SPECTATORS AT DEVON HORSE SHOW

JUST GOSSIP ABOUT PEOPLE

Many Attend First Day at Horse Show—Nancy Wynne Talks About Various Events of Next Week-Interesting

Affair Last Evening

DID you ever see such a crowd at the first day of any horse show as there was out at Devon yesterday? 1 was perfectly surprised, because usually the first morning there aren't so awfully many people out. But yesterday I ran into Elizabeth Griffith Page and Jean Thompson Thayer, who were selling chocolate at the country fair (which is most attractive, don't you think so?), and Kitty Penn Smith sushing frantically from one place to another, and Mrs. Bob Mont-gomery with one of her daughters, and Mrs. Paul Denckla Mills with her youngster, and Cecily Barnes, and Hatty Geyelin, and lots of others, quite early-and not one of them had on a raincoat, either. They all were very dressy.

HEAR that Miriam Kane is to have charge of the bookstore in the Victory Fete on June 6 at the old Chew house. Cliveden and Upsal, one of the Johnson houses out in Germantown, next Friday. The affair is under the auspices of the Women's Permanent Emergency Associa-tion and the National League for Women's Service, and, as far as I can make out, every body in Germantown and vicinity, is interested.

But to go back to Miriam Kane. You know she is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward V. Kane, of Lincoln drive, Ger-mantown, and a sister of Mrs. Jack Moffly, who was Audrey Kane before her marriage last July, just before Lientenant Moffly went oversens. Miriam worked for a long time-over a year, if I'm not mistaken-in a hospital in France nursing soldiers, and she had some wonderful experiences. She has always been interesting, having gone in quite actively for art at one time, and is always on hand when there's anything of this kind going on.

Old books, autographed editions, French posters and the autographs of famous musicians, painters and authors are to be sold at this table. Others on the committee will be Mrs. E. Earle Johnson, Mrs. Charles J. McManus, Mrs. James Penrose Stovell, Sophie Bispham Weiss, Eleanor Collins, oebe Hoffman and Mrs. Everett Brown.

THE welfare dances at the Ritz next week will be for St. Agnes's House, 258 East Ontario street, Kensington. This neighbor-hood house was opened in October, 1917, and it now has more than 500 childre. and young people on its register. There are only two small rooms for clubs, classes and amusements, so the committee in charge is very eager to buy the adjoining building to make room for it, and Bishop Rhinelander has appealed to the women's auxiliaries to raise all of $6000 by next fall to do that little thing and also keep the work going. So the women are starting right in, and next week will be a beginner.

Those who have charge of it are: Mrs. Edwin N. Benson, Jr., Mrs. Frederick W. English, Mrs. C. Bradford Fraley, Mrs. Joseph M. Gazzam, Mrs. Arthington Gilpin, Mrs. Herman Krumbhaar, Mrs. Arthur E. Newbold (who, by the way, is treasurer of this special fund), Mrs. John H. Packard, 3d, Mrs. Theodore S. Paul, IIrs. James Starr, Mrs. George C. Thomas, Mrs. Mar-maduke Tilden and Mrs. Hollinshead Taylor, who is chairman. Others who are in terested in the work are Mrs. Charlton Yarnall (she's awfully interested in the Reed street house, too), Mrs. Radcliffe Cheston, Mrs. Edward Farnum, Mrs. William W. Arnett, Miss Anna Randolph, Mrs. Floyd Tomkins, Miss Sarah Tomkins, Mrs. George McCreary, Mrs. George Woodward, Mrs. Robert Coleman Drayton, Mrs. Arthur E. Newbold, Jr., Mrs. Anthony J. Drexel Biddie, Mrs. Norman Ellison, Mrs. John Markoe, Mrs. Ellis Ames Ballard and Mrs. George F. Knorr. I don't know as yet who is which, that is to say, who will be patronesses on which days, but I'll no doubt hear that later.

Mrs. Hugh I. Wilson, of Bryn Mawr, is isiting Mrs. Wayne Wilson in Wilkes-Barre for some time. -

Miss Josephine Hooper, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert P. Hooper, of Mermaid lane and Cherokee street, Chestnut Hill, will leave on June 9 to spend three weeks in Louis ville, Ky., where she will attend the wedding of her brother, Mr. James E. Hooper, and Miss Mildred W. Anderson, on June 18.

Mr. and Mrs. Maurice E. Burton, of Germantown, will leave about the middle of next nonth to spend the summer in Buck Hill Falls.

