

5-CENT TROLLEY FARE DEMAND IN CAMDEN

Councils Will Test Corporation's Right to Break Agreement With City

ZONE SCHEME DENOUNCED

Camden intends to wage its own fight against the zone fare plan which the Public Service Railway Company hopes to impose on 2,000,000 or more riders in the state of New Jersey...

A straight five-cent fare for the city limits in Camden will be asked by the committee. The request will be made on a three-mile limit...

The members of the committee agreed that a zone system would likely be put in effect. However, the opinion was expressed that city riders should not pay the bill...

SENT TO JAIL TO EAT

Patrolman Finds Breakfast of Circus Follower for Three Months. "Gonna have mah breakfast, boss..."

MALE DECOLLETE RUFFLES COEDS' CALM AT U. OF P.

War Threatens Wharton School—Girls Perspire 'Neath Horn-Rimmed Specs, While Men Shed Coats and Organize "S. P. F. C. W. S."

Now apprehensions were between the men students and the coeds at the Wharton School of the University of Pennsylvania...

The men say the coeds are all right, but there are too many of them. The fair students hint they could tolerate the males if only they would keep their coats on in the class room...

Too Much Minerva

Judging by what the trousered contingent says, the Wharton School is growing entirely too popular with the female sex...

So the future lesser halves had a horrible vision of themselves next term in lovely little male islands far a sooting feminine sea...

SIX CHILDREN ESCAPE FIRE

Family Forced to Flee When Home Burns. Two of six children were carried to safety by their parents this morning...

PHILADELPHIAN COMING WITH CROSS

Sergeant T. Legare Fenn, a veteran who will arrive at this port with the 108th Field Artillery next week...

Poles Receive United States Envoy. Warsaw, May 6.—Hugh S. Gibson, United States minister to Poland...

Male Decollete Not Nice

They got partly "even" today, when they protested to invade them to shed the cumbersome garments in question...

Yesterday, it seems, some good-natured "profs" were moved by the evident discomfort of the male members of their classes to invite them to shed the cumbersome garments in question...

"Tain't fair," said the girls, when they talked it over after class. "Here we must be all dressed up in heavy skirts and blouses and horn-rimmed spectacles and things...

And now every one at Penn is asking: "Who put the 'war' in Wharton?"

REVIEW INCURABLES' WORK

Home Has Aided Thousands in 42 Years of Existence Here. Work of the Home for Incurables, Forty-eighth street and Woodland avenue...

The home was founded forty-two years ago, and in the course of those years it has ministered to thousands of men, women and children...

At present there are 150 inmates in the home. The institution depends largely upon voluntary contributions for the maintenance of its work...

The president of the institution is Mrs. Charles W. Nevin, and the treasurer Mrs. Walter P. Baird...

Gregorio shouted an alarm to the older children and picked up Edith while Mrs. Gregorio carried Millie down the stairs...

Gregorio shouted an alarm to the older children and picked up Edith while Mrs. Gregorio carried Millie down the stairs...

BLAME REVERSED GEARS

Report on Ferry Tragedy Made by Service Commissioner. The gears were in reverse on the automobile that backed off the ferryboat...

This fact was brought out at the hearing of the case before Public Service Commissioner Samuel M. Clement, Jr...

He saw a prospective customer on the other side of the street. He ran across hastily and fell in the path of an automobile. The driver was unable to stop the machine and the boy was run over...

JOSEPH MELLON Who was injured by an automobile while selling Victory Bonds. He was awarded a helmet by the war loan organization for "extraordinary heroism in action"

HUN HELMET AWARDED INJURED BOND HERO

Boy, in Hospital, Receives Coveted Trophy, Given for "Heroism in Action"

One of the happiest boys in Philadelphia today is eight-year-old Joseph Mellon, although he is confined to a bed in the Women's Homeopathic Hospital with a fractured leg...

To make up for his injuries, the boy is a proud possessor of a battle-scarred German helmet of the type that was to have been used by the Prussians during their expected triumphal entry into Paris...

The helmet was awarded the boy, who is a son of Mr. and Mrs. J. V. Mellon, 2449 North Eleventh street, by Richard E. Norton, associate director of the war loan organization...

Joseph was one of many boys who entered a competition in his neighborhood to sell notes of the Victory Loan, the winner to receive one of the helmets...

Daily he set out on his note-selling mission after school hours, and within a few days he had sold notes aggregating several hundred dollars...

He saw a prospective customer on the other side of the street. He ran across hastily and fell in the path of an automobile. The driver was unable to stop the machine and the boy was run over...

