LIKE OVERSEAS CRAFT

Commercial Museum Exhibit
Has Smaller Model of Type
Navy Will Use

A big seaplane, similar to the type of craft on which the hopes of the United States navy are based for the proposed flight across the Atlantic ocean, is being exhibited at the naval aircraft exhibition in the Commercial Museum, Thirty-fourth street below Spruce.

The machine is the F-5-L. Victory Liberty Loan workers at the exhibition explain that while the F-5-L is smaller than the machines being perfected by the Navy Department for the ocean flight, the details of construction and equipment are virtually the same. Five hundred of the machines were ordered by the Navy Department for use overseas. They cost $40,000 each, and many of them have been completed. The contracts on some were cancelled after the armistice was signed.

The type that will attempt the ocean flight is the NC-1. It will be equipped with three or four Liberty motors, while the F-5-L type carries only two. The F-5-L can make from ninety to a hundred miles an hour. It is expected the NC-1 will be able to travel at a speed of at least 140 miles an hour. Officials of the exhibition explain that the smaller plane will stay aloft in any sea, no matter how rough the water, and that it is powerful enough to rise again despite any weather conditions. The reason for making the NC-1 larger is because the flight will be so difficult. The F-5-L carries a crew of five men. It has not been decided definitely how many men will form the crew of the naval planes that will attempt the transatlantic flight.

No Central Body Support for General Protest Planned for May 1

DELEGATES RAP AGITATORS

The American Federation of Labor is not supporting the call for a general strike throughout the country on May 1 as a means of voicing the protest of labor against the imprisonment of Socialist Debs. It has no sympathy whatsoever with such a movement, but is firmly opposed to it.

That was the unanimous declaration of the Philadelphia Central Labor Union at its meeting yesterday afternoon. Edward Kennan, president of the union, said no trades union affiliated with the central body had anything to do with scattering anarchistic literature around the city, although it had been charged that some were engaged in that work, and no real union man would attend any of the meetings advertised in that literature.

"The men and women affiliated with the Central Labor Union of Philadelphia," he said, "are not I. W. W.'s or Bolsheviks, and every delegate who attended today's meeting, and I believe we had every craft represented by one or more of its delegates, went on record against the strike called for May 1. It was alleged that a carpenters' union of the city had voted to strike. If such is the case, it does not belong to our body."

Socialists, Bolsheviks, anarchists and Industrial Workers of the World plan to hold 5000 demonstrations on May 1, demanding "general amnesty for political prisoners." A general strike of those in sympathy with the plan to obtain the liberation of those convicted under the espionage act also has been called by them. A number of meetings are scheduled by the Socialists in Philadelphia. They plan to hold one of the demonstrations in Independence Square.

The radical movement for the crippling of industries on May 1 was brought to the attention of the Central Labor Union by the circulation of placards and leaflets by a waiters' organization purporting to be affiliated with the American Federation of Labor. The circulars asserted that the Carpenters' Union and a number of other organizations also favored the strike.

The union sending out the circulars was branded as an I. W. W. organization, and the delegates of the carpenters denied that they had endorsed the strike.

Minister at Centenary Four-Minute Men's Rally Commends Him

"Colonel Roosevelt is going to be a worthy successor to his father," declared the Rev. Dr. Christian F. Reiser, national leader of the Centenary Minute Men at a Minute Men's rally yesterday afternoon in the Park Avenue Methodist Episcopal Church.

Dr. Reiser announced that Colonel Roosevelt will be the principal speaker at Minute Men's Day at the Centenary Exposition at Columbus, O., on Saturday, July 5, where 25,000 Minute Men from all parts of the country will parade.

One thousand Minute Men of this city will hold a Victory banquet during the last week of the Victory Loan campaign, probably on Thursday evening, May 8, it was decided by vote of the Methodist laymen, Charles William Masland, Minute Men leader in the Philadelphia area, will have charge of the arrangements. The Centenary's financial drive begins May 18.

SAFETY DIRECTOR DECLARES
DEPARTMENT MUCH IMPROVED

Wilson Approves Statement Claiming Advance in Efficiency
During Regime and Increase in Number of Patrolmen

From the office of Director Wilson, of the Department of Public Safety, there was issued today a statement, O. K'd by Director Wilson, emphasizing "extensive material improvements to advance the efficiency of the municipal service rendered by the Department of Public Safety which have been accomplished during the administration of Director Wilson."

