BOXING PRACTICE HELPED WIN WAR, SAYS JACK HARRIS

Physical Instructor of Starr Garden Returns After Seeing Lots of Action Against the Hun—Was Wounded

HELPED K. O. THE HUN Jack Harris believes the Yankees' superior knowledge of boxing gave edge on the boche

JACK HARRIS has returned. He is back as physical instructor at the Starr Garden Recreation Center, Sixth and Lombard streets...

Harris got into his first real action with the Americans at the second battle of the Marne on July 14, and went through hostilities unharmed until the 20th...

the second army boxers and wrestlers who competed in the championships at Paris during March and April of this year. He conditioned and trained the athletes. This work was not new for Harris as, besides having been physical instructor at Starr Garden, he also was in command of boxing, bayonet drill and calisthenics of the Twenty-eighth Division at Camp Hancock before going overseas.

Harris is glad to be home. He says so, and shows it, if a perpetual smile counts for anything. Jack is a firm believer that the American's love for boxing and his willingness to practice bayonet work along the same lines of the fistie pastime proved a great asset for the Yank to help knock out the boche.

MANY TWIN BILLS ON MEMORIAL CARD

Four Little Leagues and Many Semipros in Action Tomorrow

ONE SHIPYARD CONTEST

Decoration Day Baseball Games

Main Line League—Afternoon, J. & J. Dobson at Autocor; Dixie Hill at Lansdowne; Dun & Co. at St. Gerber's. Philadelphia Suburban League—Afternoon, Landing at Overbrook; Glenside at Philadelphia Textile; Reading at Stenton.

At least four of the more prominent "little" baseball games are booked with holiday games for Memorial Day and the semipros are all in action with twin bills, playing both morning and afternoon attractions.

Only one local shipyard is in action here and that is the Hog Island nine, with Manager Dick Gunderidge, of Emergency Fleet, for the playing of a double bill on the Hog Island grounds at Ninety-fourth and Tincum streets.

RECORD-BREAKING ENTRY LIST FOR HOLIDAY GOLF

Biggest Lot of Entrants in History of Patterson Cup and Interclub Championship Is Received for Tomorrow

By PETER PUTTER

THE largest list of entries ever received for both the Joseph Henry Patterson Memorial Cup and the qualifying round for the interclub championship, for the double event will be decided tomorrow at the Philadelphia Cricket Club, would indicate that it will be the largest year in the history of golf in this city.

It is the first time that the two events have been run simultaneously, and as both are thirty-six hole medal affairs this makes it possible. It gives more work for the hard working secretary of the Golf Association of Philadelphia, Francis B. Warner, but he is resigned to hard work.

Seven Clubs in Fight—Seven clubs are entered for the interclub championship. Merion Cricket Club, Huntingdon Valley, North Hills, Bala and Aronimink. Merion and the Cricket Clubs have the largest entry list. The Cricket Club has thirty-six entries, Merion twenty-two, Aronimink thirteen, Huntingdon Valley twelve, North Hills eight, Bala eight.

Stars in Cup Event—It will be a fine fight for the Patterson cup. There are a host of stars entered, including Norman Maxwell, who won it last year. Fred Knight, who won it the year before; Sidney Sharwood, another winner; Eddie Styles, who in two big qualifying rounds at Pinehurst won the medal twice; Max Marston, who has won the medal for the low qualifying round in as many big tournaments this year, Baltimore, Lakewood, Silver Lake and Garden City; Maurice Risley, the medalist at Atlantic City this spring; Wood Platt, who won several tournaments last year; Alec Coles, the winner of the fall tournament at Shawnee; George Hoffman, who cracked eighty-four times in the contest for the Horace Trumbauer cup at Bala this spring; Walter Reynolds, who is playing Aronimink in low figures; not to say anything about the three Cricket Club stars, Pat Grant, Jimmie Gay and George C. Thomas, who play the Cricket Club regularly in the seventies.

BINGLES AND BUNGLES

Count's Mark and his A's start a drive today they hope will eliminate them from the cellar.

By losing their last bill with the Reds yesterday, the Phils closed books on the series with western rivals with seven victories and five defeats.

Mule Watson did not start on the tour of the circuit with the Phils. He was kicked by a tree while out motorcycling.

None of those who play these games of golf want to go back to the olden days. In fact, the only ones who favor the repeal of the law are the farmers, and they argue that they have to get up by the clock and then they have to wait until the sun comes up before they can get to work.

HAWK PLAYS WELL AGAINST TILDEN

Cynwyd Star Takes National Champion to Three Sets Before Losing at Plymouth

By ROBERT T. PAUL

Dr. P. B. Hawk, the Cynwyd Club tennis player extraordinary, was eliminated from further competition in the singles event of the open tournament of the Plymouth Country Club yesterday afternoon, but only after the hardest kind of a battle with William T. Tilden, 2d, of the Germantown Cricket Club.

Tilden was picked to win the match by the gent in the white flannels, as well as the greater part of the gallery, but Doctor Hawk refused to see the match in that light and in the manner in which he held and at times outplayed the national clay court champion, was a revelation to his many admirers.

Tilden started out in his usual aggressive manner rushing to the net as often as possible to offset Doctor Hawk's splendid work from the base line. After being passed virtually every time he came dashing to the barrier. Tilden decided to let the soft footing of the courts make it foolish to go to the net and switched to a back-court game.

With both players playing from the base line, it was only natural that there should be many long rallies with each trying his best to draw the other out of position. Doctor Hawk succeeded in the first set and took the honors, 8-6.

Doctor Hawk's showing placed him right in the running for a berth on the Church Cup team which will meet New York in Boston. Four of the six singles positions will be taken care of by Tilden, W. Johnson, Craig Biddle and Stanley Pearson. Hawk may get one of the other two.
