2 WOMEN INTERNES AT UNIVERSITY HOSPITAL

Graduates of U. of P. Medical School Are Appointed; They Are Pleased With Positions

Two young women graduates of the University of Pennsylvania Medical School have been appointed internes at the University Hospital. They are the first graduates to make application for the places and the first to be accepted, although there has been no prejudice against accepting women internes. The appointees are Elizabeth Glen, of Frankford, and Elizabeth Ford, of Moorestown, N. J.

"Of course I am proud to be one of the first two women in the University Hospital," said Miss Glen, as in crisp white she faced the reporter, "and I enjoy it here. I expect to practice in Frankford when I complete my service."

Miss Glen graduated from Vassar in 1915 and immediately took her four years' course at Penn.

Miss Ford, a Wellesley girl of the 1914 class, is also proud to have "handed" although she hasn't anything special to say about it.

The matter of ethics has offered its problems for the young women, for they could not sleep in the nurses' home—that being unethical—and, of course, they had to have special provisions made for them in the hospital quarters.

"For that reason we have been glad there have been no applications previously," says Doctor Pepper, "although there is no reason why women should not be admitted."

SHRINERS INITIATE TONIGHT

Class of Record Size to Learn Mysteries at Metropolitan

Tonight has been designated as Delaware Night by Charles S. Bair, metropolitan of Lu Lu Temple. At a meeting in the Metropolitan Opera House the degrees of the Mystik Shrine will be conferred in full ceremonial form upon what will probably be the largest class of novices ever initiated by Lu Lu Temple. A delegation of 300 Delaware Shriners will arrive at Broad Street Station early in the evening, and, headed by the reception committee, the Temple band, the Temple patrol and the Temple mounted guard, will parade to the Opera House.

The meeting will be of unusual interest, because at the session of the imperial council at Indianapolis next week W. Frederick Knudrick, former potentate of Lu Lu Temple, will be elevated to the office of imperial potentate the highest official station in Shrinism. Many local Shriners will attend the Indianapolis meeting. Mr. Bair has arranged a reception for the new potentate upon the return of the Shriners to this city.

OSTEOPATHS GET DIPLOMAS

Four Free Scholarships Announced at Commencement Exercises

At the twenty-seventh commencement of the Philadelphia College of Osteopathy last night, Dean Arthur M. Flack, in presenting diplomas to the graduating class, made two announcements of interest. Four scholarships, each covering the college expense for two years are now available for the first time. For two of them graduates of any high school in New Jersey are eligible, and for the others a boy and a girl graduating this year from Philadelphia high schools. Since the last commencement the New York State Department of Education has placed the institution on its class A list, on which there is only one other osteopathic college, which makes its graduates eligible to practice in that state.

The commencement address was delivered by Prof. Lloyd M. Knoll. Among the graduates, one Dr. Robert A. Marks, has the distinction of successfully completing his course under the handicap of total blindness. Two others, Dr. Roy J. McDowell, and Dr. Carl L. Newell, have recently been discharged from army service. Six others are still on duty in France and unable to graduate this year for that reason.

Several of those receiving degrees last night were graduates of the three-year course of the pioneer school at Kirksville, Mo., and entered the college here for the fourth year's training required by the laws of Pennsylvania.

ICE DEALER ACCUSED

Man Held in Ball for Receiving Stolen Goods

When the police found an automobile, ten tires and ten wheels—all said to be stolen—on John J. Ryan's shed at 3211 Conestoga street, they arrested him and held him in $500 bail for a hearing.

Ryan, who is owner of the Wynwood Ice Company, came under suspicion when he furnished $2000 bail for James Driscoll, sixty-second street and Girard avenue, arrested May 29 for being implicated with Richard Bye, Bryn Mawr, on a charge of buying and selling stolen cars.

When a bill of lading for the car and the wheels and tires came through the Pennsylvania Railroad on Monday detectives searched the Ryan shed and a shed in the rear of the West Philadelphia Ice Company's hospital, in which Dr. Ryan's crew said he noticed a light for several nights.

ESCORT IS SILENT IN MRS. PETTIT CASE

W. C. Boyce Has Not Yet Consulted Lawyer Regarding Move to Cancel His Contract

SALARY PAYMENT STOPPED

George W. C. Boyce against whom Mrs. Katherine Howell Pettit has brought suit to terminate an agreement made in January of this year has not yet consulted with his attorney, Horace M. Schell, of this city, regarding the case.

