

LEAGUE OF NATIONS MAINTAINS 2 TO 1 LEAD IN POLL OF THE CITY

In a light mood, laughing at the comedy that was being played.
As soon as Miss Moore mentioned league of nations, however, a complete change seemed to sweep over the theatre.

he said, "this is serious and is to be taken seriously by the audience. The EVENING PUBLIC LEDGER has been taking a poll of the city to determine the number of men and women for and against a league of nations. Through the courtesy of Harry T. Jordan, manager of Keith's Theatre, permission has been granted to take a vote here this evening. We will call for applause to determine whether the majority is for or against the league.

Provisions of Covenant to Prevent Future Wars

The league of nations will be administered by an executive council and a permanent secretariat. The executive council shall consist of representatives of the United States, Great Britain, France, Italy and Japan, with four representatives of other states. Nonmembership nations upon giving guarantees of their intention to observe the league's laws shall be admitted. Members are required to submit disputes to the executive council, which may refer the problems to an international court of justice. If a disputant fails to accept the award the executive council shall decide on measures necessary to enforce it. These may take the form of a severance of diplomatic relations, an economic blockade or use of armed forces under direction of the executive council.

between the heads of governments and diplomats of all nations. Third. Because of a better and more perfect understanding such a covenant would produce, consequently the more rapid and perfect blending and harmonizing of all human feelings, the accomplishment of which would prevent war.

When the call for a negative vote was made and fifty-one persons held up their hands. Again the silence was noticeable, as though the theatre-goers were anxious to prevent the possibility of a miscoum on the part of the ushers.

There was a pause. "That vote seems to be so close," said Mr. Morton, "that we will call for a second round of applause. We will call for applause a second time.

No Room for Quitters

Germany colonies in the Pacific and Africa shall be placed under protectorates of nations best suited politically and geographically to administer them. Certain former Turkish territories shall be given the benefit of protectorates on the basis of self-determination. The league shall secure and maintain freedom of transit and equitable treatment for the commerce of all member nations. All previous obligations entered into by member nations inconsistent with the laws of the league are abrogated.

Backs It With Scripture To the Editor of the Evening Public Ledger: Sir—Please read the thirty-first chapter of Jeremiah, "Behold, the days come, saith the Lord, that I will make a New Covenant with the house of Israel, and the house of Judah."

Humanity No Fiction To the Editor of the Evening Public Ledger: Sir—The league of nations should be welcomed by those who do not think humanity a fiction; and understood as the international law, binding all nations in the league to promulgate the rights of every individual to life and property through permanent peace.

Each case bell, a delinquency in view of this international law, be punishable by pecuniary penalties, or summary exclusion from the individual in the league to be policed by an international army, maintained upon the levies of their territorial tax. Bonded admission in a vessel a milliard or equivalent value could figure, and given the jurisdiction of the league of nations, would vouch for compliance with orders from the highest human tribunal, the court of peace. ANDREW G. WAND. Bristol, Pa., March 20.

LEAGUE FRIENDS WIN ON SECOND BALLOTING Two votes taken at the Chestnut Street Opera House showed 400 persons in favor of a league of nations and 200 opposed. A second vote was made necessary because of the hesitancy of those who favored a league.

When the first vote was taken the "anties" outvoted the "pros." The latter, raising their hands, showed hesitancy in raising their hands, and were almost unwilling to be counted after they had committed themselves.

Scores of the Ax-Grinders To the Editor of the Evening Public Ledger: Sir—I take the liberty of registering my approval of the league of nations, even though not a citizen of this city or state, for two reasons: First, I wish to see the peace movement, having found in every way I can. Second, the only ones opposed to it that I have been able to discover are peanut politicians who have axes to grind.

Seeks Disarmament To the Editor of the Evening Public Ledger: Sir—If it is not too late to be counted, you can put me down as voting "yes" on the league of nations, if for no other reason than saving us from the consequences of any league the thirty some odd Senators would have. Anybody knows Lodge, Knox et al have not yet, and no doubt never will, reach the liberal ideas of President Wilson. They represent "special privileges" and are now using it to play "peanut politics" with so to speak. They are going to be badly fooled, if they really believe it is going to get them anywhere.

America Should Stand Alone To the Editor of the Evening Public Ledger: Sir—I approve of anything to stop a war, but not of the present idea. America should stand alone.

Present Three Reasons To the Editor of the Evening Public Ledger: Sir—I am deeply interested in your poll of public interest in a league of nations and desire to register myself as strongly in favor of same, and give three reasons for doing so.

WOMEN SEIZE CHANCE TO GIVE LEAGUE VIEWS That patrons of the Walnut Street Theatre were in favor of a league of nations was made plain when 275 men and women voted for a league and 113 were opposed.

When the first vote was taken the "anties" outvoted the "pros." The latter, raising their hands, showed hesitancy in raising their hands, and were almost unwilling to be counted after they had committed themselves.

READERS DISCUSS LEAGUE OF NATIONS

League Will Make World Better To the Editor of the Evening Public Ledger: Sir—I wish to let you know how glad I am the EVENING PUBLIC LEDGER is supporting so strongly the league of nations. I believe it will turn out to be the very best act of legislation ever enacted to benefit humanity, making better living conditions all over the world.

Lessons Chances of War To the Editor of the Evening Public Ledger: Sir—I am in favor of a league of nations because I think it a step in the direction of lessening the chances of war through co-operation and good will. The late war has proved that we cannot keep out of entangling alliances, therefore we had better ally ourselves in the broadest way possible, with the greatest number of countries possible, in the interest of all.
