CHILD WELFARE BODY PROPOSED IN HOUSE

Resolution Provides for Commission of Seven and Carries $10,000 Appropriation

BILLS DELAYER BY PRINTERS

Harrisburg, April 30.—A joint resolution authorizing the Governor to appoint a child welfare commission of seven to study the subject thoroughly and report to the General Assembly of 1921 was introduced into the House today by Mr. North, Chester. An appropriation of $10,000 is carried.

Mr. McKim, Allegheny, introduced a bill regulating issuance of duplicate minor labor certificates.

The House declined to place the Benchoff vaccination bill on the calendar notwithstanding negative action by the health committee. Chairman Gans, of the Health Committee, said that the bill had been before the committee several times and the action on the bill unanimous. On motion of Mr. Alexander, Delaware, the House reconsidered defeat of the bill allowing recorders of deeds to appoint solicitors.

Consideration of a number of bills were presented because the measures had not been printed.

The bill to fix September 28 as Francis Willard Day in the public schools of Pennsylvania was passed in the House today by 182 to 2.

The Willert amendment to the school code relative to teacher's training schools was sent back to the committee on education over the protest of the sponsor. The bill extending terms of third-class city councilmen was postponed.

PENN GETS WAR FLAG

Ambulance Unit Presents Battle-Scarred Emblem to Institution

The battle-scarred flag of the 50th Section Ambulance Service, formerly the University of Pennsylvania Ambulance Unit No. 1, will be presented to the University at 3 o'clock this afternoon by the members of the unit.

This unit was comprised almost entirely of University of Pennsylvania undergraduates when it first went across a year and a half ago. It was attached to the French Iron Division. The flag was given to the unit by the University at the time of its departure, after its training period at Allentown, Pa.

The flag is decorated with the citations which the unit received for heroic work with the French Division. At least six members of the unit were decorated with the Croix de Guerre. The members of the unit were recently demobilized at Camp Dix.

MRS. HARDWICK IS BOMBED

Ex-Senator's Wife Badly Injured. Maid's Hands Are Blown Off

Atlanta, April 30.—Explosion of an infernal machine sent through the mails to the home of Thomas W. Hardwick, former United States senator, of Georgia, yesterday, resulted in the serious injury of Mrs. Maude P. Hardwick, wife of the former senator, and the maiming of her negro maid.

Mr. Hardwick was not at his home when the infernal machine was delivered, and Mrs. Hardwick ordered her maid to open it, believing, it is said, that it was a sample package containing pencils. When the scrapings were removed the machine exploded with terrific force. The maid's hands were blown off and Mrs. Hardwick was burned and cut.

Meetings and Speeches Focus Interest on Need of Individual Care

CLEAN-UP WEEK COMING

This is Public Health Day! Importance of safeguarding the health of the individual, hence of the home and community, was emphasized by physicians and educators of prominence at meetings in the City Club and at the William Penn High School. Addresses were made by prominent physicians at all the high schools.

It was pointed out by officials of the city and state health departments and physicians that very often ordinary precaution taken by the individual will prevent the spread of disease and epidemics.

Indifference regarding their physical condition and failure to remedy slight defects are responsible, doctors said, for much unnecessary suffering and loss of life.

Of these Camp Dix will get four officers and thirty-one men, and Camp Dix twenty-four officers and 1200 men.

Small detachments will be sent to Camps Gordon, Sherman, Taylor, Grant and Dodge.

The 109th Field Artillery, field and staff, headquarters, First and Second Battalions, sanitary and ordnance detachments, veterinary units, T and S, supply headquarters companies, Batteries A to F, inclusive, thirty-eight officers and 1568 men. Camp Dix will get thirteen officers and 788 men of the above, with others scattering.

Engineers to Upton

A unit of 106th Engineers will go to Camp Upton.

The 107th Field Artillery was commanded by Colonel William S. McKim when reorganized at Camp Hancock. The regiment was formerly the First Pennsylvania Field Artillery, reorganized in 1908, and was the central part of the state. Its history dates back to important battles in the Civil War.

The 109th Field Artillery, which was commanded by Colonel Asher Miller, one of the great heroes of the Iron Division, was prior to its inclusion in the Twenty-eighth Division the Third Pennsylvania Field Artillery, with headquarters at Wilkes-Barre. The regiment was organized from companies of the Seventh and Ninth Infantry Regiments of the Pennsylvania National Guard in the summer of 1916.

ARMY RECORDS CITED

Recent records show that one-third of the men of military age were rejected for army service because of physical handicaps. Many of the applicants were ignorant of any physical ailment. One of the objects of the health day movement is to arouse interest in the subject of health generally and outline plans which, if followed, will greatly reduce physical suffering.

Major Edward A. Strocker, who just returned from France with the Twenty-eighth Division, was one of the speakers at health day exercises held at the West Philadelphia Catholic High School.

An address was also made by Dr. Henry A. Strocker, assistant chief medical inspector of the Bureau of Health. The speakers were introduced by the Rev. Walter C. Tredinn.

At the meeting in the William Penn High School at 8 o'clock tonight Colonel Edward Martin, commissioner of health for Pennsylvania, will speak on the subject.

Addresses will also be made by Director Krusen, of the Department of Health and Charities, Dr. S. Josephine Baker, director of the Bureau of Child Hygiene, of New York city; Professor William Nicolai, director of physical education of Temple University; Paul Treble, former assistant surgeon of the United States Bureau of Health, and Dr. James M. Anders, who will preside. There will be an exhibition drill in charge of William Strocker, director of physical training of the Board of Education.

