

PENN SHOWS REGULAR JOHNNY KILBANE WALLOP IN FIRST GAME AGAINST URSINUS

A'S FIRST SUNDAY ATTRACTION IN N. Y.

Mackmen Will Face Yankees at Polo Grounds April 27—Game Moved Up a Day

GREAT THING—BARROW

Jacksonville, Fla., April 9.—Colonel Ruppert, Charles Ebbets, Miller Huggins, and Ed Barrow, manager of the Red Sox, who are persistently manning the Giants, all had something to say yesterday, telling how well satisfied they are that the Sunday baseball bill has passed at Albany. One of the most pleased of the lot was Ebbets at winning what he termed "my long fight for Sunday ball in New York."

"We are going right ahead with our plans for Sunday ball," said Colonel Ruppert, of the Yankees, "and will be ready for the first Sunday game, which, according to present arrangements, will be with the Athletics at the Polo Ground on April 27. These are due for their first game there on the 28th, and that game will be moved forward."

"Sunday ball is going to be a big thing for New York, I believe, and we expect the crowds will show how much it is wanted. The city needs Sunday ball."

YANKEES TAKE LEAD

Peck's Triple Decides Fifth Game With Dodgers

Jacksonville, Fla., April 9.—With the Dodgers leading, 4 to 3, in the seventh inning here yesterday, two out on bases full and the count "2 and 2" on Peckinpough, Roger caught one of Burleigh Grimes' shoots on the seam and cleaned up the paths with a long triple over Zach Wheat's head in left field.

SALLEE IN HOSPITAL

Star Southpaw to Undergo "Hot-Air" Treatment

Cincinnati, April 9.—Pitcher Harry ("Slim") Sallee, of the Cincinnati Nationals, has been ordered to a hospital by Dr. H. H. Hines, the Cincinnati club's physician, where he will undergo the "hot-air cylinder" treatment for a strained muscle on the right side of the spine.

Jean Dubuc May Pitch for Giants This Season

Gainesville, Fla., April 9.—Jean Dubuc, the famous old Detroit pitcher, who is here with the Red Sox, may become a member of the Giants' pitching staff. Jean finished last season with the Sox, but he is the property of the Salt Lake City Club. Barrow would like to hold him, but demurs at the purchase price asked by Walter McCredie, and with his consent McCredie opened negotiations last night with the western manager. Something may come of it.

MACKS AND ORIOLES END SERIES TODAY

By Winning Yesterday Athletics Are Sure of Copping the Honors

FOUR HITS FOR BURNS

Connie Mack's bunch of ambitious athletes won their first series of the season yesterday. They clinched the series of games with the Baltimore club by copping the fourth contest by the score of 11-7.

There will be a game today out at Shibe Park between the same teams, but it will mean nothing in the young lives of the players, for Connie's gang have the laurels already locked away in the safe.

The game yesterday was replete with good and bad playing. At times the players made almost impossible stops and throws, only to fall down on an easy chance the following inning. The warm weather had a pleasing effect on the hitting, and twenty hits in all were registered.

Flora George Burns, who spends his afternoons around the initial sock for the Mackmen, was the high light in the offensive. George waltzed to the plate five times and on four occasions came through with a safe hit. The first two were singles while the third and fourth were doubles. He was over-anxious in his final stand and rolled an easy grounder.

Connie was given a ray of hope in the "Tilly" Walker mystery yesterday. The star outfielder didn't show up, but his trunk did, so Connie is expecting "Tilly" to make an appearance sometime today.

Donovan Signs Shipyard Star

Allan Josephs, the shortstop of the Chester Shipbuilding team of last year, has re-signed with the "Shipyard" (Donovan) manager of the Newark International league, instructing him to report in Newark, N. J., today.

Appel Wins Another Title

New York, April 9.—John W. Appel, Jr. won the squash tennis title of the Harvard Club by defeating R. J. Colman in the final of the tournament in straight games. The score was 15-0, 15-0, 15-4.

AT LAST PENN HAS HARD-HITTING CLUB

Quakers Look Like Sluggers, Collecting Fifteen Hits Against Ursinus—Red and Blue Crews Leave Tomorrow for Annapolis

PENN bats played a merry, loud and continuous tune on the old horsehide in the opening game of the season on Franklin Field yesterday afternoon, and little Ursinus' reputation was smeared to the extent of a 14-1 defeat.

