WEST PHILADELPHIA FIGHTS LANDLORDS

Tenants Organize Against Profiteers, Making Third Protective League in Two Weeks

SPEAKER URGES VIOLENCE

Yewdall Street Signs Oppose House Buying

South Yewdall street tenants defied three policemen stationed in the 1900 block yesterday by landlords and crusaded against the sale of their homes for $3400 each.

They fought with Driscoll over the matter of "holding out" on them, according to the confession, but at his instance they committed several other thefts in which Driscoll, the man who conducted the sale of the stolen cars.

Driscoll denies the allegation. According to Detective Sibre, two machines they were looking for were found in Bye's possession and when the Merion police aided them in a raid on the place, others were discovered.

Several hundred residents of the thirty-fourth ward met in the Haverford Theatre, Sixtieth street and Haverford avenue, last night, and formed the Tenants' Protective Association of West Philadelphia—the third organization to be formed in this city in the last two weeks.

If a constable attempts to enter your house plant your fist in his face. And if that doesn't stop him try a baseball bat," said Richard T. McSorley, attorney for the Downtown Tenants' Protective Association, in addressing the meeting.

Mr. McSorley denounced Representative Thomas Walker for failing to appear at the hearing in Harrisburg last Monday on the measure of which he is sponsor, giving tenants recourse in courts against extortion by landlords.

All day yesterday householders in the 1800 block on South Yewdall street, crusaded against the sale of their homes. The first patrolmen to be seen in many months—three of them—guarded the street at the instance of the owners of the houses. It is declared the houses were being offered at a $1400 advance over what they were worth two years ago.

FOUR HELD BY POLICE IN AUTO THIEF RAID

Uncover Storage Place in Bryn Mawr Where Stolen Cars Are Found

BELIEVE LEADER CAUGHT

Four men were arrested today in connection with the theft of numerous automobiles. A Main Line painter is being held by the Merion police following the discovery, in his place of business, of three machines alleged to have been stolen.

The accused men are James Driscoll, a saloon keeper of Sixty-second street and Girard avenue; Joseph MacDonald, of Fifty-ninth street and Girard avenue; Samuel Diekey, of Fifty-eighth street and Lansdowne avenue, and William O'Connell, Felton street, near Callowhill. The Merion police are detaining Richard Bye, an automobile and carriage painter, of Bryn Mawr, in connection with the alleged operations of the men.

Driscoll, according to the police, was arrested and acquitted of having a stolen automobile in his possession about a week ago. On a recent clue furnished at the trial detectives Sibre and Woollen, aided by District Detectives Cochran and Smiley, picked up O'Connell who named the others.

In a signed confession the men alleged that in September MacDonald stole a car from Fifteenth and Sansom streets and drove to Driscoll's saloon where they met the other men. At Driscoll's instance, they said, the car was driven to Bryn Mawr where Driscoll sold it to Bye for $350.

On a payment of $150 cash, the men received $200 each, they said, and Driscoll the remainder. Later, when a note for $200 fell due, they received $40 each in addition.

They fought with Driscoll over the matter of "holding out" on them, according to the confession, but at his instance they committed several other thefts in which Driscoll, the man who conducted the sale of the stolen cars.

SHAVE? YES! NO, SAYS BARBER AS "DEAD" SOLDIER RETURNS

Tonsorial Expert Leaves Patrons Lathered in Chair as Son Believed Killed Comes Home

Walter Flindt, Awarded War Cross, Learns for First Time Sister Died of Influenza

Customers who have been getting their hair clipped and their chins shaved every week for the last forty-eight years in the barber shop of Albert Flindt, Seventh and Fairmount avenue, left the shop Saturday night unshaven and unclipped for the first time in years.

And the unfortunate man who happened to be in the chair, with his face generously lathered and his expectant chin raised for the sharp razor, sat and waited for a half hour and then finished the job himself.

Served in Medical Corps. For Albert Flindt's son, Private Walter, of the United States Medical Department, attached to the French army, who had been mourned for dead since last November, walked into the shop unannounced.

"Hello, pop!" he cried. And the overjoyed parent dropped his razor, rushed for the boy, clasped him in his arms and wept.

Soon the news went the round of the neighborhood and the friends of the barber and his son gathered about the scene, pushing and shoving for a chance to grasp the hand of the boy whom they had never expected to see again, and the hand of the seventy-seven-year-old father in joyful sympathy.

The carnival air lasted all day yesterday, until late last night, when the son returned to Camp Devens to be mustered out.