Salient points of Director Wilson's administration of the bureau of police are enumerated in the Wilson statement as follows:

Addition of 500 patrolmen to the police force; the creation of two new police districts, the Forty-first and the Forty-second; an accession of motorized equipment; the abolition of the position of substitute patrolmen, and salary increases for members of the police force.

Improvement and augmentation of the facilities of the bureau of fire in three years include increase in motorization of equipment of 34 per cent, making a total of 40 per cent motor-driven apparatus; the establishment of four new fire stations; the authorization of new repair shops at Twelfth and Reed streets, and the institution of a school for motor instruction. Salaries of hose-men and ladder-men have been increased.

"The bill providing for the two-platoon system in the fire department of this city," the report says, "was passed by the Legislature largely through the influence of Director Wilson."

The statement emphasizes that "Director Wilson, during his term of office, has maintained a high standard of efficiency in the seven bureaus under his supervision—police, fire, electrical, boiler, building, elevator and correction—and constant efforts have been made by him to improve in a substantial and material way the service to the public for which these bureaus are responsible."

It points out that the electrical bureau has in three years accumulated $1,297,431.28, comprising collections totaling $867,551.52, a total unexpended balance of $449,722.96 and a refund of $190,357.10, made in 1916 by the Philadelphia Electric Company to cover a reduction in rate ordered by the Public Service Commission.

The electrical bureau has completed a central station of lighting on Broad street from Oregon avenue to Olney avenue, making Broad street "the longest continuous and best-lighted street in this country," and the installation of projectors and lamps for the flood lighting of the City Hall tower and the statue of William Penn.

CAMDEN MOOSE MEMORIAL

Six Fallen Heroes Among Those Honored by Members of Lodge

Camden Lodge of Moose paid tribute to departed brothers at the annual memorial services in the Towers Theatre yesterday afternoon, and many persons were unable to enter the building. Six members—Raymond Thoirs, Edward J. Steigerwald, Walter Butsch, George Bowers, William Carroll and John Diggins—gave their lives while fighting for liberty. At their names on the list of honored dead were the words: "Died in France." Five died from wounds sustained in battles, while Diggins was a victim of pneumonia.

Addresses were made by Walter Charrie and David B. Peterson, past dictators of Camden Lodge, and an excellent musical program was rendered under the direction of Professor Joseph Bessle.

FISH DEALER DROWNS

Finding of Wm. Rheinwalt's Body Clears Mystery of Disappearance

The mystery of the disappearance of William Rheinwalt, forty years old, of 1959 South Sixtieth street, has been cleared up by discovery of the body from the Schuylkill river by the crew of the police boat Reysburn.

Rheinwalt had been missing since the morning of April 11. He was engaged in the fish business at the Sixtieth street address and on that day, after complaining of his health, he started for the Delaware avenue market in his motortruck.

CITY WHITE WINGS
MARCH IN REVIEW

Street Cleaners Parade and Also Are Inspected With Their Apparatus

MANY PRIZES AWARDED

The sixth annual parade and inspection of the street cleaners and rubbish collectors of the city was held this morning preliminary to "Clean-up Week," which will open on May 5 and continue until May 10.

Twelve hundred "white wings" in nine divisions led Broad and Carpenter streets at 9:30 o'clock and marched to Girard avenue. The parades pushed, drove or carried all their cleaning and collecting apparatus with them.

Prizes were offered for equipment, houses, men and marching. The Philadelphia Chamber of Commerce offered a gold medal. Chief Robert C. Hicks, of the Bureau of Street Cleaning, gave a silver medal. The third prize, a bronze medal, was offered by the Pennsylvania Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals.

Mayor Smith, city officials, prominent business men and judges had seats reserved for them on the reviewing stand on the north plaza of City Hall.

In accordance with specifications under which the contracts for collection and disposal of rubbish and ashes are awarded, one week in the spring every year is designed as "clean-up week."

During this week householders clean out their garrets, cellars and back yards and other places where dirt and rubbish have been accumulating. The householders gather the debris in boxes and cans and places these at the curb. The expense of extra equipment and labor necessary to collect the receptacles is met by the contractors.

