment on each of the other five days of the week for a period of time not exceeding eight and three-quarter hours."

State Representative James Maurer, president of the Pennsylvania Federation of Labor, is in charge of the bill at Harrisburg. It is part of the legislative program of the joint legislative committee of the Women's Trade Union League.

This city expects to send a large delegation to the committee hearing to argue in support of the bill. There will be representatives, also, of labor and civic organizations and the Young Women's Christian Association from all parts of the state. It is hoped to get a sufficiently large party together to have a special car on the 10:25 train for Harrisburg Tuesday morning, March 18.

Many to Send Delegates

Various organizations interested in women's welfare and civic progress have been invited by the Women's Trade Union League to send delegates to the hearing. Many of these bodies have already indicated that they will send delegates. Labor is especially interested, and both men and women representatives of the unions will go along to Harrisburg to urge the passage of the measure.

Advocates of the bill are prepared to show that working more than eight hours a day imposes a severe physical handicap on a woman, and, likewise, cuts down her industrial efficiency. To bear out this argument they have prepared statistics furnished by states where an eight-hour law for women already is in force, notably California. The Women's Trade Union League has letters from employers in some of these states setting forth the advantages of the eight-hour law from the employer's point of view. It is expected that a prominent Philadelphia lawyer will accompany the delegation to speak on the legal aspects of the bill. The eight-hour principle already has been declared constitutional by the Supreme Court.

Prominent Women to Aid

Miss Mary Van Kleeck, chief of the Women-in-Industry Service of the Department of Labor at Washington, is expected to appear before the Judiciary Special Committee at the hearing to argue in behalf of the bill. Miss Van Kleeck is one of the most widely-known authorities in the country on matters pertaining to the working woman and her economic surroundings. She took a prominent and effective part in the fight for a woman's eight-hour law in New York state.

The names of other prominent women—many of them of social note in this city—who will go to Harrisburg to help get the bill favorably reported by the Judiciary Special Committee will be announced within a few days. The Civic Club, of this city, has endorsed the bill and is expected to send delegates.

The Women's Trade Union League is planning to have badges for the delegates and possibly banners. When the delegation arrives at Harrisburg it will form in line at the station and march through the streets to the Capitol.

The manufacturers of the state who are opposed to the bill are planning to send a delegation of their own to the hearing in line at the station and march through the streets to the Capitol.

These Durable Soles Cut Shoe Bills Down

Neolin Soles

For use around cement plants and similar places where rough materials grind down soles quickly, I recommend Neolin Soles. They resist wear surprisingly. After working around the cinder department long enough to wear out two pairs of ordinary soles, my Neolin Soles are still as good as new," writes A. F. Miller, superintendent of The Peninsular Portland Cement Company plant in Jackson, Michigan.

It is remarkable how tough and durable Neolin Soles are. They are made, so by science—comfortable and waterproof, too. They come on new shoes in many styles for men, women, and children, and are available everywhere for re-soles. Wear them, and cut your shoe bills down.
