

High School Girls Hold Sawdust Ring Circus: Clowns, Bareback Riders and Everything

THELMA GRAY, a young dancer of the ballet at the West Philadelphia High School for Girls' circus yesterday. The show was given under the auspices of the Students' Athletic Association in the school gymnasium.

ELAINE COLL, a fascinating butterfly at "West Philadelphia High's greatest show on earth."

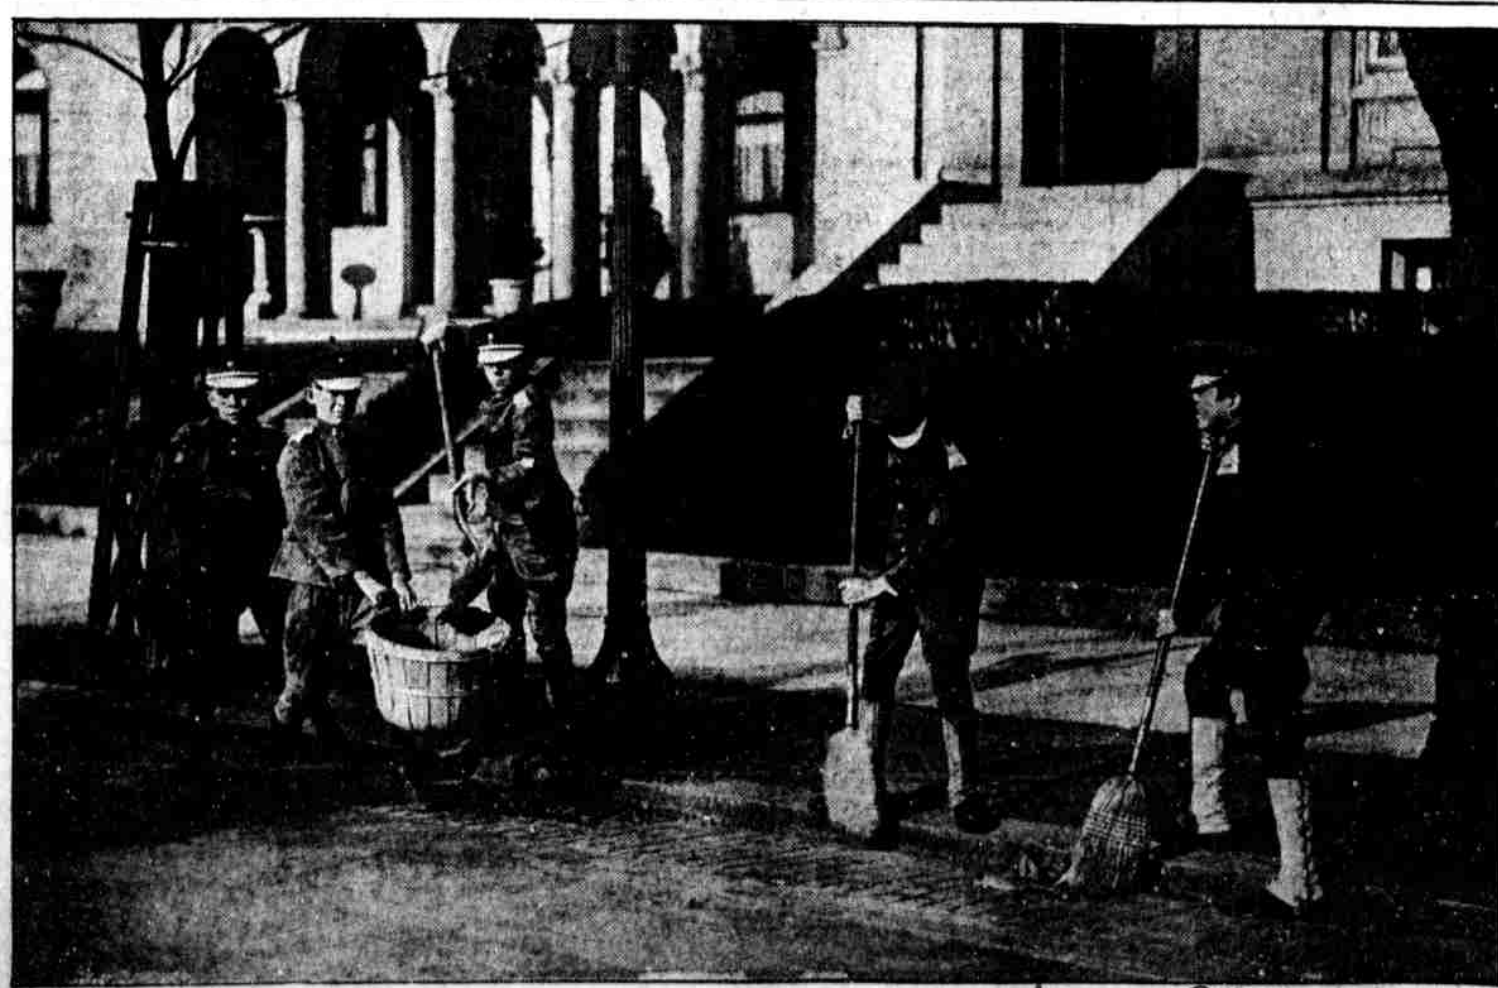

FATIMA, all the way from far Bagdad — Frankie McCall.

FRANCES ENOCHS AND MARIAN AVERY—dancers from old Madrid.

BETTY GARDE, who kept the circus ringside in a roar.

DOROTHY MEISEL, one of the "headliners" at the school girls' circus.

A HUNDRED American Junior Marines in Washington have volunteered to keep part of the highways of Washington clean until the next Congress appropriates funds for purpose. The last Congress adjourned before providing money for keeping the capital's streets clean.

THE AID of this guardian of the peace, detailed to a city park to assist at the official reception to Miss Springtime on her arrival yesterday, is needed here to adjust a bit of mechanism quite necessary to the Springtime celebration.