Mrs. Walter R. Starr and her daughter. Miss Marie Louise Starr, of 117 South Seventeenth street, have gone to their sum-mer home at Cape May. The wedding of Miss Starr and Mr. Carl Bullitt Rauterberg, of Louisville, Ky., will take place in June

The wedding of Miss Mary Agnes Pike, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Charles P. Pike, of 7280 Woodland avenue, and Mr. William S. Hart, of Plainfield, N. J., will take place on Wednesday afternoon, June 18, in St. Clement's Church, Seventy-first street and Woodland avenue. Miss Pike will have her sister, Mrs. William A. Kuser, as matron of honor, and her brother, Lieutenant Charles E. Pike, will be best man. The ceremony will be followed by a large reception at the home of the bride's parents for the bride-groom and bride, and Mr. and Mrs. George D. Stull, who were married on Monday, May 12. Mrs. Stull was Miss M. Beatrice Pike

The wedding of Miss Winifred Waldie Webb, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilmer M. Webb, and Mr. Carl Schaum, son of Mr. and Mrs. Otto W. Schaum, will take place on Saturday evening, May 31, at 7 o'clock, in the Germantown Unitarian Church, Miss Webb will be attended by Miss Madeleine Smith, of Lawrenceville, as and of honor, and the bridesmaids will include Miss Mar arct Lukens and Miss Charlotte H. West-ling, of Germantown; Miss G. Elanette Sol-litt, of Chicago; Miss Sylva M. Ott, of Llanerch: Miss Sigrid A. M. Nelson and Miss Corinne Schat.n. of New York, Mr. Frank Walk-Frank Walker De Waters, of Elmira, N. Y., will be best man, and the ushers will include Mr. Kenneth W. Webb, brother of the bride; Mr. Fletcher Schaum, brother of the bridegroom; Dr. H. Malcolm Read, of York ; Mr. Berwind P. Kaufman, Mr. Coleman E. Hitner and Mr. Robert L. Hunter. The ceremony will be performed by the Rev Roger S. Forbes, pastor of the church. The wedding will be followed by a reception at the Pelham Club. Mr. and Mrs. Schaum will entertain at a dinner-dance in honor of the bridal party tomorrow evening at their home, 1508 Allegheny avenue.

The wedding of Miss Esther Frances Carey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Carey, of 201 West Maple avenue, Collingswood, N. J., and Mr. George Lincoln Lendren McGinley, also of Collingswood, will take place on Saturday evening, June 7, in Trinity Methodist Episcopal Church. The ceremony will be performed by the Rev. H. Moore Blake.

There will be a flag-raising and victory sing at the Roxborough Presbyterian Church on Saturday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock.

Just then something apparently female. with a pair of tin tubes stuck out sidewise, supposedly to serve as ears, and with other appurtances slightly more familiar, but most awfully unreal to look upon, glided past. "Well, yes, old top, I should rather say this ends it. One night on Mars like this, you know-well, he simply ca-a-an't stay in form- eh, what?" Several hundred who attended the Pennsylvania Academy of the Fine Arts frolic last night will agree with the Aussies. There is nothing to do but agree. In the first place those academy balls are always good. and art-well, art is art, that's all.

MEMORABLE MOVIE BALL; MANY STARS APPEAR

Crowd of Film Fans to See Players

The seventh annual movie ball is all over and nothing remains now but a memory. But what a memory it will be to recall to true film fans who could not be present last evening at Turner Hall where the affair began. The largest crowd that ever graced a movie party was there, and was loath to leave when the familiar strains of "Home Sweet Home" came from the excellent orchestras.

MAIN LINE PLANS BIG COMMUNITY WEEK

Territory From Preston to Villanova to Be Scene of Festivities June 2 to 7

Main Line residents are acranging a "Community Center Week" in the territory from Preston to Villanova, from June 2 to June 7, as part of a campuign to raise $15,000 for the Bryn Mawr and Preston munity centers.

A few wars ago a student at Bryn Mawr College had a hobby. Her fellow students called her "Jane" Smith and some of them never knew until graduation day that her real name was Miss Hilda W. Smith. Her hobby was community center work and after she received her diploma she moved to Bryn Mawr and took charge of a tiny community center that had been started by a group of public spirited men and women in one room of the old Bryn Mawr school building. That was three years ago. Today Bryn Mawr College students who are taking up community center management as a work go and sit at the feet of Miss Hilda W. Smith to add to the practical side of their learning. Backed by public spirited men and women who started it, Miss Smith has extended the chool Board took note of the fact that the center had given thousands of school lunches free to Bryn Mawr school children during the last year, and appropriated $500 to-ward the library of the Bryn Mawr Center. The work has expanded until it now covers play grounds, kindergartens, language classes, shorthand classes, gym class, club for boys, girls and women, cooking classes, manual training classes, meetings, entertain ments, lectures, concerts, night classes for Italians, a free library with 2300 books. school lunches and a dozen and one other things.

Community center at Bryn Mawr to a prospercens branch at the old Preston reading Several weeks ago the Lower Merion

So successful has been the Bryn Mawr center that a committee of prominent citi-zens of Radnor township who want to provide a memorial for their war heroes has decided to establish the Conestoga Com-munity Center at Garrett Hill.

