

Horse Dealers' Sweepstake at Belmont Track : Volunteers for Russia : Torrid Town Scenes

MISS COWLES, owned by H. F. Smith, Newark, N. J., driven by Pitman, winning the fastest heat of the feature race of yesterday afternoon at the Horse Dealers' Sweepstake at Belmont Driving Park, Narberth, Pa.

MISSIONARY VOLUNTEERS FOR RUSSIA. Students of the Russian Bible Institute, 1820 Spring Garden street, who mean to go back to Russia and do their best to teach and preach high ideals in the land that gave them birth. The pupils come from various cities in the United States. Standing, at left, is Moris Gnesin, teacher. In the center is Dean Ivan Neprash, at right is Mrs. Neprash.

MRS. ALICE ROOSEVELT LONGWORTH, wife of Nicholas Longworth, representative from Ohio, is taking an active interest in politics, being associated with Mrs. Medill McCormick in the Republican Women's National Committee.

THE ARCTIC OCEAN was never like this. Mr. Polar Bear, of the Zoological Garden, thinking his hardest to picture life in the shade of Greenland's mountains.

WHAT IF THE MERCURY hovers around the nineties, closely pursued by the humidity, young Philadelphia finds little difficulty and much fun in assuaging the equatorial rigors.

LIGHT SUITS were donned by the police. To the perspiring observer the traffic "cop," wiping the moisture from his face, looks about the same. But the summer suits, though similar in color and form to the winter ones, are much lighter in weight.

Photographs by Evening Public Ledger Staff Photographers