Mrs. Pettit has just brought suit to set aside the agreement which was signed in January. This agreement called for an immediate payment of something like $1400 and future payments of $1000 a month until the total amount of $18,000 was paid.

The $18,000 was agreed to by both Boyce and Mrs. Pettit, according to Mr. Schell, as settlement of numerous contracts covering several years and which totaled approximately $54,000 to Boyce's credit.

To Drive Autos According to statements of the previous contracts Boyce was expected to drive the automobiles of Mrs. Pettit, accompany her to dinners and the theatre and perform such other duties as might be expected of a "companion."

These duties, according to Mrs. Pettit, Boyce did not perform. She further alleged in other affidavits that the agreement was signed under duress.

The law office of John C. Bell acted for Mrs. Pettit in the January agreement and Mr. Schell for Boyce. Several witnesses were present when the agreement was signed.

"Boyce is a sort of handy man generally," says Mr. Schell. "He could run an automobile or a yacht and look after machinery. Mrs. Pettit left everything to him. If she wanted to go away on a trip she got him to buy the tickets and so on."

"Mrs. Pettit has an income from the estate of her husband. In the January agreement the payments were to be made to Boyce through the Girard Trust Company direct. In ten days the payment was due, but Mrs. Pettit, in the meantime had notified the trust company not to pay."

Following this refusal to carry out the terms of the agreement, a suit was instituted by Boyce to sustain the terms of the agreement. Boyce has not been working for Mrs. Pettit since she refused to make payments.

When Mr. Bell was asked concerning the case he said that John Thiel, connected with his office, had handled the January agreement.

Mrs. Pettit has left the Hotel Windmere and is now at Ardmore. The present suit which she is bringing to annul the contract is being handled for her by a New York lawyer.

GIRL SAVES COMPANION

Plunges into Manayunk Canal and Saves Friend From Drowning

Fifteen-year-old Mary Raimondo, a little Italian girl, saved a playmate from drowning in the Manayunk canal yesterday. Jumping into the water without even removing her shoes, she rescued Muriel Turner, who lives at 107 Cotton street.

Muriel, who is two years younger than the Raimondo child, was bathing in the canal at the foot of Cotton street. There is a bathhouse nearby which was patronized yesterday by hundreds of children. Muriel became ill while in the water, and when she started to help her companion immediately plunged into the canal. She seized the Turner girl just as she was about to sink for the third time. Mary lives on Cotton street, a few doors from the home of her friend.

WATERWORKS HARD PRESSED BY HOT WEATHER'S DEMANDS

Children Opening Fire Hydrants Add to Difficulties, Making It Impossible to Accumulate Reserve Necessary

The exceptionally heavy demand made of the water system by the hot weather use of water in homes was augmented the last few days by the opening of scores of fire hydrants by youngsters seeking a cooling.

Police co-operation to prevent this has accomplished a diminution of the practice, but has not prevented all boys from enjoying water intended for other purposes.

Yesterday the demand was at the capacity mark, the consumption for the twenty-four hours being 320,000,000 gallons. Today, with the heat continuing, Chief Davis, of the Water Bureau, expected an even greater consumption.

Complaints from manufacturers and householders have reached the Water Bureau because of the inability of paying users to get adequate service.

So far the unusual demand has been met, and Chief Davis said today that the pumps and equipment were holding up remarkably well under the steady capacity strain. He hopes that the hot spell may be of short duration to enable him to procure a reserve supply for the next period of unusual demand.

Aside from the East Park reservoir, the Water Bureau has little water in reserve. Speaking of a possible reserve, Chief Davis said: "The water in the East Park reservoir is three feet low just now, and it is our main dependence in case of trouble. The Queen Lane reservoir at best has only a six-hour supply for the section it is called upon to aid, while other reserve supplies are no greater. The police have sent out their usual order against the opening of fire hydrants, and this is having some effect."

"It is mighty hard to keep the youngsters in bounds, as in many cases the parents are as bad as the boys. Elders, while other reserve supplies are no greater. The police have sent out their usual order against the opening of fire hydrants, and this is having some effect."

"I have on my desk a complaint from a manufacturer on Pine street near the Schuylkill river, who said that yesterday from his windows he saw boys opening and using five fire hydrants near his establishment. The result he said was to reduce his supply of water to near the vanishing point."

"We are doing all possible to keep the supply up to demand and if nothing happens we hope to pull through without much complaint. The use of fire hydrants should be stopped, but it appears a hard thing to drill into the minds of the people when the mercury soars toward the 100 mark."

