

CARICATURE PAINTING PRIZE IS AWARDED

Julian Levys Picture Picked by Jury After Much Head-Scratching

Julian Levy has won the gold prize for his picture "Fishing in Moonlight" in the caricature exhibition of art an artists see it at the Academy of the Fine Arts.

The students had an unusually short time this year to make fun of the prize-winning masterpieces in the annual exhibit, but during the three days given them they cleverly told their versions of the most striking pictures in the gallery.

The exhibition of caricatures was set up in the library and the art jury, composed of Mrs. O'Donnell, the gallery guard; Laughlin Morgan, school member and friend of the students, and William Wisdom, superintendent of packing, went into secret session behind closed doors.

For one hour they held their heads and looked before they decided upon the superlative merits of "Fishing in Moonlight," which shows "old Bill" in a rowboat hauling in a "dressed lady." The picture is the "take-off" on Hale's "Flowers in Moonlight," which won the annual prize in the popular vote this year.

Another version of this picture is called "Smiling in Moonlight," a New Sport. For Safety Use Watering. The second prize of a silver dollar medal was won by Wayne Crumling for his "Conspirators," a charcoal sketch showing art critics in secret session.

By far the most popular picture for funmaking was Carrie's "Marsellaise." One version by Eugene McNeerney showed Carrie Nation rampant, arms outstretched, brandishing a banner over the dead body of "John Barleycorn, who died with his boots on." This version won the third prize of a copper cent medal.

One of the students made a sketch of a union suit hanging on a washline and called it "Winner of the Grr-Grand and Grr-Grand E. V. D. Prize." Another called his caricature "Marcel Aloy, the Strong Viking With Jangling Brothers Circus," which showed a lindy doing heavyweight work with the iron dumbbells. Still another was called "Marcel Aloy," a hair driving.

"Hale's 'Cain' came in for its share of ridicule when a student drew a sketch of the model propped up to endure the strain of the awkward pose. Another called his an "accident for headache powders and marked it 'Don't Hold Your Head. Use Bronco-Seltzer.'"

The Beuterdahl exponent of orange colored mode was made into a billboard poster with the mop artist singing pines of orange paint over the stack of a storm-tossed vessel. "Swat the U-boat" it was called.

The caricatures will be sold at auction at the close of the annual exhibit and will remain on view all this week.

ASK $1,500,000,000 FOR ERIN Demand Made at Bryn Mawr That England Indemnify Ireland

One billion five hundred million dollars indemnity to Ireland from England and Irish independence is demanded in resolutions unanimously adopted at a meeting yesterday in Bryn Mawr.

The amount demanded according to speakers at the meeting, is not commensurate with the damage done by Irish industries and the population lost because of English oppression, but is merely a return for the damage done to Ireland during the last century.

Speakers at the meeting were Michael Donohue, former Congressman; the Rev. Thomas J. Huron, rector of the church of the Annunciation; Dr. Patrick J. Carran, envoy from the Irish republic; and the Rev. John H. Martin, of Malvern.

Copies of the resolution adopted will be sent to President Wilson, to the President of the Senate, to the President of the House, to the chairman of the Committee on Foreign Relations of the Senate and to the chairman of the Committee on Foreign Affairs of the House of Representatives.

Frederick Palmer to Talk War

A lecture by Lieutenant Colonel Frederick Palmer, the noted war correspondent, on "America's Greatest Battle, the Argonne," will be the feature of the week's program arranged by the very Extension Society. He will speak tomorrow evening in Witherspoon Hall.

Club Honors Soldier Member

In honor of Corporal Morris Starr, president of the club, who has recently returned from overseas, an "all American night" was held last evening at the Hebece Gratz Club, 719 North Sixth street.

BELLOHPS FLOCKING BACK TO JOBS FROM OVERSEAS

Veteran Criers of "Mister Yah-Yah" Call About Hotel Corridors Here Again—Some of Them Who Went to War Will Never Return From "Over There"

"Mister Yah-Yah." The classic cry of the veteran bellhop is sounding again in the city hotels. It is a bit hoarse and authoritative as befits ex-corporals and betokens gas victims. But is satisfactory.

For the bellhops are coming back from the war finding their old places occupied during months of absence by youngsters or quite oldsters who know not the subtle way of palming the unexpected tip, or the mysterious name of Mister Yah-Yah.

There are some who are still in France and there are some who have returned to the States. For bellhops seemed to flock to France.