He saw a prospective customer on the other side of the street. He ran across hastily and fell in the path of an automobile. The driver was unable to stop the machine and the boy was run over...

He saw a prospective customer on the other side of the street. He ran across hastily and fell in the path of an automobile. The driver was unable to stop the machine and the boy was run over...

JUVENILE ATHLETES IN LOAN EXHIBITION

Hundreds of Children Will Put on Stunts Today at the Victory Statue

WOMEN'S TOTAL CLIMBING

Hundreds of children and adults from the Athletic Recreation Center will participate in the exhibition at the Victory Statue in South Penn square this noon...

The children, always a great attraction, will present a dance fantasy, "The Awakening of Spring." There also will be boxing and wrestling exhibitions, music and speakers...

Mrs. Kellon Fairbank, member of the national women's Liberty Loan committee, and Mrs. Pierre Bayne, who spent several months with the American forces at the front, will speak at 1 o'clock...

The women are bending every effort to complete their quota by Saturday night. Mrs. J. O. Miller, state chairman of women's Liberty Loan committee, has announced the grand total from women's committees throughout the state as $45,444,280 up to May 1...

Of this amount Philadelphia women raised $21,294,770. "At least it shall not be said that we have slept at our posts," said Mrs. Walter S. Thomson, chairman of the Philadelphia women's committee...

"Our local women are doing wonders under the circumstances, and we fully expect to have unprecedented results during the remainder of the week."

Today and tonight, as all during the rest of the week, there will be "something doing all the time" in each district.

Jack Ward's Jazz Band will hold forth at Wharton street and Point Breeze avenue at 7:30 tonight, under the auspices of the South Philadelphia district committee. There will also be a special program of addresses and features. The Leo Felt singers will be a feature of the carnival at Seventeenth and Mifflin streets at 8 o'clock.

All day today Dean Cornwell and

All day today Dean Cornwell and

All day today Dean Cornwell and

All day today Dean Cornwell and

All day today Dean Cornwell and

All day today Dean Cornwell and

All day today Dean Cornwell and

JOIN FIGHT ON LANDLORDS

Storage Houses Aid Tenants Resisting Rent Profiteers Here

Storage houses in West Philadelphia are to be enlisted in the fight against profiteering landlords.

Members of the West Philadelphia branch of the Tenants' Protective Association are appealing through a committee appointed last night to the storage house owners...

Complaints of profiteering in rents is under investigation by Assistant United States District Attorney Robert J. Stewart. Fifteen hundred cases have been reported to Mr. Stewart. Special attention is being given to the complaints of returned soldiers who are suffering at the hands of the profiteers. These men, under the Soldiers' and Sailors' Civil Rights Act, are protected from eviction, and many of them do not know their rights, Mr. Stewart said.

U. S. Whisky to Moistens Britons. London, May 6.—Replying to a question in the House of Commons yesterday about the shortage in whisky, Sir Auckland Geddes, minister for national service and reconstruction, said he had decided that the importation of Canadian whisky might be freely permitted, and also American whisky, if it had been paid for before the beginning of 1919.

U. S. Whisky to Moistens Britons

London, May 6.—Replying to a question in the House of Commons yesterday about the shortage in whisky, Sir Auckland Geddes, minister for national service and reconstruction, said he had decided that the importation of Canadian whisky might be freely permitted, and also American whisky, if it had been paid for before the beginning of 1919.

London, May 6.—Replying to a question in the House of Commons yesterday about the shortage in whisky, Sir Auckland Geddes, minister for national service and reconstruction, said he had decided that the importation of Canadian whisky might be freely permitted, and also American whisky, if it had been paid for before the beginning of 1919.

London, May 6.—Replying to a question in the House of Commons yesterday about the shortage in whisky, Sir Auckland Geddes, minister for national service and reconstruction, said he had decided that the importation of Canadian whisky might be freely permitted, and also American whisky, if it had been paid for before the beginning of 1919.

London, May 6.—Replying to a question in the House of Commons yesterday about the shortage in whisky, Sir Auckland Geddes, minister for national service and reconstruction, said he had decided that the importation of Canadian whisky might be freely permitted, and also American whisky, if it had been paid for before the beginning of 1919.

London, May 6.—Replying to a question in the House of Commons yesterday about the shortage in whisky, Sir Auckland Geddes, minister for national service and reconstruction, said he had decided that the importation of Canadian whisky might be freely permitted, and also American whisky, if it had been paid for before the beginning of 1919.

