

MOVE MONUMENT FOR ART GALLERY

Wreckers Today Begin Demolishing Last Mill Property on Right of Way

WILL SPEED COMPLETION

Arrangement for the erection of the Art Gallery on the Parkway at Twenty-fifth street, under the plans of Jacques Greber, will necessitate the removal to a new position yet to be selected of the George Washington Monument at the entrance to Fairmount Park, erected by the Society of the Cincinnati, and dedicated by President McKinley. It was announced today.

The city on Saturday acquired the last mill property on the right of way of the Parkway, that the Fleisher Company, Twenty-fifth street, Director Datsman, has ordered that wreckers begin demolishing the building today to prepare the site for the Art Gallery. This spot in the future will be the starting point for the work on the Schuylkill embankment.

The presence of the Fleisher Building up to this time has held up construction on what is to be the terminus of the Parkway, said Director Datsman. "The delay which has taken place in connection with the demolition of this building was due primarily to the war and later to the removal of the machinery and certain material from the building. In compliance with the wishes of the federal government, Mayor Smith made no effort to have the occupants vacate the building during the war for the reason that the building and its equipment were necessary to the manufacture of many articles essential to the conduct of the war.

"Preparations to complete the Parkway over the site of the Fleisher Building have already begun and plans for the work are being drawn by Chief Dunlap, of the Bureau of Highways, and Percy F. Proctor, engineer in charge of boulevards and parkways. Provision is made in the pending loan for $350,000 necessary to carry on the construction.

"Aside from the construction of the center and side driveways and footways of the Parkway, the plans for the development of the improvement at this point provide for rather elaborate treatment. The design for the development here is to be elliptical in form and exceptionally attractive. It will immediately face the proposed $400,000 Art Museum, and in the center of the design will be the Washington Monument which now stands at the entrance to Fairmount Park at Green street, which is to be removed to its new position as soon as the work at the terminus of the Parkway is sufficiently developed."

Deaths of a Day

MRS. MARGARET R. BOWEN

Sister of the Late Archbishop Ryan Dies

Mrs. Margaret Ryan Bowen, eighty years old, a sister of the late Archbishop Ryan, died Saturday at the home of her son, Major J. Ryan Devereux, in Washington. She was the widow of Edmund S. Bowen, formerly of Bellefonte, Pa., who was an officer of the Erie Railroad. Her first husband was Judge Devereux, of St. Louis.

Shortly after her brother, the archbishop came here from St. Louis in 1884. Mr. and Mrs. Bowen moved to this city. Mr. Bowen died a few years later and Mrs. Bowen lived with her son, Ashton Devereux, a member of the

GENERAL MUIR HAS NO HOME, LEGALLY, AND NEVER VOTED

Iron Division Commander Divulges Secret in Declining to Discuss Military Presidential Possibilities

Major General Charles H. Muir has yet to cast his first vote. He made this admission today in declining to discuss possibilities for a military candidate for the presidency in 1920.

It isn't that "Uncle Charley" Muir doesn't believe in voting. He says it is the fact that he has never been able to establish a voting residence since he became a general.

"The only place that I might claim a home," he said, "is the village in Michigan where I was born, but I suppose some state regulation would require more residence there than I could establish. I have never been able to establish a voting residence since I have been in the service."

Philadelphia bar, in Logan Square, near the archiepiscopal residence. She was interested in the archconfraternity of the Christian Mothers at the Convent of the Sisters of Notre Dame, West Rittenhouse square. Mrs. Bowen had a large circle of friends here.

William C. Kummerle

William C. Kummerle, fifty-eight years old, died after a brief illness yesterday at his home, 2321 Comly street. For a number of years he was freight agent for the Pennsylvania Railroad at the Gray's Ferry Station. He was a Mason, a member of the Traffic Club and president of the Provident Building Loan Association. A widow and three daughters survive him. The funeral will be held from his home Wednesday afternoon.

Mrs. Caroline Lafayette

Mrs. Caroline Lafayette, widow of Thomas Kennedy, died Saturday at her home, 1334 Spring Garden street. On September 29 Mrs. Kennedy celebrated her ninety-fourth birthday. She was named after General Lafayette's daughter. Her grandfather, Nathan Jones, was a personal friend of Lafayette.

Sol W. Goodman

Sol W. Goodman, a clothing manufacturer of this city, died yesterday at the Breakers Hotel, Atlantic City, of heart disease. Mr. Goodman was born in this city in 1861 and attended the old New Market street school. In 1889 he married Miss Hannah Braun, of this city, who, with her son, Benjamin B. Good-

LEGION NONPOLITICAL SAY VETERANS HERE

Delegates to St. Louis Convention Deny Plan to Boon Candidates

PATTERNED AFTER G. A. R.

Denial that the American Legion, the new veterans' association, is to be used for political purposes, was made here today by two of the delegates to the first convention of the legion in St. Louis.

Major Charles J. Biddle, the American ace, who heads the delegation, made an emphatic declaration that the American Legion is not a political organization.

He was asked whether the American Legion would support the boom of Major General Leonard Wood for the presidency.

"The American Legion is not a political organization," he said. "We are going to St. Louis with no plans except to organize the association and form a program of activity. But we have no political views."

Similar views were expressed by Colonel Millard D. Brown, former commander of the 100th Infantry, another of the delegates from this city.

Colonel Brown said:

"The soldier organization is designed on the lines of the G. A. R. and will succeed that organization when the last survivors of the Civil War have passed on.

"It is not our purpose to create a political machine or to build up a league for the purpose of supporting a soldier candidate for the presidency.

"At the close of the Civil War the G. A. R. was formed for the purpose of protecting the interests of the veterans and to perpetuate the memories of those who had made the supreme sacrifice for the country. Similar reasons actuate the men who are organizing the league of world war veterans."

The thirteen delegates to the convention in St. Louis will leave the city tomorrow night at 7:38. The convention is scheduled for May 9 and 10. Lieutenant Colonel Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., son of the late Colonel Roosevelt, is temporary chairman of the legion.

More Interesting Coats and Wraps Are Reduced

There are many, many styles to choose from in exceedingly attractive and becoming models in capes, dolmans or coats.

There is particularly good choosing among wraps of serge, suede velour or poplin between $9.75 and $18.75. Styles that will appeal to women's varied tastes in quiet navy blue or in the brighter Spring colors. Many are lined throughout with fancy silk.

The dolman which is sketched is of serge in navy or black, full length, lined throughout with striped silk and fastened at the waist with a silk cord. There is a deep hood collar of cloth and silk. Price is now $19.50.

At $22.50 a sport cape of suede velour in a short length has a jacket front and is lined throughout with fancy silk. It comes in Pekin, tan and taupe. The same cape of silver-tone is $25.

From $29.50 to $45 there are bolivias, silver-tones, duvet de laines, crystal cords. There are not many of a kind, but there are a number of styles—well cut, beautifully trimmed and much reduced in price.