At the Bellevue-Stratford Hotel, for example, nearly every one of the boys was overseas. The vanguard is back. John Pusey, captain of the day trick, was gassed and wounded, is leaning against the marble counter facing Peacock Alley again. Jimmie Brannigan, a bit husky but smiling, is ordering the night boys around once more.

MISS ERNESTINE E. MERGER Who won the highest honor open to a member of the senior class at Bryn Mawr College, the Bryn Mawr European fellowship, Miss Merger had an average of 87.43 on all the courses she has taken. She is a graduate of the Girls' High School of Philadelphia. Her home is 2554 North Eighth street.

Please Tell Me What to Do

By CYNTHIA

To "Lonesome" If it would make you happier to go see this young man's relative do so. The war is over now and there are not so many strange things going on. It seems to me that you should write him and tell him how you feel. Write him a nice cheerful letter now and ask him why he does not write you. Can't ask his relative for his latest address.

He Was Very Wrong Dear Cynthia—I have seen some very interesting problems and thought you might help me.

I met a sailor at a party, a perfect gentleman. Later on he was to get his discharge and we gave him a farewell party to which I was invited. I was knowing that he had asked one of the girls to make sure that I would be there. I went and the evening went on nicely and we had a very pleasant time.

Later on he asked me to be his wife within twenty-four hours. I asked him why didn't he stop to think and come meet my father and ask his consent. I was told that he had asked one of the girls to make sure that I would be there. I went and the evening went on nicely and we had a very pleasant time.

Now don't think this is an old-fashioned idea for I mean that many a girl is married in a hurry. I don't know my ideas for every girl's dream is to get to some extent and I don't know if you are in a hurry to get married. Cynthia I know that this is a rather serious matter, but I will be patiently waiting for your answer and also for the opinions of others. I am. BAHE.

Discouraged Wife Dear Cynthia—I am writing to ask you what you think I should do. I am married and have been since I was fifteen years old. I am twenty-four now and that is the way my husband is. He is a very nice man and I love him very much. I have three children, are five, seven and three years old. I have never had any trouble with him, but I feel that I am not getting any younger and I am not getting any more beautiful. I have a very nice home and I am very happy. I have a very nice home and I am very happy. I have a very nice home and I am very happy.

What Do You Think, Boys and Girls? Dear Cynthia—I notice that most of the letters that are sent to you from the girls are based on the question of love, while those of the boys, to my astonishment, are of the same material. I have heard it said that a girl should be true to herself, but I see that they are not. Well, here's the point. I'm going to ask you to think for me. I'm going to ask you to think for me. I'm going to ask you to think for me.

There are some who are still in France and there are some who have returned to the States. For bellhops seemed to flock to France.

At the Bellevue-Stratford Hotel, for example, nearly every one of the boys was overseas. The vanguard is back. John Pusey, captain of the day trick, was gassed and wounded, is leaning against the marble counter facing Peacock Alley again. Jimmie Brannigan, a bit husky but smiling, is ordering the night boys around once more.

One of the crowd will not come back. Harry Irelan, top kick of a company in the famed Ninth Infantry, was killed at Chateau-Thierry. Bill Jones, who is limping around the quiet streets of Carlisle, where he is convalescent in the army hospital, saw Sergeant Irelan killed by a shell fifteen feet from the jumping off place the day of the big push.

Two more of the lads are on their way home. Nick Turner and Jim Smythe, both in Company L of the 146th Infantry, are on their way with the returning Thirty-seventh division. William McBride, who was reported missing in the fall, now is known to be alive and well with the 156th Field Artillery in France.

Pusey was one of the first to get back. He landed on January 9, con-

WANT PIE FOR BREAKFAST? IT'S OKEH, SA YS PROFESSOR

Jefferson College Expert Scouts Dyspepsia Hoodoo—Volunteers Eat Morning Mince and Hot Bread Calore—They Live and Thrive on This Diet

Pie is easily digested and makes good breakfast food. That is an after-the-war truth, and while it may blast the pet theories of mother and sister and the others, who for personal reasons object to the serving of apple and pumpkin creations at the breakfast table, it is the truth.

Since our childhood days we have been taught that pie is a "horrid thing" to serve in the morning, that it ruins the digestive organs and that only simon-pure New Englanders indulge in that indoor sport.

But the war is over and many of the reforms established before and during the war are being swept into the discard.

That is what Philip E. Hawk, professor of physiological chemistry at Jefferson Medical College, is doing, and as a starter he opens up a barrage on mother's iron-clad pie rules.

30 Years Investigation For nearly twenty years Professor Hawk has been making extensive food investigations. During that period he has made thousands of tests, and to arrive at accurate and definite conclusions he has conducted these tests with the aid of men and women.

