Sanguinary Clash Followed Discovery of Carranza Soldiers Among Rebel Forces

ENTRANCE GAINED BY RUSE

By the Associated Press Mexico City, April 12.-General Emiliano Zapata, the rebel leader of southern Mexico, news of whose death reached this city vesterday, was killed Thursday morning during an engagement between his troops and government soldiers who had by a ruse entered his camp at Hacienda Chinemeca, near the village of Petlalcingo, Morelos.

The government soldiers, under the command of General Pablo, Gonzales, planned to capture the rebel chief and pretended they were a part of the Fortieth Regiment, which had come to join Zapata's forces. When Zapata was asked to review the men he became suspicious and took with him a large number of rebel troops. This prevented the carrying out of the plan and resulted in a general fight. Zapata fell with many of his followers. A number of government soldiers also lost their lives.

The government is taking unusual precautions to establish the fact of the rebel leader's death. Official photographs have been taken of the body. which have been viewed by many who knew Zapata, and depositions have been required from those taking part in the battle.

The body will be buried in the Zapatista tomb at Tlaltizapan, Morelos, which was erected some years ago to receive the bodies of all those who signed the Zapatista covenant, known as the 'plan of Alaya." In this tomb are buried many rebel leaders who have died during the last ten years, including Eufemio Zapata, brother of the chief-

Little is known of Zapata's early life except that he was born about thirty-eight years ago. He began life as a groom in the employ of Ignacio De La Porre, nephew of the late President Porfirio Diaz, who owned one of the largest estates in Morelos. He became a revolutionist for the purpose of se curing reforms in the laws pertaining to landed estates which would favor the peons, but later his fight against the government degenerated into an indiscriminate slaughter of every one except Zanatistas.
