SAFEGUARDS SOUGHT

Moral Duty Continues Until Civil Life Absorbs Fighters, Wood Writes

Mayor Smith today received a letter from Arthur Woods, special assistant to the Secretary of War, asking him to cooperate with the War Department in efforts to safeguard the welfare of the discharged soldiers returning to Philadelphia...

Mr. Woods was police commissioner of New York city during the administration of the late Mayor Mitchell. "The opportunity that the War Department has to activate the enlisted men," Mr. Woods writes, "is unique...

"While the actual responsibility of the War Department does not end until the soldier has been absorbed by normal civil life... Feeling this moral obligation as we do, the purpose of the War Department is to coordinate through its office the various activities of the federal, state and city governments, as well as those of private organizations...

M. E. Conference for Revised League

New Trustees Elected - The following trustees were elected to serve for the term which expires in 1922: John W. Sparks, Thomas Bradley, Justice Alexander Simpson, Jr., Charles Scott, Jr., Albert D. Turner, Jr., William L. Simmons, Horace M. Rumsey, Richard J. Freeman, William Boyd and A. I. Wood...

Bishop Berry presided at the morning session, and the Rev. Dr. Thomas W. McKinney, of Coatesville, opened with a prayer. The Rev. James G. Haffey, of Wallingford and South Media, the Rev. Mr. Stringer, who is seventy-nine years old, was admitted to the conference...

The conference passed a resolution of confidence in the Y. M. C. A. after listening to talks on what that organization had done by Walter A. Wood, the general secretary here, and the Rev. James G. Haffey, a member of the conference, who was a Y. M. C. A. worker in France...

Mr. Wood said it was necessary to charge for commodities sent overseas because of the heavy freight rates. In some instances soldiers thought they were being overcharged because they did not understand the value of French money...

The speaker stated that of 7850 Y. M. C. A. workers only 473 were in this country. The organization has 1800 huts in France, which were described as comfortable and well heated. Coal, he said, cost $70 a ton in France...

Of 700 ministers doing overseas work under the direction of the Y. M. C. A., thirteen have died in service, he said. Of the Y. M. C. A. workers generally, fifty-four have died in France, eleven having been killed in action. Gassed and wounded total twenty-seven. Gallantry in action has earned decorations for 120 workers, he declared...

"The association has done its work," said Mr. Wood, "and we are not discouraged. We intend expanding our work as long as American forces remain overseas..."

The Educational Society will hold its annual dinner at 8 o'clock this evening at 145 North Fifteenth street. The Rev. Dr. Adelbert C. Piper, pastor of the First Church of Wilkes-Barre, will speak on "The Functions of the Educational Society, With Reference to the Century Movement..."

COL. LOGAN FELAND BECOMES BRIGADIER

Marine Officer, Formerly Stationed Here, Promoted to General Rank

Promotion of Colonel Logan Feland, commander of the Fifth Regiment of Marines, now serving as a part of the army of occupation, to brigadier general is announced by Secretary Daniels...

Colonel Feland has four decorations. The Distinguished Service Cross and the Legion of Honor were awarded him for his gallant and heroic services in the French army and corps during the campaigns of the Somme, Belleau Wood and during the Salsburg drive and Champagne drives. He also was cited in American general army orders...

Few officers of the marines are better known to Philadelphians than Brigadier Logan Feland, whose wife, a well-known pianist, lives at the Newport Apartments, and who is situated in the village of Ketchikan, Alaska. General Feland was the first marine officer to land in France, commanding the Fifth Regiment in the thick of the fight along the Marne in the Massachusetts Institute of Technology in Boston, and came here with Mrs. Feland six years ago...

CAMDEN LAWYER GETS NINE YEARS

Court "Regretfully" Sentences Former Bar Member for Embezzlement

CHARGES INVOLVE $5800

Women Among Victims of Harry Whaland, Who Offered No Defense

In the Criminal Court of Camden where he had often urged punishment of offenders, Harry Whaland, a former lawyer, today faced charges of embezzling more than $5800 and was sentenced to from three to nine years in State Prison...

"This is the most burdensome task that has confronted me during the two years I have served on the bench," Judge Kates said as he arose to pronounce sentence on the convicted man. "It is not a very pleasant thing to deprive a man of his liberty, especially if he is a man with whom you have been associated and have known for years..."

PROSECUTOR WALVERTON, before that had said the case was the most distressing one he had ever been called upon to prosecute because of the fact that he, too, had associated with and had known the defendant for many years. The prisoner, who had been greeted cordially by judges, attorneys and fellow members of the profession, today met the cold stare of indifference as his eye searched the room for a friendly smile...

Only a few of them were heard when Mr. Whaland's counsel decided that enough evidence had been presented. Among other complainants against Mr. Whaland were representatives of the Sons of Temperance. The defendant was chairman of the board of trustees and in this capacity, it was charged, he embezzled $18,000. Nellie S. Coles, a widow, of Oaklyn, N. J., declared that Whaland defrauded her of $1000, and Frank J. Richards, of Camden, said the prisoner embezzled $1600 in a mortgage deal. During the testimony Mr. Whaland sat with bowed head. Frequently he twined the witness chair as details of transactions in which he figured were explained by the witnesses. The prisoner, at the advice of counsel, pleaded "non vult," or in plain language that he had no opposition to make. In the heyday of his law practice, Mr. Whaland was regarded as a good fellow and was free with his money. In those days he was highly popular.

Prohibition is one of the subjects most discussed, and opinion seems to be rather well divided among our boys. Some contend they were imposed on by the passing of the amendment, and others say that the "old land in back of the Statue of Liberty" is out of the rut to stay. One of the men mentioned in the letter is Gerald Kerns, 1231 Fairmount avenue, who has served with the Canadian Railway troops for two and a half years. He has been wounded by shrapnel and gassed, but has completely recovered. His brother, Francis J. Kerns, is a corporal in the American army.

HURRY CANADIANS HOME As Result of Riot, Britain Speeds Dominion Men Back

Hatifax, N. S., March 13.—(By A. P.)—As a result of the riot among Canadian troops in Kimmel Camp, Wales, arrangements have been made to use again the big troopships in the Canadian service to carry soldiers back to Canada. The steamship Baltic has left Liverpool with more than 3000 men, and the Carmarion is on the way with nearly 3000. The White Star liner Olympic is scheduled to sail from Liverpool on Saturday with 5000 Canadian troops. All three ships are coming to this port. It is expected all the men in one for disposition in the trial of the action.