He has drawn upon athletes, office workers, coat handlers and professional men, and has done this for the express purpose of determining what the human stomach actually thinks of the common foods which enter it through the diet.

He has written a book on the subject and the most refreshing feature of this unique volume is that the author does not tell us what we can't eat, but actually tells us what we can eat.

Naturally, the professor has upset the pet theories of physicians, dietitians, nurses, social workers and culinary reformers, but he puts it, "The people ought to know a few plain truths about their foods."

The average fellow will admit that he likes pie for breakfast, but will tell you that pie in the morning is bad. He will not, however, admit that he is very low bolstered by his argument by telling you that mother imparted that illuminating information to him in early childhood.

Perhaps mother didn't care to make pies in who'sale lots and just invented that story, but it has been told so often and with such maternal emphasis that you actually believed it.

Professor Hawk blasts the pie theory. He gave breakfast pie to the men who volunteered for the tests, and this is what he believes.

"There is no good dietetic reason why a well baked pie should not be served at breakfast, and particularly fruit pie, which may be substituted for fresh fruit and then deceiving her in the end it is best that you know her in an indirect way. For once fooled a girl's heart becomes hardened and she may try to fool a number of good fellows in return for the mean trick you played on her.

Now don't think this is an old-fashioned idea for I mean that many a girl is married in a hurry. I don't know my ideas for every girl's dream is to get to some extent and I don't know if you are in a hurry to get married. Cynthia I know that this is a rather serious matter, but I will be patiently waiting for your answer and also for the opinions of others. I am. BAHE.

Discouraged Wife Dear Cynthia—I am writing to ask you what you think I should do. I am married and have been since I was fifteen years old. I am twenty-four now and that is the way my husband is. He is a very nice man and I love him very much. I have three children, are five, seven and three years old. I have never had any trouble with him, but I feel that I am not getting any younger and I am not getting any more beautiful. I have a very nice home and I am very happy. I have a very nice home and I am very happy.

What Do You Think, Boys and Girls? Dear Cynthia—I notice that most of the letters that are sent to you from the girls are based on the question of love, while those of the boys, to my astonishment, are of the same material. I have heard it said that a girl should be true to herself, but I see that they are not. Well, here's the point. I'm going to ask you to think for me. I'm going to ask you to think for me. I'm going to ask you to think for me.

There are some who are still in France and there are some who have returned to the States. For bellhops seemed to flock to France.

At the Bellevue-Stratford Hotel, for example, nearly every one of the boys was overseas. The vanguard is back. John Pusey, captain of the day trick, was gassed and wounded, is leaning against the marble counter facing Peacock Alley again. Jimmie Brannigan, a bit husky but smiling, is ordering the night boys around once more.

One of the crowd will not come back. Harry Irelan, top kick of a company in the famed Ninth Infantry, was killed at Chateau-Thierry. Bill Jones, who is limping around the quiet streets of Carlisle, where he is convalescent in the army hospital, saw Sergeant Irelan killed by a shell fifteen feet from the jumping off place the day of the big push.

Two more of the lads are on their way home. Nick Turner and Jim Smythe, both in Company L of the 146th Infantry, are on their way with the returning Thirty-seventh division. William McBride, who was reported missing in the fall, now is known to be alive and well with the 156th Field Artillery in France.

Pusey was one of the first to get back. He landed on January 9, con-

PALESTINE NO REFUGE Professor Jastrow Says Holy Land Can't Accommodate Oppressed

Palestine, the Holy Land cannot be used as a land in which to establish the oppressed Jews of Europe, said Prof. M. Jastrow Jr., of the University of Pennsylvania, who spoke at the meeting of the Society for Ethical Culture last night at Broad Street Theatre.

Professor Jastrow said that Palestine is but a trifle larger than the state of Maryland and that it could accommodate only 1,500,000 people. With more than 700,000 inhabitants there already, a large percentage of whom are Jews, and with 13,000,000 Jews scattered throughout the world, he said the other states of Europe, he said the impracticability of the scheme could readily be seen.

He said that the Holy Land is a very fertile and beautiful country, but that it is not a land of refuge for the oppressed Jews of Europe. He said that the Holy Land is a very fertile and beautiful country, but that it is not a land of refuge for the oppressed Jews of Europe.

He said that the Holy Land is a very fertile and beautiful country, but that it is not a land of refuge for the oppressed Jews of Europe. He said that the Holy Land is a very fertile and beautiful country, but that it is not a land of refuge for the oppressed Jews of Europe.