THIEVES GET COSTLY FURS

Jewelry Also Taken From Home Vacant for Summer

Jewelry and costly furs valued at more than $4000 were stolen from the home of Mrs. John L. Wentz, 118 South Twenty-first street, by thieves who gained entrance by breaking the glass in the front door.

Mrs. Wentz and family are at their summer home at Haverford. It is believed the thieves are members of a gang specializing in robbing houses which have been vacated for the summer. A close watch is being kept on all houses in the Rittenhouse Square section, where many homes have already been vacated for the summer.

Three boys, ranging in age from six to eleven years, were arrested yesterday, charged with stealing the furs and jewelry from Miss Mary Wilkinson, a teacher in the Kendrick School. The boys said they were R. Brooker, Thirty-sixth and Ludlow streets; L. Bowers, of North Thirty-eighth street, and C. Fox, of North Thirty-seventh street. The boys were sent to the House of Detention.

TWO TEACHERS GET RAISE

Gloucester Board Cannot 'See' Demands of Others

The Gloucester City Board of Education has granted an increase in salary to two of the high school teachers and the others will seek other positions for the new term.

Miss Jean Yerkes will receive an increase of $200 for the new term and Miss Elizabeth Eyster $150. They have agreed to remain at the school. All of the high school teachers asked for an increase of $200 per year, but the board would grant them only $100.

Miss Pearl Klechner, one of the grade teachers, will also retire at the end of the term. The teachers' committee, which has received many applications from teachers for positions, will fill the vacancies after going over the list. All of the grade teachers who were appointed have signed contracts to teach all of next term at the salaries granted.

President of Delaware Company Sought to Win Over Hog Island Officials, He Testifies

HIGH RATES ARE FOUGHT

Under cross-examination by William Anderson, attorney representing the Emergency Fleet Corporation, Walter H. Johnson, president of the Delaware County Electric Company and vice president of the Philadelphia Electric Company, admitted at a Public Service Commission hearing today that he had tried and failed to get Hog Island officials not to fight a new proposed rate for power.

Samuel M. Clement, Jr., was commissioner who heard the evidence. Action was filed against the Delaware county company, as a matter of fact, only a few days after Johnson visited them, hoping to win them over to his views. As presented, the complaint of the Emergency Fleet Corporation alleges unfair and discriminatory rates for electricity furnished the Hog Island plant, under a proposed new schedule which supplants that made in 1917.

The rates quoted the government for an enormous consumption of current at Hog Island, it is claimed, are virtually the same as those quoted to small plants using a very small amount.

Today's hearing will consist of evidence offered in rebuttal by the Delaware county concern. The prosecution had previously presented its case. Another case booked for today will be that of J. J. Shubert Company, of this city, against the Philadelphia Electric Company, alleging unjust and unfair rates for power and light.

110th Will Have Reunion

Arrangements for a reunion of the 110th Infantry will be made at an informal meeting tonight in the Third Regiment Armory, Broad and Wharton streets. All officers and men of the regiment who are able to attend are invited. Among the Philadelphians arrested were Daniel Woodrow, 2214 Locust street, no license and no dimmers; Alexander S. Tason, 1345 South Grove street, no dimmers and G. H. Burns, 226 West Tabor road, no dimmers.

MEN FOR MERCHANT MARINE

Applicants May Apply at Pavilion in City Hall Courtyard

The United States shipping board recruiting service, with headquarters in Boston, has assigned Daniel F. Linehan, of Boston, to the task of recruiting in this city and vicinity apprentices for the merchant marine.

Mr. Linehan has already assumed his duties as special enrolling officer at this port, and is making his headquarters in the recruiting pavilion in the City Hall courtyard. He will be assisted by Earl Noyes, of Boston, and a corps of examiners and clerks.

The opening of a merchant marine recruiting booth here is in line with the shipping board's nation-wide campaign to build up the personnel of the merchant service by recruiting young men from eighteen to thirty-six and sending them to Boston, Norfolk and other coast cities where the board maintains a training squadron for their instruction. After a brief period of intensive training the apprentices are graduated into active service at the particular rating for which they qualify. The volunteer for this service signs a contract to serve in the merchant marine for one year.

At the company's main office it was declared that not more than 5 per cent of the employees obeyed the strike order issued, the strike leader declares, because seven workers were dismissed for joining the union.

The operating force, the company asserted, is virtually intact and service is unimpaired.