The judges of equipment in today's parade are A. Swan, Jr., superintendent of streets, Trenton; A. B. McStray, commissioner of street cleaning, New York city, and John F. O'Toole, superintendent of the bureau of highways, Pittsburgh.

The judges of horses are F. B. Rathbun, operating manager, S. P. C. A.; Colonel C. J. Marshall, state veterinarian, and Dr. Henry B. Cox, veterinarian. The judges of men and marching are George W. B. Hicks, Walter B. Miller and Thomas Shallerross, Jr.

PRaises Wilson's Aim

World Must Adopt League of Nations, Declares Dr. Bolton

"God pity the nation that stays out of the league of nations owing to selfishness or greed. It will be hated by people throughout the world," declared the Rev. Dr. J. Gray Bolton in a sermon on "The Value of Decision" last evening in Hope Presbyterian Church.

"President Wilson is at the council of the league of nations, having our object in view, the establishing of justice and peace among the nations of the world," he said. "The task is beyond conception and the most important for the welfare of humanity in the world's history. The representatives of the United States are not there for gain. America is not and was not in the war or the council of nations for gain. The nation that makes gain the terms of signature to the peace league of nations in this hour of the world's emergency will be hated by the people of the whole world as the one nation that made future wars not only possible but sure."

Isabel Goes to Key West

The United States ship Isabel left the navy yard yesterday for Key West to join the anti-submarine flotilla which will be sent up the Mississippi river for demonstration purposes. The unit will include the Isabel, the submarine K-5, three submarine chasers and two flying boats, all manned by crews who saw service in the war zone.

TO GIVE HOSPITAL BENEFIT

Elaborate Party in Aid of Institution Called "Rainbow Fete"

Preliminary plans are being made for the annual fete at the Abington Hospital. Under the chairmanship of Mrs. George Horace Lorimer, the committee met last week at the home of Mrs. Lorimer to arrange for what promises to be one of the most elaborate affairs of the season. In contrast to "Vanity Fair" last year, this fete, which takes place on June 3, will be known as "The Rainbow Fete," and symbolic of the rainbow will be found the pot of gold at its base.

There will not only be an open air bazaar, where every known article of merchandise will be on sale; there also will be a most attractive tea garden, which will be given under the management of Mrs. Barclay H. Warburton and a dinner dance which Mrs. George W. Elkins, Jr., will superintend.

VICTORY!

¶ We're going to put this Victory Liberty Loan across with the same punch that we put into all the others!

¶ We subscribed to the others to back up our boys. We told them to go over and get the Hun and we'd pay the bill. They got him. They delivered the goods in less time than we expected. There isn't a question about our paying for them—only a question of how quickly, of how enthusiastically, of how spontaneously we'll do it.

¶ Let no man say the need is over! There still are questioning eyes across the Rhine. Our Boys over there with the Army of Occupation even on the west bank of that river write home and tell us that already there's a sneer on Teutonic lips and an incredulity in their breasts as to the firmness of our purpose, as to the solidity of our convictions of last year and the year before. They think the American people forget quickly. Let us show the World in this Victory Loan that we remember the menace of ruthless militarism, the inhumanity of mustard gas and worse things, the vandalism and ruin that mark the tracks of arrogant barbarism.

¶ Moreover—our Boys are coming home in shiploads. We will show them our appreciation of the records they have made for themselves and for us, by the way we get in on this Victory Liberty Loan!

The Scissors Test

TAKE test strip 1/4 in. by 3 in. Stretch to 9 in. or three times its original length. Cut on the edge with the scissors. The cut should not be more than 1/8 in. across the sample. If the strip tears apart the rubber is inferior.

The test that tells how to tell rubber

THE scissors test shows you plainly that Norwalk Tubes do not rip. The scissors snip is like the edge of a puncture. Norwalk tubes do not rip in your hands, and they will not rip on the road.

The scissors test means that you can demonstrate the superiority of Norwalk Tubes before you buy.

It convinces you of the value of Norwalk floating stock* Tubes. The tube will convince you that you need the Norwalk cord or fabric casing with the snow white sidewalls and the black tread.