He said that the Holy Land is a very fertile and beautiful country, but that it is not a land of refuge for the oppressed Jews of Europe. He said that the Holy Land is a very fertile and beautiful country, but that it is not a land of refuge for the oppressed Jews of Europe.

He said that the Holy Land is a very fertile and beautiful country, but that it is not a land of refuge for the oppressed Jews of Europe. He said that the Holy Land is a very fertile and beautiful country, but that it is not a land of refuge for the oppressed Jews of Europe.

He said that the Holy Land is a very fertile and beautiful country, but that it is not a land of refuge for the oppressed Jews of Europe. He said that the Holy Land is a very fertile and beautiful country, but that it is not a land of refuge for the oppressed Jews of Europe.

WANAMAKER'S | DOWNSTAIRS STORE | WANAMAKER'S

WANAMAKER'S DOWN STAIRS STORE

Jersey Suits Have a Gay Springtime Air

They breathe of good times out of doors, of jolly tramps along white roads and all the pleasant things to be done on the gold and blue days of early Spring. The suits themselves are colorful and often have contrasting collars, cuffs and pocket tops of jersey or of brushed wool.

They are of sturdy weight plain white linen with hemstitched hems. (Central)

In Serge, Gabardine and Silvertone

There are tailored street suits made in cherring ways. A pretty serge in navy, taupe, brown and black has a jacket which is tucked to the belt and lined with pink silk.

They are of soft, heavy quality satin in beautiful light or dark changeable shades. The flounce is tucked and finished with an accordion-pleated ruffle. $6.50. (Central)

Spring Will Reveal a Chair or Two That Needs Re-covering

Tapestry in good verdure patterns, 30 inches wide, $2.50, $3 and $3.50 a yard. Plain - color velour, in blue, brown, old rose and green, $2.75 and $3 a yard, 60 inches wide. (Chestnut)

$2 Silks for Becoming Easter Gowns

They are all 35 inches wide, and any one will make a fascinating frock—and Easter is less than four weeks off. All-silk dress satin with a soft sheen comes in delightful street styles.

They are of soft, heavy quality satin in beautiful light or dark changeable shades. The flounce is tucked and finished with an accordion-pleated ruffle. $6.50. (Central)

Beads Are as Gay as Ever

—gayer, truth to tell, for more startling and brighter combinations come in every day. A woman may have several strings, in various combinations to match her frocks at little outlay, if she chooses.

A Top for the Bag You're Planning

Metal frames in many different styles, with or without chains, are 50c to $3.50. Shell frames in imitation tortoise shell, amber or white are $1 to $2.

House Dresses Special at $3

They are of striped, checked and plaid ginghams. Some are in the straight Billie Burke style trimmed with white collars and cuffs, and others, with waist lines, are trimmed with plain-color collars and cuffs.

Here Are Easter Frocks for Junior Girls

Things for girls of 8 to 14 are unusually pretty this year. And the young girl can be outfitted in becoming clothes in the Down Stairs Junior Store.

Taffeta Frocks

In a great number of youthful styles are in dark colors—plenty of dark blues—sometimes combined with Georgette crepe. Some have contrasting collars and embroidery. $16.50 to $25.

Fluffy White Frocks

for confirmation are in pretty styles. The pretty nets are trimmed with ribbon and much ruffling and shirring. The frock sketched, for girls of 14 and 16, is $11.50.

Plenty of Wash Frocks of chambray or pique are in many styles from $3 to $5.50. (Central)

Men's Practical Linen Handkerchiefs 35c

They are of sturdy weight plain white linen with hemstitched hems. (Central)

Umbrellas $2—and April Near

Covers are of American taffeta (cotton) mounted on strong paragon frames. The handles for women's use are in plain mission styles, some trimmed with bakelite with silk wrist cords or bakelite rings. Handles for men are mission or crook shapes. (Market)

Small Boys' Hats in Easter Array

A bright-eyed little man, accompanied by his mother, came into the Store the other day and asked: "Have you got Spring hats for boys? Sister has hers and I want to get mine today, too."

They are of soft, heavy quality satin in beautiful light or dark changeable shades. The flounce is tucked and finished with an accordion-pleated ruffle. $6.50. (Central)

To Wear With Light Frocks

There is a soft white silk petticoat with a double panel in back and front and a hemstitched tuck at the bottom. It is much more satisfactory to wear one of these (especially under a narrow skirt), and with light frocks when more than one thickness is needed. $5.