LAWN FETE NEXT WEDNESDAY

St. Luke's Hospital to Benefit by Affair During Afternoon and Evening

A lawn fete will be held on Wednesday afternoon and evening, June 4, on the grounds of St. Luke's Homeopathic Hosnital, Broad and Wingohocking streets, in aid of the work of the hospital. In addition to the usual articles there will be hand-made lingerie for sale. There will be music, children's games and a baby parade with prizes. Those having the affair in charge are Mrs. J. Frederick Leitenberg. Mrs. J. M. Repplier, Mrs. Clinton E. Rhoads, Mrs. Clinton Gage, Mrs. E. T. Longstreth, Mrs. D. Roman, Mrs. Harry K. Mansfield, Mrs. Charles Bockius, Mrs. Harry K. You know Edith Dallas and Prim Reeves are studying at the academy now, and they were both on the student committee in charge of the affair. Edith is the daughter of the Trevanion Dallases, you know, and a sister of Betty Dallas, whose engagement to William Davis Ten Broeck was announced sev eral weeks ago. She is an awfully clever girl and has just that piquant charm you'd expect from a girl of her talent and temperanent. Not that she's temperamental. she has the sweetest nature, but she has the kind of imagination that sees pictures in everything and stories in every picture. Austin Purves was also on the committee. He is the son of Mrs. Austin M. Purves, of Chestnut Hill.

TET me tell you the latest remark of the four-year-old (one of the many fouryear-olds that you hear about every time they say anything worth hearing). This is the one with short yellow curls and big dark blue eyes and a voice that makes you think of sleigh bells tinkling from a far-distant suowy road. She went shopping with Mother the other day and they bought all kinds of "stuff," as she calls all food, and then they bought a little doll and a parasol to keep the sun out of her eyes, and then they started home. And on the way they passed another store, and in the window there was a doll almost as big as she is, only not quite, because she's pretty big now, and it was a boy, and he was sitting at a table in a high chair, and he had on a napkin. and a blue suit all starched, and shoes and stockings, and in summing it all up later to the rest of the family the little silver voice announced, "He was some dressed up NANCY WYNNE.

TO KEEP PLEDGES

Baltimore Member Says Conscientious Objectors Serving Time Are Martyrs and Heroes

New York, May 29.—The New York Yearly Meeting of the Society of Friends met in devotional session with a number of speakers taking part. Albert R. Law-ton, of this city, was the first, laying especial stress on the keeping of pledges. A dollar note, he declared, was of itself worthing mothing more than the paper on which it was printed, its sole value being in the pledge of the United States, which stands back of it. The dress of the Salvation Army lassie and the old-time "plain dress" of the Friends were, in a way, pledges of the faith of which they were indicative. He urged all Friends to make good the pledge made by every member of the society. Dr. A Edward Janney, of Baltimore, felt these pledges were taken too easily, for Christian living does not mean an easy life. George Fox and William Penn did not lead easy lives, but magnificent in results. He

George Fox and William Penn did not lend easy lives, but magnificent in results. He spoke of the "conscientious objectors" in Fort Leavenworth for twenty years because they tried to do right. "So we today have our heroes and our martyrs, If Fox and Penn were living today they would be in Leavenworth Prison. If Jesus Christ were here He, too, would be there. There is need of cornest Christian living today as in the of earnest Christian living today as in the ham Rattner, Mr. Raphael Sabatini. In between dances there were some clever stunts, presided over by Austin Purves as the chief guy on Mars. Raphael Sabatini, dropping the mister and also his ballast, shot into a very Martian scene from a moving picture airplane, and mussed up the hearts of the foreigners generally. Virginia Parker, as a Martian princess, drew a pale blue parahola on the public consciousness, with Miss Peggy Shoemaker and Miss Frances H. Carns as retainers. The chief guy had Arthur Meltzer and Conrad Dickel, for similar duties, while Harry Kidd and Harriet Lipscomb were just Martians. A think that looked like a huge woggle bug and acted like an H. G. Wells hero of the wildest and agedest vintage, proved to be Alfred Hayward, alias a Martian, and almost equal to a very bad dream. He danced and pursued Corinne Pauli, who, in a dainty pink. looked much too mundane to be wasted on Martian appreciation. Mr. Hayward does pictures about a stenographer for the EVENING PUBLIC LEDGER, but , nobody knows how he ever gets that close to nature, after seeing his antics last night.

In Shaky Moon

Helena Holt, as Diana in a moon that was deliciously shaky, trembled and supplicated and finally danced-oh, so very much soto lure Bert Hillman, believed to have been Saturn or maybe Jupiter. The grace of this number was remarked by all present and Miss Holt's special training, plus instinctive rhythmic expression, was just a little bit too poignantly successful for the earthbound.

Other interesting stunts were put on by Miss Pauline Reid and Mr. Sabatini, Stephanie Balderston and Miss Dorothy Fulton, and a forest idyl of naive, youthful charm was depicted by Miss Rose Rosenbery, Mr. Rattner, Paul Freelich and Isadore Levy.

It was not easy to pick out faces well known to Academy circles, but now and again, from a maze of color and gleaming white shoulders and bizarre, although quite masculine Martian uniforms, a few identities were learned despite the make-up and the masks. Capfilin George Harding, who made many pictures in the war zone, was there with his wife. Captain Horace Hardy Betzwood Goldwyn studios. Motion pictures were taken of the grand march and the officials. Prize waltzes and fox trots were engerly contested for.