London, May 6.—Replying to a question in the House of Commons yesterday about the shortage in whisky, Sir Auckland Geddes, minister for national service and reconstruction, said he had decided that the importation of Canadian whisky might be freely permitted, and also American whisky, if it had been paid for before the beginning of 1919.

London, May 6.—Replying to a question in the House of Commons yesterday about the shortage in whisky, Sir Auckland Geddes, minister for national service and reconstruction, said he had decided that the importation of Canadian whisky might be freely permitted, and also American whisky, if it had been paid for before the beginning of 1919.

London, May 6.—Replying to a question in the House of Commons yesterday about the shortage in whisky, Sir Auckland Geddes, minister for national service and reconstruction, said he had decided that the importation of Canadian whisky might be freely permitted, and also American whisky, if it had been paid for before the beginning of 1919.

London, May 6.—Replying to a question in the House of Commons yesterday about the shortage in whisky, Sir Auckland Geddes, minister for national service and reconstruction, said he had decided that the importation of Canadian whisky might be freely permitted, and also American whisky, if it had been paid for before the beginning of 1919.

London, May 6.—Replying to a question in the House of Commons yesterday about the shortage in whisky, Sir Auckland Geddes, minister for national service and reconstruction, said he had decided that the importation of Canadian whisky might be freely permitted, and also American whisky, if it had been paid for before the beginning of 1919.

London, May 6.—Replying to a question in the House of Commons yesterday about the shortage in whisky, Sir Auckland Geddes, minister for national service and reconstruction, said he had decided that the importation of Canadian whisky might be freely permitted, and also American whisky, if it had been paid for before the beginning of 1919.

London, May 6.—Replying to a question in the House of Commons yesterday about the shortage in whisky, Sir Auckland Geddes, minister for national service and reconstruction, said he had decided that the importation of Canadian whisky might be freely permitted, and also American whisky, if it had been paid for before the beginning of 1919.

London, May 6.—Replying to a question in the House of Commons yesterday about the shortage in whisky, Sir Auckland Geddes, minister for national service and reconstruction, said he had decided that the importation of Canadian whisky might be freely permitted, and also American whisky, if it had been paid for before the beginning of 1919.

London, May 6.—Replying to a question in the House of Commons yesterday about the shortage in whisky, Sir Auckland Geddes, minister for national service and reconstruction, said he had decided that the importation of Canadian whisky might be freely permitted, and also American whisky, if it had been paid for before the beginning of 1919.

London, May 6.—Replying to a question in the House of Commons yesterday about the shortage in whisky, Sir Auckland Geddes, minister for national service and reconstruction, said he had decided that the importation of Canadian whisky might be freely permitted, and also American whisky, if it had been paid for before the beginning of 1919.

London, May 6.—Replying to a question in the House of Commons yesterday about the shortage in whisky, Sir Auckland Geddes, minister for national service and reconstruction, said he had decided that the importation of Canadian whisky might be freely permitted, and also American whisky, if it had been paid for before the beginning of 1919.

London, May 6.—Replying to a question in the House of Commons yesterday about the shortage in whisky, Sir Auckland Geddes, minister for national service and reconstruction, said he had decided that the importation of Canadian whisky might be freely permitted, and also American whisky, if it had been paid for before the beginning of 1919.

London, May 6.—Replying to a question in the House of Commons yesterday about the shortage in whisky, Sir Auckland Geddes, minister for national service and reconstruction, said he had decided that the importation of Canadian whisky might be freely permitted, and also American whisky, if it had been paid for before the beginning of 1919.

London, May 6.—Replying to a question in the House of Commons yesterday about the shortage in whisky, Sir Auckland Geddes, minister for national service and reconstruction, said he had decided that the importation of Canadian whisky might be freely permitted, and also American whisky, if it had been paid for before the beginning of 1919.

London, May 6.—Replying to a question in the House of Commons yesterday about the shortage in whisky, Sir Auckland Geddes, minister for national service and reconstruction, said he had decided that the importation of Canadian whisky might be freely permitted, and also American whisky, if it had been paid for before the beginning of 1919.

London, May 6.—Replying to a question in the House of Commons yesterday about the shortage in whisky, Sir Auckland Geddes, minister for national service and reconstruction, said he had decided that the importation of Canadian whisky might be freely permitted, and also American whisky, if it had been paid for before the beginning of 1919.