A Marabou Scarf

is just what many women want for Springtime for a little warmth around the neck and shoulders. Stoles and capes of plain marabou or of marabou combined with ostrich are in the natural shade, mole or black. They are all lined with silk and have silk ends. $5 to $12.75. (Central)

Wonderfully Good Frocks at Less Than $25

It is good to know that a fresh Spring frock need not cost a great deal and that good style can be had in frocks of moderate price.

For as little as $13.50 there is a navy blue taffeta frock with Georgette crepe sleeves and a bit of braiding on the bodice.

At $15 there is a wide assortment of silks and some pretty serges. Among the serge frocks is one in navy blue which is trimmed with black silk braid and has a collar piped with rose silk.

Several new models in taffeta show double-tier skirts and skirts with overskirts. Fresh foun-tains in blue and white combinations are also in this group at $16.75.

The frock that is sketched is of ravy serge with an overskirt and sleeves of Georgette crepe trimmed with bands of black silk braid. The broad belt boasts a little knot of flowers. $23.50.

These are but a few of the many, many pretty frocks of silk and serge that are to be had here at these low prices. The Dress Store is a fine place to refresh yourself with Spring. (Market) are an excellent choice for wear with tailored sports suits of tweed and jersey. New ones present a cheery array of gay stripes on white grounds. All of them have collars which can be worn high or low and there are all sizes, 34 to 46, among them. $3.75. (Market)

Tub Silk Waists

Curtain Scrim Special at 20c

This is a good quality in white, cream or ecru with fancy border. (Chestnut)

Well Worth Looking Up

in the Down Stairs Coat Store are these excellent Spring things: —a navy blue serge dolman trimmed with braid and marked at $16. (Sketched.) —a black taffeta coat of good quality which is to be had in sizes up to 46. It will appeal to matronly women and is but $16.50.

—a serge cape with a yoke back, also $16.50. —a soft velour dolman with good lines, in taupe, tan and Pekin, at $19.75.

Between $19.75 and $29.75 there are remarkably attractive wraps, many of them marked at special prices. Capes and dolmans are of suede velour, silvertone and serge with pretty linings of figured silks. They are in fresh Spring colorings and there are models for both women and young women. Other delightful Spring wraps in a fine and cheery showing at $32.50 to $145. (Market)

Advertisement for Resinol Milk Exchange. Includes text: 'THE PHILADELPHIA MILK EXCHANGE BOTTLE EXCHANGE 115-21 Poular Street Tel. Pop. 155-2437' and an image of a milk bottle.

Advertisement for Jersey Suits. Includes text: 'Jersey Suits Have a Gay Springtime Air' and an image of a woman in a suit.

Advertisement for Spring Frocks. Includes text: 'Spring Will Reveal a Chair or Two That Needs Re-covering' and an image of a chair.

Advertisement for $2 Silks. Includes text: '$2 Silks for Becoming Easter Gowns' and an image of a silk dress.

Advertisement for Beads. Includes text: 'Beads Are as Gay as Ever' and an image of a woman wearing beads.

Advertisement for House Dresses. Includes text: 'House Dresses Special at $3' and an image of a house dress.

Advertisement for Junior Girls Frocks. Includes text: 'Here Are Easter Frocks for Junior Girls' and an image of a young girl in a frock.

Advertisement for Taffeta Frocks. Includes text: 'Taffeta Frocks' and an image of a woman in a taffeta frock.

Advertisement for Wash Frocks. Includes text: 'Plenty of Wash Frocks' and an image of a woman in a wash frock.

Advertisement for Men's Practical Linen Handkerchiefs. Includes text: 'Men's Practical Linen Handkerchiefs 35c' and an image of a handkerchief.

Advertisement for Umbrellas. Includes text: 'Umbrellas $2—and April Near' and an image of an umbrella.

Advertisement for Small Boys' Hats. Includes text: 'Small Boys' Hats in Easter Array' and an image of a boy's hat.

Advertisement for To Wear With Light Frocks. Includes text: 'To Wear With Light Frocks' and an image of a woman in a light frock.

Advertisement for A Marabou Scarf. Includes text: 'A Marabou Scarf' and an image of a marabou scarf.

Advertisement for Wonderfully Good Frocks. Includes text: 'Wonderfully Good Frocks at Less Than $25' and an image of a woman in a frock.

Advertisement for Tub Silk Waists. Includes text: 'Tub Silk Waists' and an image of a woman in a tub silk waist.

Advertisement for Curtain Scrim. Includes text: 'Curtain Scrim Special at 20c' and an image of a curtain.

Advertisement for Awnings and Canvas Covers. Includes text: 'Awnings, Water-Proof Canvas Covers for every purpose' and an image of an awning.