"My son went over a year and a half ago," said the father. "Last November I received a telegram from

HE CAUGHT 'EM

But Not in the Water at Flat Rock Dam, Says Manayung Cop

A "catch" of new shoes, stylish and expensive, from the waters of the locks at Flat Rock Dam was too much for Patrolman "Pete" Ferguson of Manayung.

He decided to investigate. The fisherman, Alexander Cherry, seventeen years old, was calmly smoking a ten-cent cigar while he waited for more shoes to bite. Around him were seven pairs of shoes, more than thirty of the ten-centers, a new screw driver and a new wallet.

Patrolman Ferguson questioned Cherry, who intimated that they were caught in the dam, but it was too much for the patrolman to swallow. He took Cherry to the police station where he was questioned. He finally admitted, the police say, that he had entered a store on Main street, Conshohocken, early today, and obtained the shoes and other articles. Magistrate Price held Cherry in $1000 bail for court.

Driver Held in Child's Death

Morris Ablson, of 2544 North Marston street, driver of a motortruck, was held without bail to await the action of the coroner by Magistrate Penneck today, accused of causing the death of six-year-old Harry Naylor, of Ritten street near Sixteenth. The child with several others was playing in the street near Seventeenth and Porter streets Saturday afternoon and ran behind the truck as Ablson was backing it toward the curb. The child died in the Methodist Hospital a few minutes after being admitted.

'RED' MURPHY DENIES DRIVING BANDIT CAR

Faces Battery of Accusers and Insists He Did Not Fire Fatal Shot

GANG MEMBERS SHIELDED

"Red" Murphy, identified by several persons as the man who drove the "murder car" in a holdup in West Philadelphia last Thursday morning, refused to give the police any information that might lead to the arrest of the bandits said to have been his associates.

Facing the victims of many robberies, assaults and holdups committed in this city within the last three months, the prisoner denied his guilt in any of the crimes and insisted that he was not the man who fired the revolver shot that killed one of the bandits in West Philadelphia.

Photographs and fingerprints obtained by the detectives today were the means of positively identifying the dead man as Waldemar Carpenter, a Belgian, Carpenter escaped from a penitentiary in Providence, R. I., where he was serving an eighteen-year sentence for assault with intent to kill. He was known as P. J. Murray, alias Moran, of Boston, Mass.

Detectors Hold to Gang Theory

The detectives here are of the opinion that the many outrages committed by motor bandits in Philadelphia recently can be traced to a gang of which both Murphy and Carpenter were members.

Two other men—and possibly three—are known to have been concerned in the hold-up on Thursday of Harry Petermann, an American Stores messenger, at Fifty-first and Arch streets, during which the driver of the bandits' automobile shot and killed a fellow bandit in mistake for Petermann.

The machine and the dead man were found an hour later at Thirtieth and Callowhill streets.

"Red" Murphy is accused of the murder. The police have traced an automobile in which he and the others are supposed to have escaped after abandoning the one with the dead man in it, to Wallace street near Seventeenth, where a woman member of the gang is said to live.

Burglar Tools Found

A loaded revolver and some burglar tools are said to have been found in the room where the police "jumped" the place. These and some other articles found there are expected to result in the arrest of the remaining members of the gang.

"Give me a fair chance. You know my life depends upon you people not making any mistake," Murphy urged yesterday when taken from his cell to the detective bureau for further identification.

Murphy made his plea after Petermann.

Pay Your Wife a Salary?

Should a husband be required by law to pay his wife a salary? This question will be "settled" tonight in what is scheduled as a "humorous debate" to be held at the Baptist Temple, Broad and Berks streets. Prof. Calvin Osborne, of the West Philadelphia High School for Boys, will oppose each other in discussing the question.

Get these Important Facts About Clothes—They're Vital!

Two things deserve your most careful consideration in the Suit of Clothes you are going to tie up to—

The Materials

The Workmanship

The cloth must be all wool. There can't be any half-way measures about it. The accent must be on the ALL!

Of course, too, there's wool and wool. There's new wool and worked-over wool; short wool and long wool; fine wool and flimsy wool.

You can depend upon these new Spring and Summer Suits of ours—they're all wool. They're made of the best wool that can be put into a Suit of clothes, price for price. And the better and higher the quality of the Suit you buy, the better you'll be pleased with your purchase

Then there's the workmanship. Fabrics you may duplicate in most good stores; workmanship is a thing apart. Ours is Ours. It's thorough; it's sound; it's artistic; it's watched and inspected to keep carelessness out and to put conscientiousness into it. It's the basis of the reputation of our clothes for comfort, for fit, for style.

You may get similar fabrics elsewhere—maybe even at the same price—but you can get "N. B. T." workmanship and its corollaries only at 16th & Chestnut!

Give it a try and see!