London, May 6.—Replying to a question in the House of Commons yesterday about the shortage in whisky, Sir Auckland Geddes, minister for national service and reconstruction, said he had decided that the importation of Canadian whisky might be freely permitted, and also American whisky, if it had been paid for before the beginning of 1919.

London, May 6.—Replying to a question in the House of Commons yesterday about the shortage in whisky, Sir Auckland Geddes, minister for national service and reconstruction, said he had decided that the importation of Canadian whisky might be freely permitted, and also American whisky, if it had been paid for before the beginning of 1919.

London, May 6.—Replying to a question in the House of Commons yesterday about the shortage in whisky, Sir Auckland Geddes, minister for national service and reconstruction, said he had decided that the importation of Canadian whisky might be freely permitted, and also American whisky, if it had been paid for before the beginning of 1919.

London, May 6.—Replying to a question in the House of Commons yesterday about the shortage in whisky, Sir Auckland Geddes, minister for national service and reconstruction, said he had decided that the importation of Canadian whisky might be freely permitted, and also American whisky, if it had been paid for before the beginning of 1919.

London, May 6.—Replying to a question in the House of Commons yesterday about the shortage in whisky, Sir Auckland Geddes, minister for national service and reconstruction, said he had decided that the importation of Canadian whisky might be freely permitted, and also American whisky, if it had been paid for before the beginning of 1919.

London, May 6.—Replying to a question in the House of Commons yesterday about the shortage in whisky, Sir Auckland Geddes, minister for national service and reconstruction, said he had decided that the importation of Canadian whisky might be freely permitted, and also American whisky, if it had been paid for before the beginning of 1919.

London, May 6.—Replying to a question in the House of Commons yesterday about the shortage in whisky, Sir Auckland Geddes, minister for national service and reconstruction, said he had decided that the importation of Canadian whisky might be freely permitted, and also American whisky, if it had been paid for before the beginning of 1919.

London, May 6.—Replying to a question in the House of Commons yesterday about the shortage in whisky, Sir Auckland Geddes, minister for national service and reconstruction, said he had decided that the importation of Canadian whisky might be freely permitted, and also American whisky, if it had been paid for before the beginning of 1919.

London, May 6.—Replying to a question in the House of Commons yesterday about the shortage in whisky, Sir Auckland Geddes, minister for national service and reconstruction, said he had decided that the importation of Canadian whisky might be freely permitted, and also American whisky, if it had been paid for before the beginning of 1919.

London, May 6.—Replying to a question in the House of Commons yesterday about the shortage in whisky, Sir Auckland Geddes, minister for national service and reconstruction, said he had decided that the importation of Canadian whisky might be freely permitted, and also American whisky, if it had been paid for before the beginning of 1919.

London, May 6.—Replying to a question in the House of Commons yesterday about the shortage in whisky, Sir Auckland Geddes, minister for national service and reconstruction, said he had decided that the importation of Canadian whisky might be freely permitted, and also American whisky, if it had been paid for before the beginning of 1919.

London, May 6.—Replying to a question in the House of Commons yesterday about the shortage in whisky, Sir Auckland Geddes, minister for national service and reconstruction, said he had decided that the importation of Canadian whisky might be freely permitted, and also American whisky, if it had been paid for before the beginning of 1919.

London, May 6.—Replying to a question in the House of Commons yesterday about the shortage in whisky, Sir Auckland Geddes, minister for national service and reconstruction, said he had decided that the importation of Canadian whisky might be freely permitted, and also American whisky, if it had been paid for before the beginning of 1919.

London, May 6.—Replying to a question in the House of Commons yesterday about the shortage in whisky, Sir Auckland Geddes, minister for national service and reconstruction, said he had decided that the importation of Canadian whisky might be freely permitted, and also American whisky, if it had been paid for before the beginning of 1919.

Linde Rug and Linoleum Sale. Guaranteed Savings of 30 to 40 Per Cent. There's not another floor covering opportunity like this in the country. You can prove it by making exacting comparisons...

Bailey Banks & Biddle Co. Jewelers Silversmiths Stationers. For Country and Seashore Homes A Special Display of Inexpensive Lamps. Appreciated Gifts.

Library Bureau. "My word! 'Way up in the millions—" Remember the story of the Englishman who was looking at the baseball returns, inning by inning, for the first time? Some one asked him the score. "My word!" he replied. "It's 'way up in the millions!"

The Art of Dressing Well. Jacob Reed's Sons. 1424-1426 Chestnut Street. Are your Freight Claims Paid Promptly? During the last 9 years we have handled, to a successful conclusion, thousands of freight and express claims.