Text of Labor Principles Adopted at Peace Council

By the Associated Press
Washington, April 29.—The following is the text of the labor clauses adopted by the plenary session of the Peace Conference at Paris as given out by the State Department today.
The high contracting parties, recognizing that the well being, physical, moral and intellectual, of industrial wage-earners is of supreme international importance, have framed a permanent machinery associated with that of the league of nations to further this great end. They recognize that difference of climate, habits and customs of economic opportunity and industrial tradition make strict uniformity in the conditions of labor difficult of immediate attainment. But holding as they do, that labor remedies probably error in translation, they regard merely as an article of commerce, they think that there are methods and principles for the ratification of labor conditions which all industrial communities should endeavor to apply so far as their special circumstances will permit.
Among these methods and principles the following seem to be of special and urgent importance:
First. The guarding principle above enunciated that labor should not be regarded merely as a commodity or article of commerce.
Right of Organization
Second. The right of association for all lawful purposes by the employed as well as by the employers.
Third. The payment to the employed of a wage adequate to maintain a reasonable standard of life.

Paris, April 29.—A proposal is on foot to hold the first meeting of the league of nations in Washington during the current year. Should the assembly meet first in Washington, it is said, President Wilson doubtless would be asked to become the first president of the league.

Among the principles incorporated are a standard eight-hour day, a weekly day of rest, the abolition of child labor, equality of pay for men and women and workmen's right of association for all lawful purposes.