If the batting manners of Roy Thomas's new ball club can be taken as a criterion of the form which will be displayed throughout the season, it can be said that at last Penn has a hard-hitting aggregation, a rarity in college baseball.

It is seldom that a college produces a team that can hit. Such clubs in the collegiate field are few and far between. The last one that appeared in the Quaker stadium, as far as we can remember, was Joe Dugan's Holy Cross nine that shell-holed the outfield with base hits three years ago.

Every One Hits
There were fifteen safeties gathered off the delivery of Paul Isenberg by the Quakers yesterday and every man in the Penn box score came through with one or more wallops with the exception of Carmack, who substituted for Dan McNicol at first base in the ninth inning, but did not get a turn at bat.

Danny McNicol, and Farnan Warwick led the assault on Isenberg with three safeties each. Paddy Bohan had a perfect day with two bingles out of two official trips to the plate, and Johnny Titzel, the portside pitching ace, contributed a pair of doubles. Tilly Walker had only one safety, but acting in accordance with the disposition of his namesake, he came through with a home run when two of his teammates were on the runways.

Crews Leave Tomorrow

It does not necessarily follow that because Penn hit Isenberg that the Red and Blue is going to have a great hitting club, but confidence counts for much, and the Quakers sure did collect enough safe-hits yesterday to keep from getting plate shy.

Coach Joe Wright will send the Penn Varsity crew through its final spin on the Schuylkill this afternoon in preparation for the Eastern League to Meet.

Springfield, Mass., April 9.—A meeting of the club owners and directors of the Eastern Baseball League has been called here Thursday. It is expected that some definite organization will be perfected with two new members in the association.

Puryear Shades Wolfe

Peoria, Ill., April 9.—Earl Puryear, of Tulsa, Okla., gained a popular decision over Jack Wolfe, of Cleveland, in ten rounds last night.

No Wonder Ruth Chased Bush Out of the Park

Babe Ruth will never win a prize for beauty. He is in no more danger of being sought by the moving picture companies to portray the handsome hero of the films than is Kid Broad.

While the Red Sox were in Tampa, Joe Bush christened Babe "Tarzan." The big pitcher sort of liked the name at first. It struck him as being sort of dignified.

Unfortunately the movie "Tarzan of the Apes" came to Tampa and Babe Ruth saw the advertisements for it. So the next day when the Boston players reported for morning practice and Bush called Ruth "Tarzan," Babe grabbed a bat and chased Joe out of the ball park.

LEW SHAW, FAMOUS BILLIARD PLAYER, IS VICTIM OF "FLU"

Well Known Throughout the Country as Fancy-Shot Billiardist

Chicago, April 9.—Lew Shaw, for years famous as an exhibition billiard player, died yesterday in a hospital here of influenza.

He was born in Elgin, Ill., sixty-three years ago, and in his early years as an expert billiard player competed in matches, the most notable being his defeat of Jake Schaefer in Washington, D. C., in 1876, winning by 600 to 547.

As a fancy shot billiardist he toured the country and also appeared before King Edward in London.

AMATEURS SELECTED FOR BOXING TOURNEY

Donze, Cassidy and Lagonia to Compete in Scandinavia Meet

CROWN OTHER CHAMPIONS

Boston, April 9.—Aston Donze, New Orleans, 115 pounds; Frank B. Cassidy, New York, 135 pounds, and Sam Lagonia, New York, 158 pounds, earned the right to represent the United States in the international boxing tournament in Scandinavia this summer by winning the championships in their classes last night at the annual competition of the Amateur Athletic Union.

Donze defeated James Tomasulo, New York, who was the only 1918 champion entered in this year's bout.

E. P. Egan, of Denver, a member of the 1921 class of the Sheffield Scientific School, at Yale, won the heavyweight championship by defeating James J. Tully, of New York.

Egan recently was discharged from the service. He also took part in the 175-pound class, in which he was defeated in a scintillating round by Al Roche, of Boston, who won the final in that division.

Other champions are: One hundred and eight-pound class, D. Kamins, New York; 125-pound class, William P. Corbett, Boston; 145-pound class, David Rosenberger, New York; Frank Grayson, of Pittsburgh, who was entered in three classes, worked hard to win a title for that city, but failed. He faced Al Roche, of Boston, to an extra round in the 175-pound class final.

PAIGE

The Most Beautiful Car in America

THE best proof of the popularity of Paige Cars is the shortage of Paige Cars. We mean that literally—a shortage of New Paiges and Used Paiges.