SEES WAR IN LEAGUE

Former Governor Stokes Suggests World Court as Substitute

Speaking at a gathering of the Physicians' Motor Club, in Camden, former Governor Stokes declared last night that the league of nations will not bring peace, rather will it beget war. He declared that there have been such leagues as far back as 1500 years before Christ, and that none of them has been able to preserve world concord.

Mr. Stokes favored the establishment of a court of arbitration in the nature of a supreme court of the world, to decide the justness of disputes of nations, and then would create a peace council of the nations, vested with power to enforce the rulings of the high tribunal. In this council nations would be represented in proportion to their population. He opposed the present plan at Paris, which, he declared, will give Guatemala, with 2,000,578 people, the same voting power as the United States, with more than 100,000,000 people.

Foes' Peace Train Stoned En Route

Rudiger today remarked to the news paper men present:

"Words fail me to describe my feelings as I crossed your devastated regions. I hope the peace which we are about to sign will give satisfaction to all the nations which participated in the war."

The German delegates, accompanied by some sixty experts, assistants and journalists, traveled in two special trains from Germany. After listening to a short address and being photographed by an array of press photographers, the Germans were conveyed in autos to Versailles, where they are now lodged in hotels.

The mayor of Versailles posted a proclamation appealing to the population to maintain a dignified and calm attitude and has also appealed to the visitors to abstain from "unfortunate manifestations and indiscretions."

Tip Read Text at Second Session

The first session of the peace congress will be held in the room now used by the Supreme War Council and will be devoted to a verification of credentials. The text of the peace treaty will be presented to the Germans at the second session in the dining room of the Hotel Trignon. This is a superb apartment seventy-five feet square and having windows almost entirely around three sides, making it virtually a room inclosed in glass.

The delegates will proceed to the conference chamber through a marble corridor 180 feet long lined with mirrors on one side and opening on the park from the other.

UNIVERSITY PROVOST DEFENDED BY TRUSTEE

Morris Attack "Contemptuously Impertinent and Insolent," Says John C. Bell

John C. Bell, member of the board of trustees of the University of Pennsylvania and former attorney general of Pennsylvania, criticized the suggestion made by Harrison S. Morris that Provost Smith should resign as "contemptuously impertinent and insolent," Mr. Bell said.

"With regard to the provost, I speak not only for myself, but I believe I voice the sentiment of all the trustees, all the faculty, all the student body and all the alumni in resenting the public suggestion of Mr. Morris that Provost Smith should resign. Personally, I characterize the suggestion and the manner in which it was made as contemptuously impertinent and insolent."

Mr. Morris urged the resignation of Provost Smith as "being necessary for the Wharton School to retain its lost prestige, which had been lost by attempts to bar progressive thought and education from the institution." He criticized the provost, saying that he was largely responsible for what he termed the mismanagement of the school.

Mr. Bell made the following statement:

"With respect to the choice of a new dean, I believe it would be more in the interest of the school to have the trustees and more besetting of Mr. Morris if he has any suggestions to make in that regard to address his communications to the trustees or to Mr. Barker, who usually speaks for the Wharton heirs."

PIEZ AND COONLEY DINED

Fleet Club Honors Retiring Director. Vice President and Others

Charles Piez, director general of the Emergency Fleet Corporation, Howard Coonley, vice president in charge of administration, and eight high executives were tendered a farewell dinner by the Emergency Fleet Club in the grill room of the Ritz-Carlton last night. Mr. Piez, Mr. Coonley and the other eight executives will leave the corporation on May 1 and the dinner was in recognition of the services rendered by them in connection with the shipbuilding program of the government.

"I want to thank you all," said Mr. Piez, "for the splendid spirit of co-operation and discipline which pervaded the entire organization. I do not think that such a body of men could have been brought together in peace time. Every one entered into the work in a spirit of gaiety. It was not a one-man job. I appreciate the efforts of every one of the 500,000 men in the shipyards. We should take pride in the substantial record of our performance—in our production of 3,100,000 tons of shipping last year. About 58 or 60 per cent of the work undertaken by the Emergency Fleet Corporation still remains to be done, and I feel proud of all of the men who are staying with the corporation when I feel compelled to resign."

Kiao-Chau Problem Solution Discovered

Various interpretations of different phases of the convention without, however, involving a prolonged discussion. The French view is that the Germans may ask for two weeks' delay to permit them to return to Weimar with an additional week for discussing points presented after their return from the temporary German capital. This is a matter of conjecture, however, as there is no precise information as to Germany's intentions.

Reports from Berlin reaching the American delegation are somewhat contradictory concerning Germany's purposes, as some reports indicate that an early signing of the treaty is probable while others say that it is doubtful whether the pact will be signed at all.

The kindly feeling of Perry Salesmen for their Customers is reciprocated in Kind.

One of the pleasures of life is doing business in a happy, contented frame of mind. It's a quality possessed and cultivated by the members of the Perry Sales Organization. They have confidence in the Clothes they sell, confidence in the policy of their store, and consequently can manifest genuine courtesy to their customers.

The result, of course, is that a mutuality of sentiment springs up between our salesmen and the men they serve. Many a time these customers of our salesmen go out of their way to give expression to what they feel.

An example of it came to hand the other day when a man wrote the following:—

"Many thanks, Mr. M., for the kind consideration you gave me, and if at any time I can be of service to you, please command me."

Given the best Clothes the money can buy, the attention and solicitude of a clothing man who knows the niceties of adapting the right model to the right man, and who can secure a fit in the Suit that is perfect, it is both pleasant and profitable to buy your clothes at this store.
