Deaths of a Day

DR. EDWARD A. PALMER

Retired Dentist Dies at Son's Home

Dr. Edward A. Palmer, a retired dentist, died yesterday at the home of a son, Dr. E. Carlton Palmer, also a dentist, of 1311 North Broad street, after two years' illness.

Doctor Palmer was born in Massachusetts seventy-five years ago, studied dentistry in Connecticut and practiced his profession from 1873 until 1914, when he retired. From 1881 until 1902, when he came to Philadelphia, he lived in the West. Besides a son, Doctor Palmer is survived by one daughter, Mrs. W. C. Allen, of Blair, Neb.

Colonel Charles F. Muller

Colonel Charles F. Muller, a veteran of the Civil War and for many years a resident of Philadelphia, died suddenly of heart disease at his home in Fayette, Idaho, last Friday. He was seventy-five years old. For the last ten years he had lived in Fayette, where he owned a large fruit storage plant. The body is being sent to this city and is expected to arrive tomorrow. The funeral will be held Saturday from the Oliver H. Bair Building, 1820 Chestnut street. Interment will be in Woodlands Cemetery. According to information received by George R. Park, of Wayne, Pa., a brother-in-law, Colonel Muller and his wife were preparing to visit their only son, Charles F. Muller, Jr., at the Seattle Military Academy, when he was stricken.

Mrs. Katherine C. Browning

Mrs. Katherine Campbell Browning, wife of Charles H. Browning, of Ardmore, died in the University Hospital, Tuesday evening. She had been ill four months. She is survived by her husband and one daughter, Miss Roberta Browning. Mrs. Browning was sixty-two years of age. She was well known in musical circles of this city and up to the time of her illness was very active in war-relief work.

William F. Hennings

After an illness extending over one year, William F. Hennings, sixty-nine years old, died yesterday at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Gilbert Spruance, 6538 North Twelfth street. He was a partner in the firm of Hennings Brothers, 1609 North Fifth street, with which he had been associated for more than thirty years.

CITE FIVE MORE PHILADELPHIANS

Captain, Two Corporals and Two Privates Get Awards for Valor

Crawling through a boche-infested wood to get information, capturing a machine gun single-handed and rescuing wounded men under fire were among the heroic exploits of five Philadelphians, just awarded the Distinguished Service Cross.

The five local fighters decorated in the name of the President of the United States are:

- Company Thomas Bailey, 5325 Lena street.
Corporal Edward J. Jordan, 4511 Merion avenue.
Corporal Joseph J. Dunn, 2721 George street.
Private William J. Nixon, 2324 Waverly street.
Private William Ziegler, 858 North Fourth street.

All five were members of the same battalion of the 111th Infantry, formerly the Sixth Regiment of Pennsylvania's National Guard. Jordan was a member of Company M, Dunn of Company K and Nixon of the Sanitary Detachment.

When Dunn was cited he was a private, but later was advanced to corporal. The citation of Captain Bailey, 'for extraordinary heroism in action near Fismette, France, September 4, 1918, relates that when the advance was held up for lack of information Captain Bailey, then a first lieutenant, volunteered to get the required information.

'Crawling 100 yards across an open space and then traversing 200 yards of woods infested by the enemy, he gained and returned with information of the greatest value, making possible a subsequent and successful attack,' the citation asserts.

Corporal Jordan's citation follows: 'For extraordinary heroism in action near Fismette, France, August 12, 1918. Having learned from a raid of the previous night that a comrade was lying wounded in front of his lines, Corporal Jordan set out to rescue him after seeing two other men killed in the attempt. Crawling in full view of the enemy, he was shot through the leg when a storm of fire was directed at him, but he struggled on and brought his man to safety.'

Corporal Dunn's citation: Private Joseph J. Dunn, Company

Parcels May Now Go to Boys Overseas

Here's welcome news for relatives and friends here of boys overseas: Packages which do not exceed seven pounds in weight can be sent to soldiers, sailors and civilians who are with the American forces in France.

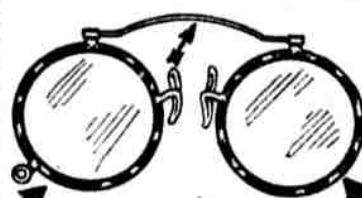

This is in accordance with an order issued by the Postmaster General. Previous to the issuance of this order packages could not be sent to men overseas without the approval of their commanding officers.

The new ruling provides that packages are not to be registered, insured or sent C. O. D.

K. 111th Infantry, (A. S. No. 1245747). For extraordinary heroism in action in the Argonne forest, France, September 26, 1918. Having become separated from his combat group, Private Dunn was making his way back to our lines when he came upon a machine-gun crew of four of the enemy. Rushing toward them with his pistol and hand grenades he demanded and accomplished their surrender. He returned with the captured men and gun.

Private Nixon's citation: Private William J. Nixon, Sanitary Detachment, 111th Infantry (A. S. No. 1243118). For extraordinary heroism in action near Fismette, France, August 10-12, 1918. Seeing five of our men lying wounded on the enemy side of the street in the town of Fismette, Private Nixon voluntarily attempted the rescue of them, despite the fact that the enemy was pouring a deluge of machine-gun fire on the location. He organized a counter-attacking force and repeatedly exposed himself in attacking the nest, finally succeeding in his mission of rescuing the wounded.

WORKED HALF NIGHT TO FEED HER BABIES

Widow's Heroic Struggle One of Many Reported to Mothers' Assistance Fund

At ten cents a waist, how many georgette waists does a woman have to head in a week's time to support herself and two children?

A widow who was left with two children, one four years old and another two, worked until 1 and 2 o'clock in the morning trying to solve the problem.

At the meeting of the board of trustees of the Mothers' Assistance Fund yesterday nine cases were examined and added to the list of widows which the fund helps by monthly allowances.

One of the cases put through was that of a widow with three children who tried to take care of her family by playing a church organ three Sundays a month. Until recently the woman had been able to go outside her home to earn a living, but when her mother died of influenza there was no one to take care of the three children, all under ten years of age.

Another case which was passed was that of a widow with seven children. This woman was dependent upon an artist father-in-law, whose artistic temperament could not be counted upon for the regular support of the family.

The Mothers' Assistance Fund has a bill in the Legislature asking for permission to increase the monthly allowance to widows. Under the present provision a widow with two children is allowed $20 a month, and $5 a month more for each child. The new bill increases this amount to $30 a month for two children and $10 a month more for each additional child.

Why is Big Business Sinister?

Why does the public regard Big Business with apprehension and disfavor?

Chiefly, perhaps, because normally the "interests" are inarticulate—silent. Presumably, therefore, up to some nefarious scheme that will not stand publicity.

The long stillnesses are broken occasionally by a sudden, naive "campaign to the people" by some corporation whose hide is being pinched in the gate of legislation at the moment.

All the other elements in the usual mix-up are constantly at work expounding. Labor is always at it. The politician lives by repetition.

The trust magnate alone remains silent until the eleventh hour and then tries to get his message across with one long shot.

Not so all corporations. The Telephone Company—has it not everlastingly built good-will in these last ten years?

Won't you be delighted when you can get back to the old-time service rendered by this great and humanly understandable corporation?

And why have you such a feeling of friendly understanding toward Mr. Vail's company?
