Please Feel Free to Take Full Advantage of Our Hospitalities

No Generous Soul Ever Enjoys His Possessions

so much as when others partake of them with him.

How good it was for many to open their picture galleries, big and little! Likewise their gardens and grounds. How thoughtful to send your friends a copy of a dollar and a half book or even another, not so costly!

Really it is a great idea to learn by experience that one can double his own happiness by doing some little thing for his neighbor or friend or some lonely creature.

When people use our big building for its music, its varieties of articles that form it into a kind of a museum, its hospitalities,-Well! We are delighted.

Some of the newest to come are in dull red and brown shades—warm, rich colors that are delightfully effective when strung on thick silk cords, as are these. At the end they have unique pendants, some flat, in two or three colors, some in long pendant shapes, and others in unusual carved designs.

They will add a picturesque note to Summer gowns and prices start at $2.75, $3.75 and go on up to $19. (Jewelry Store, Chestnut and Thirteenth)

Fashion's Latest-the Frock of Jersey and Tricolette

It has the grace of a chemise frock, made altogether of either one of those materials; and it has the practicality and comfort so long attributed to the shirtwaist and skirt. For the soft, light wool jersey is mostly used in the lower part and the tricolette mostly in the upper, which makes for coolness and comfort; but the wool is "carried up," as an artist would say, into the bodice, so that the whole dress hangs together as to color, and lightly on the wearer as to weight.

There are three styles, each developed in various colors, and prices are $33.50 to $47.50.

1 Little Group of Crepe and A Taffeta Dresses for Young Women—Special at $25

Such dresses would ordinarily sell for about a third more, but the good maker who sends us these had just enough material on hand to make up this little lot, so he let us have them for quite a bit less.

They are of flowered crepe Georgette, plain crepe and shimmering taffeta, effectively combined. There is an underskirt of the plain taffeta, and an overdrapery of the crepe, in just the style that is so fashionable this Spring. The bodice is draped, too, and there are new

At least that is what you will think when you see the quaint, little hats and bonnets for children which have just come over from Paris.

There are little organdie bonnets like the calashes our grandmothers wore in the years preceding the Revolution. One in shell pink organdie, all shirred and corded, is charming.

But there are many others of more modern inspiration—little mob caps of sheer white organdie with real Irish and Valenciennes laces, blue ribbons in pink and blue, some hats and some bonnets, some of novelty braids, and some bonnets, some and the timest of rosebuds. And there are others novelty braids, and some trimmed with soft ostrich bands, and some with ribbons and posies. They are for little girls of 2 to-6 years, and are
